City Claims Errors Cloud Parking Fight

Only 89 Spaces Due To Vanish

By WAT TAKESHITA
(First of three articles)

Some misinformation has been injected into the current controversy over angle or diagonal parking on San Rafael's Fourth Street between Lincoln Avenue and E Street.

The major discrepancy lies in the number of parking spaces that would allegedly be lost by the change to parallel parking.

The Committee Against Parallel Parking (those who want to retain diagonal parking) contends that up to 139 spaces will be lost.

SETBACK RULE

Official study by the San Rafael city engineer's office shows that only 89 spaces would be lost by the changeover. And some of this 89 loss comes from complying with an existing city ordinance on the amount of setback from intersections.

In other words, some of the existing diagonal parking spaces are in violation of the city's own ordinance in that they are too close to intersections. If the change is made to parallel parking, the proper setbacks will be made from intersections.

OLD STUDY BLAMED

The allegation that "139 spaces woud be lost" probably stems from a 1958 study made at the time the city's offstreet parking district was set up.

The 1958 report covered the entire parking district (not just Fourth Street), including cross streets that have since been changed from diagonal to parallel.

The 1958 report, therefore, stated that "the consulting engineer estimates that complete elimination of diagonal parking would result in the net loss of 137 spaces." This was for the entire parking district.

The present issue is confined to Fourth Street from Lincoln to E (the rest is already parallel).

There are now 266 diagonal spaces on Fourth. This would be cut to 177 under parallel parking, with proper setbacks—a loss of 89.

Another contention by the Committee Against Parallel Parking is that one car trying to back into a parallel parking space would force cars to back up for blocks.

City engineering studies show that Fourth Street averages 51 feet wide. Long cars diagonally parked now extend as much as 16 feet from the curb. If a similar car is parked on the opposite

BACK TO ELECTRICS?

Bay Group Studies Lure To Commuters

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

Would Marin County residents use hovercraft that would carry them in 12 minutes from downtown San Rafael to downtown San Francisco?

That question of public acceptance of other modes of commuting than by family car loomed large yesterday in a series of reports on the new technology of transportation.

The reports — some of them seemingly far-out, but actually presently feasible—were delivered by a number of experts to the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission which met in San Francisco.

Possibilities of moving people in vast numbers ranged from trains travelling at 500 miles per hour in underground pneumatic tubes to fleets of publicly owned electric cars rented to commuters.

The suggestion of San Rafael to San Francisco hovercraft was made by John C. Cunningham, vice president of SFO Helicopter Airlines of Oakland, which has a terminal in Sausalito and is participating in a trial of hovercraft service on the Bay.

He recommended the use of an English hovercraft carrying 98 passengers on a cushion of air. It could be operated out of the San Rafael estuary, he said. Cunningham estimated a one-way fare at about one dollar. Fares would be reduced, he said, as passenger volume increased.

Cunningham was enthusiastic about growing public acceptance of helicopter and hover-

NWP Given To June 30 On Tunnel

The California Public Utilities Commission today gave the Northwestern Pacific Railroad until June 30 to re-open its Puerto Suello Tunnel, United Press International reported from San Francisco.

The commission today reinstated its September, 1964, decision ordering reopening of the line, with today the effective date.

This placed into effect a series of deadlines which had been stayed by the railroad's challenge of PUC jurisdiction in federal courts. The U.S. Supreme Court last month refused to hear the challenge.

Terms of the 1964 PUC order gave the railroad 150 days to complete reconstruction of its line through the tunnel, and 180 days to resume service over the line. Reinstatement of the order today would mean Northwestern Pacific would have to start mainline service to San Rafael by July 30.

Last month, the court refused to reconsider the railroad's claim, which has been the subject of an intense legal battle between the railroad and the City of San Rafael, backed by Marin County, since shortly after the tunnel collapsed by fire on July 22, 1961.

Study Urged On Annexing Terra Linda To San Rafael

Study of annexing all of Terra Linda to the City of San Rafael was urged today by John F. Barrows, executive officer of Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Barrows, who is also assistant county administrator, made the recommendation in connection with request of owners of 54 acres at the southwest corner of Lucas Valley Road and Highway 101 to annex to the city.

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District have protested the move because of loss in assessment when the area is removed from their districts. Assessed value in the area is $126,230 and the Lucas Green shopping center is proposed on nine of the 54 acres.

The local agency formation commission will hold a hearing on the proposed annexation at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Civic Center. But Barrows will recommend that the hearing be continued to March 3 to give time for representatives of the two districts and city officials to get together on "a mutually agreeable annexation proposal" of all of Terra Linda that could be presented to Terra Linda residents for vote.

The 54 acres is uninhabited territory and requires no election for annexation. If it were annexed to the city, Terra Linda would be left as an island of unincorporated territory within San Rafael.

Creation of such islands by annexation was illegal until September, when new legislation gave local agency formation commissions the option of waiving the prohibition.

Governor Opens Campaign For Third Term In Capitol

GOV. EDMUND G. BROWN
As he announced today

U.S. Appointment Appears Rejected

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, launching a day-long air trip in a rainstorm, today opened his campaign for a third term—achieved only once before in California's 115 years of statehood.

Asking four more years "to make California a better place," the 60-year-old governor said "I am prepared to pledge to serve out my third term."

"I can't think of any federal appointment that's greater than being governor of your native state in this time of growth," he said in answer to a reporter's question at the first news conference of the day.

He added that the "President has never suggested that I take a place in the federal government, whatsoever." Johnson, Brown said, wanted him to run for governor.

Rain sprinkled down on much of Northern California as Brown began an arduous flying trip, stretching more than 1,100 miles the length of California. The trip touched off what he promised will be "a vigorous and dedicated campaign."

SEVERAL STOPS

It began in Sacramento, with airport news conference stops at Chico, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Santa Barbara and Fresno.

Republican Earl Warren — now U.S. Chief Justice — is the only man ever to win three terms in the governor's mansion.

Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty says he may challenge Brown in the June 7 primary.

RECORD TO SPEAK

"If I am challenged in the primary, I will let the record of our legislative and executive team speak for itself," Brown said.

He said he will pay no attention to the Republican primary, shaping up into a fight between actor Ronald Reagan and George Christopher, former mayor of San Francisco.

Even before the announcement was official, Christopher declared Brown will have to run on his record, and "we Republicans regard this as an ideal battleground." Reagan said he hopes for a philosophical campaign and not "an attack on motives or personalities."

BAGLEY'S VIEW

In Sacramento, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said Brown would rather have Ronald Reagan as a gubernatorial opponent because "he can put him in a Goldwater-closet."

Bagley said, "the Republican opportunity this year is George Christopher who leads Pat Brown by 15 percentage points in the most recent polls."

The former San Francisco mayor "can clobber Pat in November," Bagley said.

Brown said his one-day swing will constitute most of his political efforts until May. The trip over, he said, "I intend to come right back here to Sacramento and continue with the work of government."

FIVE-YEAR SCHEME FOR AID PROPOSED

President Asks Congress To Split Plan Into Separate Arms And Aid Measures

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for five-year authority for foreign aid and proposed that the global program be split into separate economic and arms aid bills.

In a special message seeking $3.39 billion in new aid funds for next year, Johnson also spelled out a $1-billion program of food, education and health assistance abroad.

"I propose that the United States offer to join in new attacks upon the root causes of world poverty," the President told the legislators.

"The incessant cycle of hunger, ignorance, and disease is the common blight of the developing world. This vicious pattern can be broken. It must be broken if democracy is to survive."

Johnson said the large-scale foreign aid program is necessary for the same reasons as his "Great Society" program inside the United States.

He said the aim is to improve "the kind of world our children will live in."

MORE MONEY

The $3.39 billion — $2.469 billion in economic aid and $917 million in military — more than Congress voted last year in comparable new funds for the year ending June 30, 1966. But just how much the increase amounts to is difficult to say because a large chink of the arms assistance, for Viet Nam, has been wrapped into the regular U.S. defense budget.

A fight seemed certain over non-money items in the aid legislation as well as the more usual tugging and hauling over the financing.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee chairman, Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., and some other influential legislators also believe the military assistance measure should continue to be tied to the economic aid legislation as a means of garnering more votes for the economic assistance.

FOOD, PEACE

If related programs such as food for peace are counted, the economic total goes above $4 billion for next year. Also in the aid fund ould be some $344 million unspent for past appropriations. That would raise the economic total to $2.81 billion, up a quarter billion from this year.

Johnson proposed $1,006,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning July 1 for health, education and agriculture assistance abroad. This is a quarter-billion-dollar boost over such projects this year.

For economic assistance, Johnson's fiscal 1967 budget propose $2.47 billion in new appropriations, counting $550 million for Viet Nam. For military aid it seeks $917 million, not counting Viet Nam. If related programs such as Food for Peace are included, the over-all total pushes above the $4-billion mark.

Russ Denounce U.N. Debates On Viet Nam

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union today objected to a U.S. request for United Nations action on the Viet Nam conflict. It called the U.S. move a diversionary tactic designed to hide plans to expand the war.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko addressed the U.N. Security Council immediately after U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg had urged U.N. efforts to set up a Viet Nam peace conference. Goldberg proposed that both North and South Viet Nam be invited to take part in council discussions.

He accused the U.S. delegate of distorting the situation, and said Goldberg had confirmed that Washington was not interested in a settlement, but was merely seeking to stage a propaganda show in the council.

Goldberg told the council he believed it would be useful to have representatives of Saigon and Hanoi appear during the current council debate. The primary question, however, was whether the 15-nation council would ignore the Soviet protest and take up the Viet Nam problem.

Nine affirmative votes would be required for inclusion of the issue on the agenda. The big-power veto does not apply.

Fedorenko had declined to tell newsmen in advance what attitude he would take.

BOMBING CONTINUES

U.S., Allied Vise Pinches Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. warplanes hammered at targets in North Viet Nam again today, while on the ground American and Allied forces caught the Viet Cong in a giant vise along South Viet Nam's coastal plains and sent them sprawling into retreat after 488 were reported killed.

An Air Force spokesman said three American planes — one Air Force and two Navy jets — were lost in the first day of air attacks on the Communist North after the 37-day bombing pause. There were no details yet on the second day of the raids.

The pilots of the two Navy planes were rescued, but the pilot of an Air Force F-105 Thunderchief was missing about 20 miles south of Vinh. He pulled into cloud cover and disappeared. Rescue efforts were called off after a search, the spokesman said.

Radio Hanoi claimed yesterday that North Vietnamese gunners had downed five American planes and damaged 10 others.

As U.S. Air Force and Navy carrier planes roared over the north again, the combined allied Operation Masher in the ricefields and jungles 290 miles northeast of Saigon smashed at a large Viet Cong force from three sides. Some of the guerrillas were reported ripping off their green jungle fighting suits and donning the black pajamas of the Vietnamese peasantry in a desperate effort to escape.

In addition to the 488 dead reported, six days of heavy fighting with the hard-core Viet Cong backed up by North Vietnamese regulars yielded 12 enemy prisoners and 408 suspects. A U.S. Army spokesman said intelligence had established that 75 per cent of the suspects are Viet Cong.

The battle raged over an area 13 miles wide and 10 miles deep. Units of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division were pressing the Communists from the south and west, while South Vietnamese and South Korean marines were hitting from other directions.

An American spokesman said the battering by ground forces,

Hedda Hopper Dies At 75

The former actress succumbed in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where she was taken Sunday. Her condition had worsened after she contracted a virus infection last Friday. See also story, page 2.

The other, Louella Parsons, is ailing in a movie colony rest home.

Born Ilda Furry in Hollidaysburg, Pa., in 1890 as one of nine children of Quaker parents, Miss Hopper ran away to New York City at age 18 to become an actress.

Miss Hopper complained of a cold last Friday. She stayed home on Saturday, then her condition worsened. Dr. Rex Kennamer ordered her to the hospital on Sunday, where her condition developed into double pneumonia. She then suffered a heart complication.

Baby Electrocuted In Home Accident

ROHNERVILLE, Humboldt County (UPI) — A 15-month-old girl was electrocuted last night when she picked up live wires leading to a washing machine which her mother was trying to repair.

Authorities said 220 volts apparently flowed through the body of Vicki Jacobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jacobson. Mrs. Jacobson and a neighbor were working on the machine and had mistakenly believed they had pulled all the fuses when Vicki started playing with the wires.

Big Storm Eases; Citrus Imperiled

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snowfall eased today in the big Eastern storm, but cold, gusty winds continued to pile drifts, bedeviling efforts to clear roads in smothered communities and a new storm spread 4 to 8 inches of snow northeastward out of the southern Plains.

Syracuse, N.Y. still was in the grip of blizzardy snow squalls blowing off Lake Ontario. Four feet of snow covered some parts of the city.

The Weather Bureau said that the record January snowfall included 43 inches at Worcester, Mass., 41 inches at both Burlington, Vt., and Roanoke, Va., and 32 inches at Lynchburg,

Statewide emergencies were declared for Pennsylvania and Delaware where hundreds of travelers and rural dwellers were still isolated by road blockades caused by drifts of 10 feet or more. In Virginia, the snow dunes were reported 15 feet high.

With communications hampered, there was no way of assessing the cost in lives or dollars of the January storm series. Death counts boggled as human attrition took many forms including fire fatalities, freezing, and heart attacks from snow removal exertion.

In Florida, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Florida growers moved swiftly today to bring in West Indian laborers to help harvest millions of boxes of citrus hard hit by cold weather.

Wirtz, who had insisted that domestic labor be used to harvest the crops in Florida, relented after weekend subfreezing temperatures swept the state. Growers, fighting desperately to salvage their fruit, were grateful.

Gov. Haydon Burns telegraphed Wirtz Monday saying, "Your immediate approval of emergency offshore labor is sorely needed and will be greatly appreciated."

Approval was quickly granted, and Burns said no limit was placed on the number of West Indian laborers who would be allowed to work in Florida.

Dry, cold air spread frost over the entire state, forcing growers to begin to harvest millions of boxes of citrus immediately. The fruit must be gathered quickly after the frost, and growers say sufficient domestic labor is not available.

Rutledge estimated 15 million boxes of oranges and 43 million boxes of Valencias remain on the trees. About 20 million boxes of grapefruit have yet to be harvested.

Bomb Raids Bring Back The Marchers

OAKLAND (AP)—Resumption of bombing raids on North Viet Nam has inspired new demonstrations by groups opposed to the U.S. role in Southeast Asia.

About 350 marched yesterday from Berkeley, and with police protection all the way, invaded the offices of Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan, D-Calif., in adjacent Oakland. Cohelan was in Washington.

About 180 were led inside by Robert Scheer, a magazine ritter opposed to American intervention in Viet Nam. He is an announced candidate against Cohelan in the June Democratic primary.

Stanford University also was the scene of protest with an estimated 800 gathered in White Plaza to hear speeches attacking the decision to resume bombing. Nearby, a group of fraternity men burned an effigy of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh.

A student and professor strike suggested by the Stanford Committee for Peace in Viet Nam failed to gain momentum, with school officials reporting only about six classes affected.

In Oakland, some of the demonstrators wanted to risk arrest by staying all night in Cohelan's offices on the eighth floor of the Latham Building.

Buf after Scheer said that sitting-in after the 7 p.m. building closing time wouldn't have any "serious political effect," the demonstrators voted to leave.

Juvenile Charged

BUSTER KEATON
Killed by cancer

Buster Keaton Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Buster Keaton, 70, the baggy-pants comedian of the silent screen, died today, of lung cancer at his home in suburban Woodland Hills.

His wife of about 25 years, Eleanor, was at his side. Keaton had two sons by actress Natalia Talmadge — James, of Santa Monica, and Robert, of nearby Marina del Rey.

Keaton had been under treatment for cancer for about three months.

He was one of the great comics of the silent screen era and one of the last surviving giants of that day. He had been in show business nearly all his life, starting as a child. In recent years he had done character spots in movies and guest shots on television shows.

Klan Execution Order Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House investigator said today a Mississippi Klan order was issued for the extermination of "The Goatee," who he said was Michael Schwerner, one of three civil rights workers killed near Philadelphia, Miss.

Since 1937, she has been syndicated in scores of publications throughout the U.S.

Viet Bombing Hardly Stirs Disarm Talks

GENEVA (UPI) —The Communists reacted with surprising mildness at the disarmament conference today to the resumption of American bombing of North Viet Nam.

Western officials said the cool reaction was "a good omen," particularly in view of the fact that Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin did not speak at all.

Tsarapkin left it to Czechoslovakia to attack the United States for "increasing is forces and expanding its activities in Viet Nam" and for resuming its "barbarous bombing."

This was the only Communist bloc reference to Viet Nam.

After the 65-minute session, Tsarapkin told reporters the resumption of bombing is "bad and does not facilitate our work."

"But I have already said that the to issues, Viet Nam and our negotiations, should not be connected," he said.

"What was not said today was the most significant thing about the meeting," an American spokesman said.

Test Results Publicity Criticized By Rafferty

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California school chief Max Rafferty has joined a group of educators and lawmakers in a chorus of criticism over the release of student achievement test results.

"I deplore setting school against school and district against district," the state superintendent of public instruction said yesterday.

Rafferty's criticism was directed at the Assembly Education Committee which, through a subcommittee earlier this month, disclosed test results from 140 state school districts.

Individual school districts have made the results from their schools known before and have compared them with the statewide average. But there hasn't been district-by-district comparisons.

The testing program, begun in 1961, prohibits the reporting of a district's test results by the state superintendent's office without the permission of the district school board.

The education subcommittee, however, cited a legislative counsel ruling allowing release of the information for the first time.

The program tested achievement in such areas as arithmetic and spelling in the 5th, 8th and 11th grades. The subcommittee released the 5th grade results, a test used by about 1,000 of the state's 1,411 school districts.

The results showed where the 140 districts stood in relation to other districts and concluded that the smaller the class size, the higher the student achievement in basic elementary school skills.

The California Teachers Assn. in a survey conducted after the Assembly hearing, said several state legislators and numerous educators were sharply critical of the release of such information.

The survey said four members of the Assembly Education Committee, the eight members of the State Board of Education's advisory committee on testing, educators and teaching leaders agreed that such disclosures are "dangerously misleading without detailed interpretation." A spokesman for the rival American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, said he thought the public had a right to know such information, assuming adequate explanatory material was provided.

Powers Convicted Of Traffic Charge

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Former Lt. Gov. Harold J. (Butch) Powers was convicted yesterday in Municipal Court of a traffic charge involving the right-of-way law.

TAKING AIM ON DOLLAR DAYS

Mrs. John H. Wiggins Jr. of Tiburon finds it's hard to miss a bull's eye of bargains during San Rafael's Dollar Days, to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Stores involved will display red Dollar Days window banners.

Little League Park Site Is Endorsed

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night endorsed a proposal for a Little League ball park on the Rancho School site.

The proposition was then presented a second time to the city council, with Mayor Robert D. Carrow and Councilman Lucille Cannon absent, after a public hearing on the recreation phase of the Novato master plan. The council agreed to take up the matter at 8 p.m. today when it holds its second public hearing on the plan.

The plan, as outlined by Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, calls for the Little League to install a ball park on the school site, then turn it over to the city for maintenance under the city-school recreation agreement.

The city plans to buy adjacent land for a city park. The Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce has volunteered to erect a tiny-tot playground on the city land, Adams said.

Improvements on the city land would cost between $4,500 and $5,000, Adams estimated. He suggested the city might dispense with hiring a juvenile officer and use part of the $6,600 budgeted for that purpose to develop the park.

"The Kiwanis Club had pledged $1,000 for a park in memory of Jay Links, and maybe they would use it here," Adams said.

He disclosed he had already asked the Novato Civic Foundation to purchase the lots for the city, prior to the city getting its money from its special 30-cent park acquisition tax.

The Little League proposition was made to the Novato Unified School District board last week, but it delayed action on it pending opinions from both the county counsel and the state on whether the Little League, a private corporation, could legally put a ball park on school land owned by the state.

ANNUAL REPORT

Police Kept Busy In Corte Madera

Corte Madera police made 112 per cent more arrests last year than they did in 1964. They also investigated 33.5 per cent more cases of major crime.

These statistics and others were revealed last night in Police Chief Frank L. Nelson's annual report to the town council. As fire chief, Nelson also reported that property losses due to fire for 1965 totaled $30,415, compared to $25,925 in 1964.

Among major crimes, the largest percentage increase was in sex cases. The department investigated 17 such cases last year, compared with seven in 1964.

Largest number of crimes last year were petty theft, with such cases investigated jumping from 117 in 1964 to 176. Next was malicious mischief. This category increased from 122 cases in 1964 to 168 cases last year.

The number of grand theft cases increased from seven to 12. Burglary cases decreased from 85 to 79. The town had one case of robbery in 1964 and two cases last year. It had one case of rape in 1964 and none last year.

Greatest decrease in crime, the chief reported, was in the category of forged checks. The town had 46.4 per cent fewer of these cases last year—from 69 in 1964 down to 37 in 1965.

The town had 114 more major crimes last year than the year before and made 119 more arrests. It had only 17 more traffic accidents and issued 132 more traffic citations.

He made a complaint common in most police departments today concerning the courts and criminals:

"With the laws constantly changing and the decisions of the courts leaning more and more toward the rights of the individual, it is getting very difficult . . . to get either warrants of arrest or convictions in court. It appears this trend is going to be with us for a long time, making the clearing of crimes reported a much harder job."

Despite the more than $4,000 increase in damage from fires in town over 1964, Nelson termed the damages for 1965 minimal.

The reports were accepted without comment by the town council.

Stolen Shotguns Are Recovered

Three shotguns stolen in Belvedere last Tuesday night were recovered in San Francisco yesterday, and a Millbrae man was arrested on suspicion of possession of stolen goods.

The guns, valued at $2,720, were stolen from the locked trunk of L. H. Easterling's car, parked in front of his home at 8 Maybridge Road.

They were recovered at a furniture store on Mission Street in San Francisco. An employee of the store, Lido Christofani, 42, of Millbrae, was booked at San Francisco County Jail, Belvedere Police Chief William S. Woodington reported.

Money Taken From Shop In Sausalito

Burglars forced open three doors on Sausalito's floating shop, Trade Fair, aboard the ferry boat Berkeley, and stole $300 in currency and coins from cash registers and money bags in the office file cabinets.

Harold Sillery, an employee who lives at 595 Bridgeway, reported the burglary Sunday, saying thieves entered the Trade Fair between 6 p.m. Saturday and 8:40 a.m. Sunday.

Police said the burglars pried the lock on the left side door of the boat, went to the top deck and forced open another door. This led them back down to the main deck where they broke open a third door leading to the shop.

President of the Sausalito Foundation is Jack R. Wagner.

A Rockefeller Becomes A Demo

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Another Rockefeller has entered politics — but in West Virginia of all places, and as a Democrat, of all things.

He is John D. (Jay) Rockefeller IV, great grandson of the empire builder and member of one of the nation's best-known Republican families.

Now 28, he was a registered Republican for five years. "The decision in itself was not difficult," he said. "But you just don't walk out on that much tradition without a lot of thought."

Jay said he went to Arkansas to talk with Winthrop and recently met with Nelson in New York. "I received their support," he said, "because it's important to them that I do what makes sense for me as a person."

Suspects Both Use Same Name

Corte Madera police yesterday jailed two women, both of whom identified themselves as Shirley Johnson, 22, of San Francisco, after they were placed under citizen's arrest for petty theft by Raymond J. Guerra, Montgomery Ward and Co. security officer.

The first Miss Johnson, who gave her address as Turk Street, San Francisco, was caught stealing a $46 knit suit and a blouse, Guerra said.

The second, who said she lived on Haight Street, was caught stealing three $65 suits, the security officer said. He also charged her with resisting arrest, saying she fought him.

Corte Madera To Allow Two Dances Each Month

The Corte Madera Town Council last night directed the town attorney to prepare an amendment to the business license ordinance which would allow two dances each month in the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

At present, the town allows three dances every two months. Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher suggested this be changed, pointing out that the present system makes possible three dances in one month and fails to delineate where each two-month period begins and ends.

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton voiced the only objection to the proposed amendment, reminding that "we've had trouble with these dances before."

Carl Brown of the Corte Madera Lions Club, which manages the recreation center, told the council that close restrictions are placed on every dance held in the building.

These include:

Dress is regulated — no jeans, shorts or capris for girls; boys must wear coats and ties during the school year. Advertisement for the dances is restricted to within Marin County. No more than 500 persons are allowed in for any dance. Promoter must hire services of six uniformed police officers.

Councilmen agreed the ordinance will be introduced next Monday night and go into effect in March if adopted.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Called for bids Feb. 18 at 2 p.m. on a new fire engine which will pump 1,000 gallons of water per minute. Budget allocation for the vehicle is $27,000.

2. Approved a change order for less expensive heating duct and window sash material in remodeling the town hall, at a saving of $1,368.

3. Agreed to pay $90 for Corte Madera's share of a $2,000 study of a drainage system for industrial property around Industrial Way east of Highway 101. Remainder will be paid by property owners and the City of Larkspur.

4. Passed a resolution releasing the Corte Madera Sanitary District from liability for any damage to Paradise Drive during recent relocation of a sewer line there.

5. Heard from Usher about progress on the town's proposed uniform traffic ordinance which will allow changes in traffic regulations through the adoption of resolutions instead of ordinances.

6. Renewed, for two years, the permit for D. F. Short to operate an accounting office in his home at 622 Tamalpais Drive.

7. Adopted a resolution calling for a municipal election April 12.

8. Proclaimed Feb. 20-27 "National Brotherhood Week" in Corte Madera.

Visitors Bureau Installs Officers

Other new officers were Al L. Neiri of Novato and Frank Mesta of San Anselmo, vice presidents; Esther Dearth of San Rafael, secretary; and Glenn W. Sleezer of San Rafael, treasurer.

Driver Treated

Christine B. Parr, 22, of 146 Ross Street, San Rafael, was cut on the forehead when her southbound car skidded on Highway 101 just north of the Alto overpass and hit the center chain link fence at 11:45 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported. She was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Supervisors Hire New Parks Chief

Marin County supervisors today hired Pierre W. Joske at $14,400 a year to serve as county park and recreation director, filling a post that has been vacant for four months.

Joske, who will start work in Marin March 1, is chief of park planning for the Los Angeles County Park and Recreation Department. He was one of the three men interviewed in a closed session of the board of supervisors and park and recreation commission this morning.

Both the commission and supervisors were unanimous in favor of Joske, County Administrator Alan Bruce reported.

Joske, 38, is a native of Panorama City, Los Angeles County. He attended Lycee de Nice, France; Ecole d'Horticulture d'Antibes, France, and California Polytechnic College at San Dimas, and received a bachelor of science degree in ornamental horticulture and landscape architecture.

In 1943-45 he was an estate gardener and fruit farm manager in Southern France. In 1949-53 he was foreman for Landscape Construction Co. in New York suburbs and later in Southern California. He was in the Los Angeles County engineer's office, 1956-63, and was appointed to the Los Angeles County Parks and Recreation Department in 1964.

He and his wife have three children.

He replaced Kelvin J. Nelson, who resigned last September. Nelson was being paid $10,968 per year.

PARKING

Under parallel parking, here are the comparable figures:

Each parking space will extend eight feet from the curb. Cars parked on opposite curbs will thus take up 16 feet. This leaves 35 feet in the center for through traffic. That is enough for almost four lanes of moving traffic between cars parked on both sides of the street.

How about the revenue from the 89 meters that would be lost by a changeover to parallel?

The city finance officer estimates that each meter brings in an average of $120 per year. That would be almost $10,700 per year from 89 meters.

However, the loss of 89 meters would not mean that all customers who would have used those meters would stop coming into town. There are other parking stalls within a block of Fourth Street (such as the off-street lot at Third and Lootens) that are unfilled today. The upper deck of the Third and Lootens lots remains nearly empty.

Therefore, of the $10,700 "lost" from 89 meters, the finance officer estimates that 75 per cent ($8,025) would be "regained" from fuller use of other parking spaces within a block or two of Fourth Street. This would mean a net loss of $2,675 per year in meter revenue.

The current revenue from all meters in the San Rafael Parking District is about $135,000 per year.

artillery and air strikes appeared to have convinced the Communists their only escape from an area they have held for 15 years lies to the hills in the west.

U.S. and Korean casualties remain light, military spokesmen said, but the South Vietnamese suffered moderate losses.

U.S. Marines based at Da Nang and the units which landed from the sea south of Quang Ngai, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, last Friday reported little contact with the enemy.

South Korea was balking at sending additional troops to Viet Nam. Foreign Ministry sources in Seoul said the Koreans had informed the United States it could not accept its terms for sending additional troops to Southeast Asia.

History Month

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown today asked Californians to observe February as American History Month in California, and urged citizens to join in activities "as will promote public understanding of our rich heritage and thereby strengthen our democratic way of life."

BROWN

healthy man," who, after "a great deal of reflection" had decided to embark on the long campaign. He said "my choice was clear."

But in an informal office chat with newsmen the afternoon before, he conceded his wife, Bernice, was "not too enthusiastic."

He promised California's 19 million citizens to continue what he considers his administration's big achievement: "To steer their government on a progressive course to work with them in building a good life for today and a better life for their children."

He pointed to work on the huge project to ship water to dry Southern California; a higher education system to "assure every son and daughter of this state a chance to win a college degree;" "financial policies which have encouraged business to invest billions of dollars in California;" and expanding recreation developments.

He talked, too, of the administration's pioneering effort to use space age scientists "to invent better ways to get another man off welfare and into a useful life; invent a better way to get a father to and from work."

In the months ahead, he said, he will spell out new programs for education, water development, expanding the economy, fighting crime, "for doing the jobs the people of California entrust to their government . . ."

"And I will ask Republicans and Democrats; business and labor, to join me," he said.

Brown's pledge to serve out a third term—hedged only by the reference to the U.S. Supreme Court—was made to newsmen during the informal chat the day before the formal announcement.

As for the chances of receiving such an appointment, Brown said "the President has never suggested that I take a place in the federal government, whatsoever." Johnson, he added, told him recently, "I want you to run" for another term.

Ike Supports Bombing Plan

PALM DESERT (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said today he supports President Johnson's order resuming bombing of military targets in North Viet Nam.

Gen. Eisenhower told newsmen at his winter office in nearby Indio:

"Our relations with Southeast Asia are important to us. It is my view that we must never allow any of our friends in that region to believe we have weakened—or shall weaken — in our purpose of supporting freedom.

"Should our actions be so interpreted, I think it would be a very dark day for America."

Greek Crewmen Saved From Ship

A Coast Guard plane dropped liferafts near the Liberian-registered vessel, Rockport, 1,000 miles northwest of Honolulu. The 13 made it safely to the U.S. military transport, General Walker.

Other crewmen were ready to be ferried to the transport in liferafts.

BAY

craft transportation. He said that "in five years SFO has expanded from two helicopters carrying 2,000 passengers a month to five large helicopters carrying 20,000 a month." He predicted that in another five years one million persons a month will be carried by helicopters and hovercraft in the Bay Area.

Others were less optimistic that the commuter would abandon his automobile. Albert Elledge of Crowley Tugboat and Launch Co. said his Tiburon-San Francisco ferry service broke even last September for the first time since operation began in August, 1962.

The firm's boats, Harbor King and Harbor Queen, steaming from Tiburon at 7:30 a.m. and the Ferry Building in San Francisco at 5:30 p.m., carried 110 passengers each way on the 35-minute, 7-mile run. The service would be profitable, he said, if it reached anything like the boat's 400-passenger capacity.

"There are hundreds of people just in Tiburon who could use it," he said somewhat plaintively. "But the commuter is close to Highway 101 and he's not going to drive to Tiburon. He's just going to keep on going in his car."

Elledge also made it clear that his ferry service would be nowhere near the break-even point if it were not for the sight-seeing operation that carries the capital investment and administrative costs of the boats.

Commissioner John C. Beckett described the potential of the electric automobile, made possible by recent development of a zinc-air battery.

Such a battery, Beckett said, would have only one-fourth the weight for the same power yield as the present lead-acid battery. Till now, according to Beckett, it has been the weight of the conventional battery that has made an electric car impractical.

Because of the very low maintenance of an electric car, he said, it would be possible for public transportation systems to own fleets of them, making them available to commuters at various terminals.

"The individual," Beckett said, "would not need to own a car for commuting. He would subscribe to the service much as he does to a public utility for power."

In the situation imagined by Beckett, a Marin County commuter would drive from his home in a publicly owned electric car to some central rapid transit terminal, turning in his car on arrival. On his return to the terminal in the evening, he would pick up another car for the drive to his house.

Other advantages of the electric car would be noise and smog abatement, he said.

Joseph Dove, of Food Machinery Corp.'s ordnance division, reported on hydrofoil craft and said that only public acceptance was holding back their full development and use on the bay.

All of the speakers touched on the need for adequate parking facilities near all trans-bay terminals and for adequate public transportation at destination points, if the commuter is to be wooed from his automobile.

Earlier yesterday, the commission approved a final study design of Bay Area transportation requirements to cost $4,425,000—an increase of $960,000 over its preliminary estimate.

The commission's work is financed primarily by federal and state agencies, with lesser contributions from the nine Bay Area counties.

Leydecker Will Miss Grand Jury's Hearing

Byron W. Leydecker, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, will not appear before the county grand jury tomorrow when the jury investigates the hiring of Leydecker's neighbor, John M. Douglas as director of economic development.

Leydecker, who returned yesterday from Palm Springs, will be in New York on a business trip tomorrow and Thursday, he said. He reported he talked to George R. Scott, grand jury foreman, and Scott said Leydecker could testify at a later hearing as the jury probably would not complete its work tomorrow.

Auditor Finds No Minutes For Bel Marin Keys Board

By RICHARD LYTTLE

No minutes have been taken of meetings of the Bel Marin Keys community services district board of directors since December, 1963.

There was no required legal notice published for a meeting when the budget for the current fiscal year was adopted by directors.

The audit found that expenditures by the district for street lighting and pumping stations were legitimate, but that there were many technical errors.

Developers of Bel Marin Keys are the district directors: Jack H. West Sr., his wife, Leona West and Jack H. West Jr. They were elected by nine voters, including the Wests, when the district was formed in 1961. There has been no subsequent elections, although the law required elections in 1962 and 1964.

The audit further showed that none of the directors has ever taken an oath of office before the county clerk, as required by law, and that there was no attempt to classify themselves by length of term.

Mitchell recommended that formal minutes be kept, that an election be held either on the regular April 12 date or consolidated with the June 7 primary, and that all bills against the district be approved by the directors and the approval reflected in the minutes.

Directors on Jan. 14 agreed to hold the election April 12, reported Leland H. Jordan, attorney for the district.

Mitchell further recommended that district directors work more closely with their attorney and "explicitly follow his advice on all matters concerning the operation of the district."

Jordan said Mrs. West's term will expire April 12 and that the other two Wests want to resign.

County Opposes Annexation To Lighting District

Marin County supervisors today denied the proposed annexation of the 12-lot Bella Vista subdivision on Novato Boulevard to the Novato County Lighting District.

The action means that the tract will have to be annexed to the City of Novato if it is to have street lighting.

J. Julien Baget, Novato city manager, said the city was constantly struggling to round out its borders and annexation to a county lighting district of a tract adjacent to the city would hamper this struggle.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker spoke in favor of a policy of having areas demanding municipal level services becoming part of cities. Supervisor Peter H. Behr asked for a report on the effect of such a policy on all cities and their area of influence.

Novato Youngster Missing Again

James Allen Price, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Price of 35 Crescent Lane, Novato, was missing from his home today and listed as a runaway by Novato police.

His father last night reported to police that James had left home about 6 p.m. Sunday and had not returned. This was the third time that he had runaway, the elder Price told police.

James was listed as five feet eight inches tall, weighing 165 pounds, of medium build, blonde hair, blue eyes and fair skinned. He was wearing white jeans, a light shirt, a blue jacket and black Oxfords when last seen, according to police.

Ross Creates Board On Building Appeals

A five-member board of appeals to rule on findings of the city's building inspector has been appointed by Mayor Frederick S. Allen of Ross.

Appointed were three San Anselmans, David H. Smith and David S. Brodner, electrical contractors, and Jerry Commis, plumbing contractor, and two from San Rafael, Homer Scott and Leonard Murphy, both general contractors.

Convict's Girl Testifies In Assault Trial

The prosecution finished its testimony at 11 a.m. today in the Marin Superior Court jury retrial of Robert Gene Glover, 33, charged with assaulting a fellow San Quentin Prison inmate in 1963.

Last witness was Mrs. Dolores Dutra, 30, Novato fiancee of the defendant and whose receipt of some 500 love letters from Glover has been an issue in the trial.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw, who subpoenaed Mrs. Dutra and the letters on contention they might contain information about the assault, said today he read all correspondence released to him through Mrs. Dutra by W. O. Weissich, attorney for Glover.

Status of any possible remaining letters was not immediately determined.

Defense testimony began shortly before noon.

Glover allegedly stabbed Henry L. Wolfenden, 28, with a brass rod Sept. 18, 1963, in a classroom of the prison's adjustment center.

A jury which included Mrs. Dutra convicted him of the assault, but the First District Court of Appeals, San Francisco, granted the new trial. Mrs. Dutra has testified she and Glover fell in love during correspondence since the original trial.

Lagunitas Bond Issue Debated

About 100 people attended a debate last night on whether Lagunitas School District voters should approve a $200,000 bond issue and $400,000 state loan request in the district's Feb. 15 election.

The debate, at Lagunitas School, was sponsored by the San Geronimo Valley Assn. Speakers were Robert E. Lea of Lagunitas, favoring the bonds, and Jack M. Barnes of Woodacre, opposing them.

Jean A. Bevans, association speaker, said the session lasted two hours and 15 minutes, of which more than an hour was devoted to questions from the audience.

Controversy over the election has centered on the district's pledge to buy and build on a site in central Woodacre. Opposition to the bonds and loan has been spearheaded by residents of the proposed site, including Barnes.

Humboldt County Set As Disaster Area

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—President Johnson has declared Humboldt County a "major disaster area" due to January rains and allocated $1 million to make repairs, Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced yesterday.

Brown, who asked for the disaster designation Jan. 17, said estimates of damage to public facilities in the county totaled more than $4 million.

Food Rioting Spreads In India

NEW DELHI (UPI) —Food riots spread throughout Communist-dominated Kerald state in southern India today and police used tear gas and metal-tipped clubs to battle the growing disturbances.

The government arrested E. M. S. Namboodiripad, leader of the pro-Peking faction of the Kerala state Communist party, in an effort to cut the protest movement at its source.

More than 150 other persons, mostly Communist dock workers, also were being held.

Planned Community Zone Is Challenged

A suit challenging the legality of planned community zoning by Marin County, believed to be the first such case in California, was filed today in Marin Superior Court.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs said basis of the suit is that such zoning has no standard to go by, that restrictions for each such community can vary, and therefore the zoning is not fair or just to residents.

The suit, filed on behalf of Marin Assn. for Planning and two couples, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Van Der Male and Mr. and Mrs. Hal McIntyre, whose homes are in the Wolfback Ridge area, near the proposed Marincello community, ask that the planned community zoning portion of Marin County Code be declared unconstitutional and illegal.

It also asks that all resolutions, ordinances and permits resulting for the zoning be nullified, and seeks a temporary and permanent injunction preventing any further adoption of resolutions or ordinances on a basis of that zoning.

Defendants are the county board of supervisors, county planning commission; Donald Zucker, county planning director, and Donald R. Frost, county director of public works.

The board of supervisors adopted the Marin County Code, which included the planned community zoning portion, last March 9. The suit states that since adoption, certain parcels of land have been rezoned into the planning community districts, and others are in the process of such rezoning.

It adds that the Van Der Males and McIntyres are owners of property immediately adjacent to one such parcel rezoned into a planned community district, and would suffer "great and irreparable injury" unless an injunction is granted.

Plaintiffs charge the development of such districts will create vested rights in the developers and owners of the property involved, that traffic, fire and health hazards may develop, and undesirable congestion or density of land uses would depreciate land values of adjacent property.

In addition, according to the suit, taxes may be increased. Attorneys for the plaintiffs are Stephen H. Kaufmann and Leonard J. Bloom.

William Dampier, the buccaneer, in 1688 was the first Englishman to visit Australia.

Two-Car Wreck Traps Woman Behind Wheel

A Sausalito woman was trapped for 45 minutes yesterday between the steering wheel and seat of her car, after an auto accident on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, firemen and the California Highway Patrol reported.

Mary C. Somers, 26, of 1 Ebbtide Street, Apt. 4, Sausalito, had to be pried from the car at 4 p.m. after the accident at 3:15 p.m. on Drake Boulevard, Kentfield Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp said.

The patrol said Darleen F. Small, 21, of San Francisco, had just turned right into the eastbound lane of Drake from College Avenue when she slowed for traffic and was struck from behind by the Somers car. Miss Small complained of neck pains and was to see her own doctor. Miss Somers was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple cuts and bruises.

Sonoma Theft Trial Of Marinite Delayed

Young, formerly of Mill Valley where he conducted an insurance business, is accused of pocketing a $10,000 premium paid by the City of Petaluma.

More Than Inch Of Rain Falls, More Is Expected

Marin County enjoyed a brief reprieve at midday today from rain which swept over the area during the night, dumping well over an inch in many places.

The break in the clouds is not expected to last long, however, and the Weather Bureau predicts more rain tomorrow.

Hail was reported last night in Sausalito.

Lt. Jerry Wolfram of the 666th Radar Squadron atop Mount Tamalpais reported that hail, beating on his windows, kept him awake for 20 minutes during the night.

The largest amounts of rain recorded in the 24 hours up to 8 a.m. today were at Mill Valley and San Anselmo where 1.3 inches were reported.

Other places to hit the inch mark and over were Ross 1.11 inches, Chevy Chase (Larkspur) 1.05, and Larkspur 1.02.

Other rainfall figures included Bolinas .87, San Rafael .82, Belvedere and Terra Linda .8, Sausalito .78, and Novato .75.

Sanitary Board Annexes Parcels

It raised the salary of Inez Burdick, secretary, from $415 to $436 per month.

It set Feb. 10, 17 and 28 for meeting dates this month.

Parks Planner Praises Novato For Foresight

Novato, with its master plan for parks, is out in front of the rest of the county, Walter Horchler, Marin County senior planner, last night told a public hearing on the parks and recreation phase of the Novato master plan at the Novato Community House.

The plan was presented to three members of the city council, with Mayor Robert C. Carrow and Lucille Cannon absent, and to the parks and recreation commission and approximately 15 spectators.

"This is the last possible time to preserve some of the charming atmosphere of Novato," Horchler said.

The plan, based on a projection of 180,000 population in the area in the year 2000, calls for one acre of neighborhood parks per 1,000 population. The area includes not only the present limits of Novato, but also unincorporated area west to Hicks Valley and north to the Sonoma County line.

Major parks would be at Canyon Lake off Canyon Road, at Deer Island, in uplands north of Stafford Lake, and on the hill north of Marion School.

"I am happy to report that the county list now puts Stafford Lake park in top priority," Hodchler said. He said he hoped the county could apply for federal funds for that park by Feb. 28.

In the original estimate, Horchler put the cost of the proposed park system for Novato at approximately three million dollars. This would include $1,905,100 for land and $1,094,900 for development.

He briefly touched on a plan presented by County Supervisor Peter H. Behr in which Novato's share of a proposed county-city park bond issue would be $779,600, or 39 per cent of the amount allotted to cities.

Mrs. John Machado of 1424 Dames Street, asked whether the neighborhood park sites should be developed in conjunction with schools.

"They definitely should work together whenever they can," Horchler said.

"If this plan goes through, Novato will have the number one spot in the county for parks," he concluded.

The city council adjourned until 8 p.m. today to continue its hearing on the Novato master plan.

$204 Chain Saw Reported Stolen

Theft of a $204 chain saw was reported to Mill Valley police yesterday by Donald L. James, foreman of Warner's Tree Service, 47 Carmelita Avenue.

James, who resides in Rohnert Park, reported the saw was stolen between Dec. 28 and Jan. 5 from a locked tool shed at the tree service headquarters. There was no sign of forced entry, he said.

Teacher's Wife Asks Seat On Board Of Education

There has been one official application so far for the vacancy on the San Rafael Board of Education caused by the resignation of Walter J. Doll, president, although Mayor C. Paul Bettini said today he had received "a number of indirect inquiries."

Leonore E. Cadwallader, 576 Appleberry Drive, Lucas Valley, has sent a letter to City Clerk W. C. Cornwell asking to be considered for the vacancy.

Mrs. Cadwallader, wife of Robert G. Cadwallader, a Kentfield schoolteacher, said yesterday: "I have been interested in the San Rafael Board of Education for eight years now, attending its meetings regularly.

"My voluntary work has included being a teacher's aide, a library aide, and I am also a member of the Council of Music and Arts for the Dixie School District." She said that prior to her interest in San Rafael, she attended education meetings at Kentfield, Sausalito and Mill Valley and also has done freelance writing on educational subjects.

The city council has 20 days to fill the vacancy from the date the letter was received by the city clerk last Thursday.

The council has only one regular meeting—next Monday—before the notice expires on Feb. 16. According to the charter, if the vacancy were not filled within the 20-day period, the school board would fill the empty place itself.

Bettini commented, "I have had several calls from people who have inquired about the vacancy and the likelihood of being able to produce a candidate, but no names were mentioned."

Doll is resigning from the board because of business pressures and family responsibilities, he said.

The odds against each of the four players in a bridge game being dealt a perfect hand, all cards of the same suit, are 2,235,197,406,895,366,368, 301, 559, 999 to 1, according to the Encyclopedia of Bridge.

Supervisors Disagree On Planning Vacancy

Marin County supervisors began today to discuss a replacement for Felix M. Warburg on the county planning commission, and ran into a controversy at once.

Warburg submitted his resignation yesterday.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said he hoped the board would pick a replacement who is "down the middle, representing neither development or conservation interests, and is a true, bona fide businessman."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr declared that those "in between are the ones who stay home and look at the idiot box." Behr said he would prefer a man with some integrity of thought, even if he were representing development interests.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss said the replacement should be someone with architectural experience.

Warburg was an at-large member of the commission, meaning that all board members will have a hand in finding a replacement and he can be a resident of any part of the county.

Supervisors did agree that anyone interested in serving should submit application in writing to the board.

WORSE THAN SKUNKS?

Previous Victim Has Sad News For Ousted Family

It may have been something "much worse than a skunk" that some days ago forced a family of three to flee a house at the end of Ivy Lane in Woodacre.

And that's bad news for the Al Chelinies, who returned today in the hope of invading animal was gone.

Said Mrs. Joyce: "They smell worse than a skunk and they never really leave the place they've once mated in. They have five or six in a litter and they litter four times a year."

Mrs. Joyce's first anguished encounter with civet cats was about three years ago in her home on Aztec Road in Forest Knolls.

She learned about the Chelinies' plight after reading in the Independent-Journal that Bard Clow, agent for the Woodacre house, had complained about a skunk to the county health department, agricultural commissioner and humane society with no results.

"Nobody would help me either," she said, "but I studied the damn things." As a result of her studies, Mrs. Joyce had a few pointers for Clow, whom she phoned:

First, board up the two-inch hole in the wall behind the sink. The five or six-pound civet can get through it. "It's long and slender," she said, "with sharp teeth and claws and climbs straight up a five-foot wall."

Second, fumigate the house with formaldehyde and sulphur candles.

Third, spread moth balls everywhere. Civet cats, no matter how bad they smell themselves, "can't stand the smell of camphor," she said.

According to Mrs. Joyce, if they haven't already mated and started to multiply, "maybe they won't come back."

Good luck, Mr. and Mrs. Chelinie.

Brown Supports New G.I. Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown wants Congress to move swiftly in approving a new GI bill for Viet Nam veterans and other servicemen who were on duty in the cold war.

Brown said last night that many veterans of the Viet Nam war ando ther military actions have made "sacrifices as great as those veterans of the two world wars and Korea," and should receive educational and other benefits granted to those military men.

He made the appeal in a telegram to Chairman Olin Teague, D-Tex., of the House Veterans Affairs Committee.

Boat's Builders Sailing To Races

Two Mill Valley men, trimaran designer Arthur L. Piver and boat builder Richard Gerling, are en route to Acapulco to then cruise to the Atlantic and participate in the Bermuda-Denmark race in late spring.

Piver, who lives at 50 Marlin Avenue, designed the new racing trimaran the men are sailing, and Gerling, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Gerling of 12 St. Jude Road, built the boat.

CHICKEN VERMOUTH

Select medium-sized Jolly chickens, halved. Place in large 3-inch deep baking pan. (If you prefer, use chicken breasts and thighs.) Dot liberally with butter, salt and pepper to taste. Roast in 350° ½ hour. In a saucepan mix 1 can cream of mushroom soup with 1 can water and 1 can white Vermouth. Heat and blend. You can use as much Vermouth as you want—it imparts a subtle, herbal flavor to the chicken. Pour this mixture over chicken, cover pan with foil and continue to cook ½ hour longer, basting occasionally.

CHOCOLATE ALMOND MOUSSE

½ cup chopped toasted almonds
½ pound sweet chocolate
6 tbsps. very strong coffee
5 eggs
1 tbsp. cognac or brandy
Whipped cream

Melt chocolate with coffee in small saucepan over water. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Remove from heat. Add cognac or brandy. Beat egg whites until they stand in stiff peaks when beater is withdrawn. Fold mixture into refrigerator tray and freeze until almost firm. Turn out into chilled bowl. Add almonds. Beat thoroughly. Return to tray and freeze until firm. Serve in dessert dishes with dollops of whipped cream. Serves 6.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Hoard Higher Cards When Your Partner Has Need

At your first bridge lesson you learn that a king is better than a deuce and that it pays to keep your high cards until they can win tricks.

Much later you learn that a plus is better than a minus score and that sometimes you must sacrifice your high cards for the sake of the partnership.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

West opened the queen of hearts, and East properly "wasted" his king by playing it at once.

DEUCE UNWISE

If East unwisely played the deuce of hearts at the first trick, South would play low. West would lead another heart, East would have to play the king, and South would again play low.

East would have to shift to another suit, whereupon South would give up a diamond trick and make game with four diamonds, one heart and two tricks in each black suit.

Actually, as we have seen, East played the king of hearts at the first trick, and South played low.

East got out by leading his other heart, and South played low again. This time South was wrong.

UNBLOCKS

West won the second heart trick and led a third heart to force out the ace.

On this trick East cleverly discarded the queen of diamonds.

Now if South tried to develop the diamonds he would have to give the lead to West, whereupon the rest of the hearts would defeat him.

If South tried to develop spades or clubs, he would run into equally bad luck.

South should win the second heart, enter dummy with a spade and lead a diamond through East.

If East plays the queen, South plays low to make sure of losing the diamond trick to East rather than to West.

If East plays a low diamond, South wins and gets to dummy with a club to lead the other diamond through East.

No matter what East does, South gives him a trick with the queen of diamonds and thus safely develops nine tricks.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ 9 4 2
♡ Q J 10 9 5
◆ J 10 6
♣ 9 8.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

You have only 4 points in high cards, and 1 point for the doubleton, but the hand is worth a raise because of the unusually good trump support.

However, do not make the mistake of jumping to four hearts; the distribution is not good enough for that.

Yesterday's Answer

Late Buying Partly Offsets Sudden Drop

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed sharply lower today but late buying trimmed some of the worst declines. Trading was heavy.

Stocks broke down in the afternoon in a selling wave that brought losses of several points to some of the high-flying aerospace and electronic issues which have been such big gainers.

No specific news was linked ith the sudden break but selling mushroomed once it got started.

Volume for the day was estimated at 9.8 million shares compared with 7.79 million yesterday.

Key stocks sank from 1 to 2 points. Some of the "high flyers" were off 5 or 6 points.

It looked like the long-awaited "correction" of the rise to nearly 1,000 in the Dow Jones industrial average and there was no specific news development to account for it.

Texas Instruments was down 6, Admiral nearly 5, Northwest Airlines 3, Litton (new), South Puerto Rico Sugar, Reynolds Metals, Bucyrus-Erie, Magnavox and Occidental Petroleum about 2 each.

On bullish news developments, Koppers was up nearly 3 and Witco Chemical 1.

American Telephone, down ½, was at another new low.

Fairchild Camera skidded nearly 8 points. KLM Airlines and Texas Gulf Sulphur lost about 3 each, IBM and Xerox 4 points or so.

Losses of 2 or more were also shown by New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Polaroid, U.S. Smelting, General Electric, Kennecott, Radio Corp., Boeing, United Aircraft.

Off a point or more were Zenith, American Smelting (ex-dividend), Eastman Kodak, Du Pont, International Paper, U.S. Gypsum, Standard Oil of Indiana, Chesapeake and Ohio and many others.

On a per share basis, after preferred dividends and adjustments for conversions of preferred stock to common, earnings for the year were equivalent to $5.15 per common share against $4.54 in 1964.

Directors have declared a quarterly dividend of 62½ cents a share on the common and a regular 82½ cent dividend on the preferred. Both are payable March 10 to stockholders of record Feb. 10.

G.M.'s 1965 earnings soared 23 per cent above 1964's to a recor d $2.12 billion. It was a year for the world's largest manufacturing enterprise.

Dividends and sales also set records.

The company paid dividends of $5.25 a share in 1965, including a special yearender of $2.25, paying out a total of $1.49 million to holders of common stock. The 1964 payout was $4.45 a share. Both these were records.

Net earnings equaled $7.41 a share last year, compared with a previous high mark of $6.05 in 1964.

Sales were estimated at $20.7 billion, an increase of 22 per cent over the previous record of $17.0 billion the previous year.

Solano County Deep Well Finds New Gas Zones

RIO VISTA — Signal Oil and Gas Co. has discovered a deep gas zone in the Lindsey slough field, approximately six miles northwest of Rio Vista (Solano County).

The company's Petersen Estate No. 2 well which encountered six producing horizons, extended the field a half mile to the northwest.

Tests on three of the six horizons has a combined rate of 22 million cubic feet of gas per day. The well was drilled to a total depth of 10,378 feet. Signal plans to complete the three lower horizons in the present well and drill a twin well for the upper horizons.

The deep K-1 Sand, at 10,172 feet, the deepest and most significant zone, produced gas at a rate of 8 million cubic feet per day on drill stem test through a 33/64 choke. This rate was attained from 26 feet of the 150 foot zone. Commercial production from the K-1 Sand has not previously been encountered in the Sacramento Valley.

Another Office Building Due For Lincoln Avenue Strip

There will be another cluster of modern offices available on the Lincoln Avenue strip, San Rafael by next May—up to 27 units.

James L. Bowler and Ralph Waltz of San Rafael, teamed as B and W Development Co., 24 La Crescenta Way (they did Los Ranchitos Apartments on Merrydale Road), have a two-story building under construction at 1368 Lincoln Avenue. Rentable area will total 9,320 square feet. This is a $250,000 project with building designs by W. R. Beck. Wesley W. Gehrke is the contractor.

Offices are as small as 270 square feet—or the entire second floor can be utilized as a 5,000-square foot suite. B and W isn't in the current phone directory, but information has the listing.

MRS. LUCREZIA KEMPER of Sausalito, prominent west coast advertising woman, has retired from Albert Frank-Guenther Law, Inc., San Francisco with whom she has been associated since 1929. She became a vice president in 1952 and a senior vice president in 1963. During her long career she won many honors — most recent being her selection as "Advertising Woman of the Year" by the San Francisco Advertising Club in 1962.

Mrs. Kemper Suhr

DONALD L. SUHR of Ross, formerly general sales manager for Fox and Carskadon, has joined Dohemann and Co. Now on a vacation, he will be in the commercial development division at Dohemann's office starting Feb. 15.

KEITH E. ROBERTS of Terra Linda Valley, San Rafael has a new assignment with Sears Roebuck and Co.—but he still has a long commute. As of today he is acting manager of the Walnut Creek store. He has been with Sears 16 years—the last two spent as the hardlines merchandise manager at the Hayward store.

W. ROBERT WILSON of Kentfield has been appointed media director for Hoefer, Dieterich and Brown, Inc., San Francisco. He was formerly media director for Campbell-Ewald and before that held similar posts as Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn, Inc. and Guild, Bascom and Bonfigle, Inc. Wilson is a part-time instructor at San Francisco State College in the radio-television-film department.

INSURANCE. John L. Kassab of San Rafael has been appointed manager of the Prudential Insurance Co. office at at 3330 Geary Boulevard, San Francisco. A native of New York, he has been active in life insurance management for 14 years. . . . Ernest Muzatko, regional superintendent of agencies for Pilot Life Insurance, reports his company had all-time sales of over 625 million dollars last year. Insurance in force passed the three-billion mark in December.

SAN ANSELMO travel agent Harry Orrick and wife Jackie will conduct a personalized tour to Portugal, Spain and Morocco, taking off May 2. They made the trip last year and decided to go again, with a limited group not to exceed 18 persons. The tour takes in Lisbon, Seville, Cordoba, Granada, Malaga, Tangier, Algeciras, Madrid, Majorca, Barcelona—and back to New York and San Francisco on jet planes by May 23.

AND SPEAKING OF FLYING, it's pretty hard to miss Bill Melbern of Airport Limousine Service, Sausalito at the San Francisco International Airport these days. He sports a flashy red coat and chauffeur's cap that can be seen almost from the landing strips. You might just be able to make a connection with his return trip to Marin.

Taxes collected by state and local governments in the United States during the 12 months ended June, 1965, totaled $51.6 billion, an increase of $3.8 billion over the previous year, reports the Bureau of the Census.

Some Highways Indicate State Has Green Thumb

The state's Highway Commission, Department of Public Works and the Division of Highways have often been criticized for laying down massive stretches of concrete and pavement over the shortest freeway routes, with no concern for esthetics.

A recent report on state landscaping along Marin highways indicates that much of the criticism is unwarranted.

As of the end of last year, almost a half million dollars had gone into highway landscaping and planting, from Vista Point, just north of Golden Gate Bridge, through Novato.

This half million dollars represents highway improvements that are over and above the minimum needs to move traffic from one point to the next.

It demonstrrates that the State Highway Commission and the State Division of Highways do have an eye for beautification, as well as for the practical job of moving the most traffic over the shortest route in the shortest time under safest circumstances.

Only a few years ago, Vista Point was just a dirt knoll where the quick could swerve their cars off Highway 101 for a short breather and a glimpse of the bay and San Francisco. Today it is paved, lined for parking, landscaped, and has water and other facilities for the convenience of the motoring public.

From the Golden Gate Bridge to Lucas Valley, trees and shrubs have been planted and maintained in various areas, especially at interchanges and overpasses where ugly dirt scars or patches of dead weeds would have resulted, if left unlandscaped.

In the near future, more landscaping projects are planned on Tiburon Highway and along 101 from Lucas Valley to Ignacio to brighten an otherwise harsh stretch of asphalt and macadam with strips of green foliage.

These should effectively refute the blind critics who would have us believe that freeway designers and engineers suffer from a vision that does not extend beyond the traveled pavement.

Marin highways are not the only examples. Hollywood Freeway in Los Angeles, for one, replaced unsightly buildings and constricted streets with a graceful curving thoroughfare, lined with attractive greenery.

In some locations, such as the Corte Madera interchange, attempts at landscaping have been impeded by the forces of nature.

The low stretch through Corte Madera is largely filled marshland with brackish mud a few feet below the surface. Many trees, such as redwoods, planted along the highway have been lost or stunted because of the high saline content of the soil.

The highway people are to be commended for having a few green thumbs, along with their engineers and surveyors.

Johnson Probably Didn't Help Term Plan With His Backing

By JOHN BECKLER
(James Marlow is ill)

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson may not have helped the cause of longer terms for House members by urging it so strongly.

A determined backstage effort to extend the present two-year terms to four years was nearing success in the House without much interest being shown in it until Johnson spoke out.

BUT EVER SINCE he plugged the four-year term in his State of the Union address the issue has been caught in the glare of controversy and its fate is now in doubt.

To win congressional approval, the proposed amendment must pass in both the House and Senate by at least a two-thirds favorable vote--not just a simple majority. Then three-fourths of the state legislatures --38—would have to ratify it for the proposal to become law.

For the first time, mail is coming to Congress on the subject, much of it opposing the longer terms. Newspapers and magazines are taking editorial stands. Voters are discussing it.

All this was much different last year when Rep. Frank Chelf, D-Ky., was quietly, but effectively, lining up support for a four-year-term constitutional amendment.

BY HIS OWN COUNT Chelf wrote more than 8,000 letters to his 534 colleagues in the House and Senate with arguments in support of longer terms. He talked about it at every opportunity, got dozens to introduce amendments.

Working through his fellow members of the House Judiciary Committee he finally pressured Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., an unyielding opponent of the amendment, to hold hearings. Nearly 50 members appeared to sing the praises of longer terms, none in opposition.

Celler couldn't find anyone who would testify against it and he was finally forced to move the amendment to the top of the committee calendar, ready for almost certain approval at the start of this session. Then the President spoke out.

CELLER HAS no lack of members and outside witnesses now who want to testify against the amendment and he is preparing to renew the hearings.

The awakened interest in the four-year term also has caused members who thought they favored it to look more closely at what is at stake. Some are having second thoughts.

They don't like Johnson's proposal that the four-year terms coincide with the President's, fearing loss of independence to the executive branch. With a Democrat in power, Republicans are particularly opposed to this feature.

THOSE WHO FAVOR dividing the House and staggering the terms so half the members run every two years don't have the answer to the technical problem of how to deal with automatic reapportionment of the House after the national census every 10 years.

Few like the concession forced on Chelf by the Senate —and now embraced by Johnson—that would deny a House member serving a four-year term the chance to run against a senator unless he resigns from the House.

Chelf, an untiring optimist, has not eased up in his efforts to get an amendment approved and on its way to the states. But what seemed within his grasp a few weeks ago will now be harder to obtain.

Planning Thought Needed By City

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The Independent-Journal carried a lead article on Jan. 21 which pointed out that the population of San Rafael increased from 11,389 in the 1950 census, to 31,550 in 1965.

City planning must be one of the most important government functions in a city which has tripled its size in 15 years, and the selection of a man to be planning director for San Rafael is a matter of great concern to all its citizens. Surely it is worth whatever time or effort is necessary to find a well-qualified and experienced planner to direct this city's continuing growth.

I would suggest that the Independent-Journal can do the community a great service by bringing to the public's attention the qualifications of each person being considered for the position of planning director.

Idea Fine; Reason Differs

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your recent (Jan. 24) editorial on volunteer teacher aides struck a responsive chord in this resident of the Dixie School District. Our district has a volunteer group known as COMA, Council on Music and Arts, which is dealing directly with teachers, administrators, and students. Our purpose is to bring to our children an awareness and acquaintance with music and the fine arts, by direct contact, something our impoverished school district cannot do.

With the encouragement of our superintendent, Dennie B. Willis, a group of parents formed this council last year. In one year they financed and arranged a trip to a museum for 120 pupils, and arranged for 260 students to attend musical events in the city.

With the help of Joseph Curatilo, Dixie music director, whose enthusiasm and effort make COMA work, we are currently planning for 455 fifth graders from the seven elementary schools to visit the San Francisco Museum of Art. Other projects will involve the two intermediate schools.

These are the things COMA does. But not for the reason you gave in your editorial: not so that we will be listened to when we complain.

The parents in COMA do this work because we feel that we are doing something for our children that could not be done otherwise. And the school people share our views.

Doll Answers I-J Suggestion

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your (editorial) letter regarding the suggested review procedure of Jack Kerouac's book "On the Road" was read at the regular meeting of the Board of Education Jan. 25.

BERT C. CORONA,
Secretary,
Board of Education

San Rafael

The Independent-Journal, through its editorial column, has made a suggestion regarding a change in this board's procedures. We are asked, as a "democratic method of resolving the problem," to put the book in question before a public meeting for a vote on its disposition.

We, as a board, have always welcomed suggestions from the public and appreciate the interest of the I-J in our school system. The right of the newspaper to make proposals regarding public business is unquestioned.

However, I do question this suggestion that is based on inaccurate facts and presumptions which are, in my opinion, untrue. I believe many of the remarks, while purporting to assist the district, actually undermine the public's confidence --and without sound basis.

I have always believed that in this country we govern ourselves through representative government. Is this proposed "democratic method" an example of "representative government"? It is certainly contrary to the concept—and contrary to my deepest beliefs.

Aside from the moral question of this board's abdicating its responsibility, there is a practical side. At our last meeting, we had 23 items on the agenda and worked four hours to complete them all. Now suppose that each item was placed before a meeting of the public—an assembly that would have to be fully prepared on each item as well as thoroughly familiar with all aspects of this district. Of course, too, there would be the time consumed in taking a poll on each item. Ridiculous! ! !

What then would be the function of the board? Merely a matter of mechanical voting based on the poll taken? This board's function is to establish policies under which the district's responsibilities can be discharged, and which fulfill the goals of the community for their schools to the greatest degree possible.

The board also has the obligation to make decisions based upon the fullest information available and to look to professionals for professional guidance on problems, reserving at all times the board's legal right to responsibility to make the final decisions.

Thanks Given In Auto Help

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to thank all the kind people who stopped on a recent Thursday evening on Wolfe Grade, on the San Rafael side, to offer their assistance when I had car trouble.

Like so many of us I guess, when we are having car trouble, we merely say thanks to a stranger who offers help and never think of asking their names to send our personal thanks.

I was amazed at the number of people both men and women, who stopped when they saw my plight. I would like to say a special thanks to the young woman in a V.W. who was first to stop and who telephoned my husband in order that he could telephone the AAA.—also to the gentleman who came along and aided me in getting my car out of the line of oncoming traffic.

THE HIDDEN FACE OF CRIME

The quiet-looking individual who pockets a few dollars that are not his can cause a greater loss to society than the masked bank robber.

This is the opinion of James V. Bennett, who was head of the federal prison system for 28 years.

"White collar crime," he said, "composes the vast bulk of our crime problem. Its large mass lies iceberg-like below the lesser bulk of such visible crimes as auto theft, bank robbery and burglary."

Mr. Bennett cited a study showing that only one out of ten bank embezzlements is reported to authorities.

Laws, police, courts and prisons can touch only a small portion of the problems related to crime.

It is up to millions of people like you: 1) to determine that their own actions are distinguished by integrity; 2) to assist law enforcement agencies when required; 3) to seek ways to eliminate conditions that breed certain forms of crime; and 4) to press for procedures that safeguard the God-given as well as constitutional rights of every citizen without exception.

"Do you not know that the unjust will not possess the kingdom of God?"

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Brown Asking Representative Of State Business In Europe

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The considerable increases in world trade and their economic impact on the state of California have resulted in requests for more state support of the export and import business, Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced he has requested a $50,000 budget item for a California representative in Europe to watch out for the interests of this state in the common market.

The request has some precedent, as the World Trade Authority co-ordinating council has had a representative in Mexico City for some time and last month another representative opened an office in Tokyo.

OF COURSE, no records of accomplishment are available as yet from the Japanese office. The Mexico City office, however, has somewhat of an impressive list of activities which would appear to justify expenditure of funds from taxes to support the representative in Latin America.

One of the ways the office works is to contact importers who are apt to be using California products for various purposes. The contacts, according to the World Trade Authority office in San Francisco, involve not only importers, but contractors and other business interests.

The representative determines what California products could be used, notifies the World Trade authorities in San Francisco and Los Angeles. These in turn make the prospects available to California exporters, and the avenues are thus opened for buying and selling of California products.

THE MEXICO CITY representative, officials of the authority said, furnished more than 300 such propects during the past year.

Adolph P. Schuman, chairman of the co-ordinating council, told an Assembly ways and means subcommittee recently, that the state of California receives more benefits, per dollar of government funds expended, from world trade than from any other single element in the state's entire economy.

Schuman said the current annual total of imports and exports through California ports has reached the aggregate total of $4 billion annually, which makes this the number one exporting state in the nation. Yet the state is expending only $250,000 annually to promote this economic factor. In five years, import-export has increased by 60 per cent, he said.

Growth invites more competition, he added, and "continued vigorous support of all valid programs by the state is necessary."

Air Defenses Built During Bombing Lull

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The most massive anti-aircraft defenses in the world have been built up by the Communists in the Hanoi-Haiphong area during the five-week bombing lull.

This tremendous concentration of anti-aircraft guns and missiles was revealed by reconnaissance flights over the North Viet Nam capital and principal seaport.

Defense Secretary Robert McNamara made this starkly grim disclosure under intensive questioning at a closed-door meeting of the Senate and House armed services and appropriations committees.

LATER A MEMORANDUM from McNamara's office to the legislators estimated that more than 500 "additional" anti-aircraft weapons have been installed in this crucial region during the bombing suspension. There was no indication of the extent of these defenses prior to the lull, but they had been reported as numerous.

An Air Force report to these committees estimated there are now more than 20,000 anti-aircraft guns and missiles in Viet Nam.

The new surface-to-air missiles are improved Soviet Sam-2s. They replace older-type missiles that scored only nine hits out of more than 150 firings. The anti-aircraft guns are radar-controlled.

RUSSIAN AND CZECH technicians installed the new weapons and are manning them. The number of these crews is estimated at "several" thousand.

Despite these startling admissions, McNamara steadfastly defended President Johnson's decision to halt the bombing. Similarly, he justified not attacking Hanoi and Haiphong on the ground "Hanoi and Saigon are mutual hostages."

"That must be kept constantly in mind in escalating the war," contended McNamara. "Bombing Hanoi could precipitate massive enemy terror in Saigon, as well as attempts to bottle up the harbor of Saigon through sabotage."

A committeeman asked why the airfields, power plants, industrial plants and communications centers around Hanoi were not bombed. McNamara tersely replied the Communists would probably react the same way.

"In other words," retorted the legislator, "you are letting the Moscow-Peiping-Hanoi axis dictate your military moves." The Pentagon head did not reply.

MORE THAN 13,000 U.S. troops are now stationed in Thailand and the number could increase to "upwards of 25,000 within the next six to eight months."

McNamara revealed this unannounced development in the course of discussing plans to boost U.S. combat forces in South Viet Nam. He told the Senate and House committeemen that the considerable number of U.S. troops were sent to Thailand to safeguard five airbases being used for attacks against the Communists' supply corridor (the so-called Ho Chi Minh trail) through Laos from North Viet Nam. F-101s, F-105s and F-4Cs are operating from these Thailand bases.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., grilled McNamara on the failure to impose a naval blockade on North Viet Nam.

"A NAVAL BLOCKADE is an act of war," said McNamara, "and that probably would bring on retaliation from Moscow and Peiping."

Thurmond pointed out President Kennedy had proclaimed a "naval quarantine" on Cuba during the missile crisis, and that Russia had backed down.

"That was an entirely different situation," contended McNamara.

Military Field Facts Of Life Would Outlaw Civilian Flights

The low flying F-101 from Hamilton Air Force Base which scared several people in San Rafael recently, points out several facts and factors in aviation in Marin County.

The first is that as airplanes take off and land at any or all airports, accidents and near accidents can and do happen. It is not that Hamilton is any more dangerous than any other airport. It is not; it is probably safer than most. It just points out that a majority of airplane accidents occur near airports.

This points out another thing—the fallacy which has clouded airport thinking in Marin County: The possibility of placing a parallel runway east of the runway at Hamilton and using the tower facilities at Hamilton.

Col. Harry W. Shoup, commander of the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton, has some very definite opinions on the idea of slow flying private planes being near the runway at Hamilton.

"SURE, THERE WOULD always be the possibility of a crash, because the fast flying military aircraft could not avoid some of the smaller slow planes," he said.

"Then if we missed them, there is always the chance that one of them would get caught in our backdraft and be thrown into a spin out of control," he said. He pointed out the tremendous horsepower necessary to keep the heavily armed military aircraft in the air at landing and take off speeds.

Then he pointed out the war situation in the world. Hamilton is the best situated base for the protection of the Bay Area. Its importance as an embarking base probably will be increased as the war effort in Southeast Asia is increased.

NOVATO POLICE CHIEF Robert Di Grazia has had nothing but praise for the quick thinking and action of Maurice W. Michl Jr., who aided police in the apprehension of two men accused of armed robbery.

His aid in keeping the getaway car in sight was instrumental in their capture, the chief said.

"This happened here, a citizen caring enough to help the police. This is very heartening when one reads about people in the East who will not even bother to call police when they see a crime being committed," the chief said.

THE NOVATO FIRE District Board has been brought back to its full three man capacity with the appointment of Henry Alvernaz, who tied for first place in the election a year ago and lost on the toss of a coin.

Had he not been appointed immediately, it could have curtailed the effectiveness of the board because it would then have been just a two-man board, subject to deadlock ties on issues that perhaps should have immediate attention.

We suggest that the fire district board and the residents of the Novato Fire District give serious consideration to increasing board members to five. If that were done, the loss of one man would not put the board in a position Where it could be seriously handicapped in performing its duties.

Here Is Test To Find If You Are Ready To Be Middle-Aged

It must be—because more and more people are becoming middle-aged.

As a matter of fact, some young folks show signs of being prematurely weary of the problems of youth today, and plaintively wonder when they, too, can enjoy the advantages of middle age.

But they are interlopers.

ONLY THOSE who have put in the necessary apprenticeship by actual living should be allowed to dwell in the silver pastures of middle age.

Here are some guideposts.

You undoubtedly are middle-aged if:

Your appetite is great. You are now able to eat with relish any kind of food put upon your plate which the doctor says is bad for you.

DURING THE DAY you catnap, but at night it is impossible to sleep eight full hours at a stretch. You invariably wake up in the morning before the alarm clock goes off.

It bothers your conscience to look out the window and see your wife shoveling snow. You even consider going out and helping her—but think better of it.

You talk to yourself as you shave, because you realize you probably won't have such a sympathetic audience the rest of the day.

IT IS NECESSARY to send flowers so often to hospitalized friends that you open a charge account with the florist.

When you read a gossip column, you don't recognize the names of eight of 10 of the people being gabbed about—and don't really care what happens to the other two.

At a party you find it much easier to make conversation with women wearing bifocal glasses. They seem to have so much more common sense.

The world is in a mess, but you aren't sure it is worth the bother it would take to unscramble it.

Half your working day is spent doodling on ways you can possibly retire ahead of time without starving.

YOU GET MORE cautious. You gulp a couple of antacid pills before—not after—eating cabbage or Brussels sprouts.

If someone gave you a free round trip ticket to Tahiti, you'd sell it. What's in Tahiti for you?

You begin to believe that real estate is the only safe investment—so you make the down payment on a cemetery plot.

Fairfax Slates Special Program

The Fairfax School District Board tonight will make final arrangements for the start of a special education program financed largely by anti-poverty funds.

Two teachers will be hired, one to teach at the Deer Park and Central Schools and another to teach at Manor School.

Arrangements for a summer school program in the district and appointment of a principal for the school will be made at the meeting, to begin at 7:45 p.m. at Manor School.

Hitchhikers Sought In Burglary Case

Information by the person who gave a ride to two young men hitchhiking on the Nicasio-San Geronimo Road from Nicasio to Fairfax last Friday is being sought by Sheriff's Inspector Kenneth Irving.

The officer said the information would help solve last weekend's burglary of the summer home of John G. Ziel, Nicasio.

Rec Budget Slated

The Fairfax Recreation Commission will meet at 8 p.m. today at the Fairfax Women's Club. Next year's recreation budget will be discussed, as well as plans for two tennis courts and rules governing use of the pavilion.

Marin City Due Postal Report

Jack D. Holsclaw, housing manager at the Marin County Housing Authority, will report on Marin City postal service and mail boxes at an 8:30 p.m. meeting of the authority's commission today.

The board will also hear reports frorm Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, on the status of the proposed Santa Venetia and Homestead projects for housing the elderly.

The redevelopment agency will meet at 7:30 p.m., prior to the housing authority, both boards meeting in the community lounge.

Piper's Resignation Due Council Tomorrow

Larkspur City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall, will be asked to accept the resignation of City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper, effective Feb. 28.

The councilmen will be asked to also approve plans and specifications and call for bids on widening and resurfacing Bon Air Road from the bridge west to Magnolia Avenue, and channelizing the intersection there. Total cost of the two projects is estimated at $34,237. Approximately half of this will be paid for with state gas tax funds, according to Piper.

Councilmen will also be asked to renew the city's contract for garbage collection with Marin Sanitary Service. They will discuss, with officials of Tele-Vue, the city's franchised community television antenna company, complaints by some citizens that the company refuses to provide them service.

Ends Course

Army Pvt. Robert E. Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Parks, Tomales, has completed a food service course at Fort Ord.

Furniture Report Set For Council

Sausalito city council will hear a report from City Mgr. Charles A. Brown at an 8 p.m. meeting today on police solicitations for furniture for the new police station at 29 Caledonia Street.

Complaint was registered by A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr., representing the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce.

The council will hear a letter from the Sausalito Citizens Council requesting additional police foot patrol in the downtown area. It also will hear a request frorm Sausalito community TV system for extending its coverage in the city, and is scheduled to adopt a community antenna television ordinance.

Mickey Rooney's 5th Wife, Actor Die Of Gun Wounds

Bodies Found After Attempt To Reconcile

By BOB THOMAS

BARBARA ROONEY
Fifth wife

MICKEY ROONEY
In hospital

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The planned reconciliation of Mickey Rooney and his fifth wife has resulted in her murder and the suicide of the young Yugoslav actor accused by Rooney of being her lover.

The bodies of Barbara Thomasen Rooney, 29, and Milos Milosevic, 25, an actor known professionally as Milos Milos, were found yesterday in the bathroom of the $150,000 Brentwood home Rooney once shared with his wife and four young children.

Police theorized that Milosevic shot Mrs. Rooney, then turned the .38-caliber pistol on himself because she was planning to resume her marriage with the diminutive actor.

Rooney was under sedation at St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica, being treated for an intestinal infection acquired during filming in the Philippines.

Said Rooney's manager, Red Doff: "Mickey told me they'd (he and Barbara) had a very good talk and they were very close to reconciliation. I think Milos may have resented it."

This apparently triggered the acts of violence by Milosevic, whose divorced wife had asked police protection from his fits of temper.

West Los Angeles police, fitting together the sequence of events that led to the double tragedy, said this picture emerged:

Rooney returned from the Philippine location in December to discover he had been replaced in his wife's affections by the handsome Milosevic, who had been a friend of the family for a year.

Milosevic had appeared in three films — "The Russians Are Coming," yet to be released; "Religious Legends of Old Monterey" and an art film, "Incubus," in Esperanto. His marriage to Cynthia Krensky Bouron on July 2, 1964, ended in divorce after she charged him with assault last July and was to have become final this July.

A week ago, Rooney filed suit for divorce, charging that his wife "was allowing, permitting, encouraging or harboring" the Yugoslav actor at the Rooney home.

Mrs. Rooney countered with a suit for separate maintenance.

Last Sunday night, Rooney and his wife met in his hospital room. Unknown to him, she had hired a private detective to tape record their conversation.

The 45-year-old actor-comedian, once famed as Andy Hardy, was peruasive in his arguments for a reconciliation. His wife shut off the recorder when she began to succumb to his reasoning.

She and the detective, Herm Schlieske, returned to her home.

There she met Milosevic, two of her woman friends and her attorney, Harold Abeles.

The attorney said later: "She agreed not to see him (Milosevic) anymore if it bothered Mr. Rooney."

Milosevic appeared to agree without rancor to break off his friendship with Mrs. Rooney. He then invited her into the master bedroom. They disappeared inside at 8:30 p.m. and the door was locked.

A house guest, Wilma Catania, 35, decided to depart for dinner an hour later. She knocked on the bedroom door. Hearing no answer, she took Mrs. Rooney's car.

She returned at 2:30 a.m. and found the house lights ablaze.

Police believe that Milosevic may have fired the pistol shortly after entering the bedroom.

Two closed doors may have muffled the sound of shots.

Found bodies

Miss Catania awoke at noon yesterday. Finding that the maid had not seen Mrs. Rooney, the house guest unlocked the bedroom door. She found the bed still made. Then she opened the bathroom door.

Mrs. Rooney lay face up on the floor, clad in tan capris and a flowered blouse. A bullet had entered her jaw. Milosevic, in black pants and white shirt, was sprawled over her, a bullet hole in his temple. The pistol was next to the bodies.

Boarder Finds Two Killed By Heater Fumes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An improperly vented gas heater in a boarding house that catered to youngsters killed two persons today and seriously sickened four others, police said.

Seriously sickened and taken to Mission Emergency Hospital were Tommy McCannon, 8; Josephine Gonzales, 11, no relation to the owners; Teddy Gonzales Jr., 5, no relation; and Theodore Gonzales, 63, husband of the dead woman.

Charles Peck, 36, a boarder, returned from overtime work at the Schlage Lock Co. and found all the persons in the house unconscious. He opened windowns, called ambulances and tried unsuccessfully to rouse the occupants.

Lt. Harrison Williams of the Mission Police Station said the imperfectly vented heater was in the living room. Windows were closed, he surmised, because of rainy weather.

State Harbor Officials To Study Bolinas Drift

Bolinas Harbor District commissioners have been told that the State Small Craft Harbor Division representatives are willing to cooperate with the Bolinas district on a study of littoral drift in Bolinas Bay.

If it is found there is no major littoral drift—the drifting of sand sideways back and forth both above and under water—this would obviate the necessity for a $6,000,000 breakwater offshore for a proposed safe harbor of refuge in Bolinas Lagoon.

"Our purpose in requesting the state representatives to come and talk with us was to ascertain the degree of interest which the California small craft harbor group has in Bolinas Harbor," reported commissioner Clyde W. King, vice president.

"We found they were very much interested in it and expressed a desire to work with other proper entities in determination of littoral drift."

Bolinas Bay, said King, stretches from Duxbury Reef on the north to the end of the sandspit on the south.

Whether there is a study to be made is now in the hands of the state division, King said. Asked where money would come for such a proposed study, he replied it is not known.

News that the commission had met Jan. 19 at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael came belatedly yesterday when an anonymous citizen telephoned the Independent-Journal from Stinson Beach, asking why there was no report on the meeting.

King said it was the first such meeting the commission had and it didn't occur to any commissioner to announce the meeting.

Next regular meeting of the commission will be at 8 p.m., Feb. 24 at the Bolinas Community Center.

Paris Collections Are Burning With Nude Look And Cut-Outs

(Combined from AP and UPI)

PARIS—Designer Yves Saint-Laurent unveiled a Follies Bergere-like spring fashion today of sheer organdy short dresses with only beaded bikinis underneath.

Although high fashion has ignored the bosom this year, Paris is burning with the "nude look"—cut-outs, bare midriffs, shoulders and backs.

BUYERS who viewed the opening Saint-Laurent presentation were either amused or scandalized by the organdy shifts with demure long sleeves and high necklines. Underneath the models wore nothing but a few rows of strategically placed beads and bras that bared the navel.

The crowning touch to the "nude look" that has infected the spring collection was the tongue-in-cheek "bridal" gown that wound up the Saint-Laurent show. A mannequin glided out wearing only a white bikini bottom, silver shoes and sprays of lillies-of-the-valley hiding her chest and face.

Saint-Laurent got on the bare knees bandwagon by hoisting his hemlines two to three inches above the knees. But buyers said whether they will manufacture clothes at that length still depends largely on what designers Hubert de Givenchy, Gabrielle Chanel and Cristobal Balenciaga display.

THE EERY spectacle of disembodied women took on wholeness again when the lights went on, for the phantom females were garbed in the young designer's new chemically treated cotton formalwear, ideal for power failures.

But these incandescent misses couldn't hold a candle to the slick chicks who opened the short, snappy show. These pretty packages were wrapped in cellophane.

OVER WHITE helmet hats were clear plastic material that gave each model her own angelic aura. The same clear cellophane covered short coats, jackets and dresses, making them the slippery girls in town.

Sometimes the shining misses strolled through the little showroom in dresses with cellophane windows at the midriff or bordering the hemline. Jewels bordered the transparent tent worn over a silk satin bare-shouldered sheath.

WITHOUT their sandwich wraps, however, the Capucci girls were just as sleek in chic body skimming dresses with square necks and sleeves the size of coffee cups, or molded capes just slightly larger than collars.

Short-sleeved coats and jackets in the same soft pastels or white buttoned over them. When the girls whirled around deep pleats flicked a view of navy insets in their white dresses belted lightly at the hipbone. Black, short jackets of suits were lined with three bright colors.

The Michaels met David Winslow of Paradise Cove, who was also attending the boat show. David went on to Wellesley, Mass. to visit his daughters, Kathleen, a student at Wellesley, and Becky, who attends Dana Hall. The heavy snowfall in the East prevented them from keeping a date with the Richard Ollers, former Belvedere residents, but Lu did talk to Jean Oller, daughter of Mrs. B. G. Johnston of Belvedere.

INVITATIONS ARE in the mail for the annual cocktail party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. William F. Nave and their sons, William Jr., Robert and Richard of San Rafael to introduce the commanders and staff officers at Hamilton Air Force Base organizations to Marinites. Woman Needn't Be Dominated By Clothes – Traina

NEW YORK (AP) — Teal Traina, the designer who thinks "a dress isn't supposed to do anything for a woman," shows dresses that do plenty in his new collection.

He introduced his spring and summer wardrobes to the New York couture group, pointing out that as a man he "looks what's inside the dress first.

"Most women let themselves be dominated by clothes," says Traina. "What woman wants to be upstaged by a piece of cloth?

Most women, he says, disagree with him.

His favorite looks are "young, easy, cardigan and casual."

Illustrating what he calls a "soft touch," Traina put motion into skirts by using bias flares, tiny rib pleats and soft A-lines. Necklines were barely — gathered, rolled, cowled and rounded.

Traina's favorite evening gown in called an evening pinafore. Ruffled to an empire waist in front, it dips low in back leaving only a halter to keep the dress intact.

PSYCHOLOGISTS REPORT

Small Children Are Aware Of Crises In Adult World

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A team of psychologists has reported that persons are in error if they feel that small children are ignorant of crisis in the adult world.

The paper, presented Friday at the 19th annual convention of the California State Psychological Assn., dealt with the riots last August in the Watts section of Los Angeles.

The report, dealing with interviews with children four to five years old, was prepared by Ralph L. Dunlap, Astrid Beigel and Virginia Armon of the department of psychiatry, Southern California Permanent Medical group, Los Angeles.

"It SEEMS LIKELY," they said, "that children in our time are exposed more or less directly to unsettling social events which can and do arouse fears and help to determine social attitudes . . .

"To deny a child what he already is partly aware of, either exaggerates its danger or undermines his confidence in his own perception and adults' confidence and honesty."

Within four days after cessation of violence at Watts, interviews were held with 107 Negro, 23 Mexican-American and 52 white children.

THE CONCLUSIONS:

About 92 per cent of the Negro, 78 per cent of the Mexican-American, and 71 per cent of the white children studied, clearly were aware of the rioting.

About half the riot-aware youngsters in each group indicated they felt fear, either by direct admission, or by describing fearful reaction, such as riot-related nightmares, or prayers for protection.

In all groups, many children advocated some kind of punishment for the rioters, "in keeping with the concept of retaliative response to aggression which is commonly accepted at this four to five years developmental age."

The report noted: "Fear and anger toward the rioters, simultaneous with sympathy and racial identification with them, combined to place many Negro children in conflict . . .

"A few Negro children showed only sympathy and identification with the rioters; a few, in contrast, showed only fear and anger."

THE PSYCHOLOGISTS found the Mexican-American children, as a group, quite reticent. "Those who did express feelings and opinions," the report stated, "were uniformly hostile or fearful toward the rioters and, often toward Negroes in general.

"The white children showed a variety of attitudes, including fearful and punitive feelings, but about one-fourth of the white children showed either some awareness of Negro motivation—poverty, discrimination—or of individual differences, or identified with the rioters—wishing to join them in rebellion."

Dance Group Will Become Pacific Guild Affiliate

The Mill Valley Creative Dance Group has voted to affiliate with and become a chapter of the Pacific Dance Guild, Inc.

The guild originated in Palo Alto as a non-profit corporation and has chapters in ten Bay Area cities. Guild chapters in Novato and Northgate were established earlier this year.

The San Anselmo creative dance group has chosen to affiliate with the Mill Valley chapter, with Mrs. Harold Lyman as coordinator of classes.

The purpose of the guild is to promote, encourage and educate all members and the public in dance and other art forms. This may be done in several ways, such as bringing artists to the Bay Area for performances, securing tickets and arranging transportation for students of the dance and members who attend programs throughout the area, providing dance scholarships and establishing instruction classes in areas where needed.

The guild will hold meetings three times a year with the next one to be held in Marin in April.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin and nylon net. The skirt extended into a chapel train.

Preceding the bride down the aisle in gowns of pink and white chiffon were her sister Nancy Dugan of Placentia as maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Sharon Frazier and Nancy Johnson of Novato.

Raymond Callagy of Fairfax served his brother as best man and ushering were the bride's brother, Thomas Dugan of Novato and Dick Porter of Fairfax.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Webb of Fairfax, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is serving in the U.S. Army. Mrs. Maureen Brant of Santa Venetia is his sister.

Novato-La Paz Committees Announce Two Fund Projects

A committee of eight Novatans will spearhead the Novato-La Paz Project, which will work toward bringing children from La Paz, Mexico, to Novato during the summer session of school.

On the committee are Mrs. Claude Witzel, Mrs. William Bolton, John Novak, Mrs. Richard Prasil, Mrs. Louis Dorschkind, Mrs. Donald Mason, Mrs. Leslie Arnberger and Ralph Giovanniello.

At a meeting Friday the North Marin Council of Parent- Teacher Assn. voted to sponsor the project. Each of the 16 P-TA units have been requested to sponsor a child.

A community dinner is planned to help raise funds, and a popcorn day will be held before April at the various schools in the Novato Unified School District. The cost of bringing a child to Novato is $60 for children to the age of 12 and $120 for those 13 and older.

It is hoped that at least 10 children will be able to spend the summer session in Novato working in the schools in team teaching Spanish.

Mrs. Bolton said that with team teaching in the school, with four Spanish-speaking children and four English-speaking children and a bilingual teacher, within two hours the children will have a Spanish vocabulary of 50 words.

The project was started when Mrs. Claude Witzel, a teacher at Rancho School, visited La Paz last year. While there she met Charles C. Carmona, an American who established the John F. Kennedy bilingual public library in La Paz.

The library, started with 16,000 books and now containing 60,000 volumes donated by Americans, is now a school. Outstanding Spanish - speaking children formed a junior peace corps and have been trained to assist schools in the United States with Spanish language programs.

An account has been opened at the Crocker Citizens Bank in Novato for Novatans wishing to support the project to make donations to the Novato-La Paz Project.

Eight families have made requests for a child to live with them during the summer. Two teachers will also accompany the children at their own expense.

Applications must be filled out and the families will be screened before the children will be placed in any home, Mrs. Bolton said.

Susan Dolman Is Bride Of C. P. Harrod

Susan Rae Dolman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Dolman of Larkspur, became the bride of Charles Patrick Harrod of Ross on Jan. 21 at St. Anselm's Church in Ross. Escorted to the altar by her father, she recited vows wearing a full-length white silk grown.

Roberta Dolman, Sally Chelgren, JoAnne Hickman, Marilyn Plant were the attendants, with Patricia Parker the flower girl. Deborah Dolman was the maid of honor. Roberta and Deborah are sisters of the bride.

Best man for his brother was Steven Harrod, and his other brothers, David Michel and Patrick were ushers and ring bearer. Also serving as ushers were Mathew and Con Hallinan.

Susan attended Redwood High School and Grace Ball College. Her husband also was graduated from Redwood High School and attended University of San Francisco. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Harrod of Ross.

The couple plans to live in Ross.

WHO'S AFRAID . . .

Elizabeth Taylor and her husband Richard Burton play a vulgar and embattled married couple in the forthcoming Warner Bros. film "Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolf?" The drama is based on Edward Albee's play. Miss Taylor plays a middle-aged campus wife who shares a brutal night of drinking with her husband and two guests. Giant Water District Annexation May Shrink At Owners' Pleas

By FRANK FARRARA

The largest proposed land annexation in Marin's history, 44 square miles along the east shore of Tomales Bay to the North Marin County Water District, may be whittled down.

District directors indicated last night that areas where the majority of property owners protest can be sliced off the annexation map.

"If you don't want in, let us know, and the next step is to delete," board president Arnold E. Heise told about 75 West Marin residents at Tomales High School.

At the close of the meeting, directors agreed to send cards to property owners to find out who doesn't want to be annexed.

The area proposed for annexation extends from Millerton, south of Marshall, to Estero San Antonio and inland to "the first watershed divide."

It covers 28,480 acres extending inland in a jagged line, about six miles wide at its widest point along the northern boundary, and less than two miles at its southernmost point south of Marshall.

District Mgr. Jerome B. Gilbert said the district initiated the proposal after receiving requests from 40 residents in the coastal area.

When the proposal reached the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission in December, it was opposed by other property owners in the area and withdrawn for further study. As a result, the board scheduled an informal meeting with residents last night.

Gilbert said the board "wants to find out where the real sentiment is and whether you want to be in . . . and whether to re-submit the boundary or reduce the area."

The advantage of a large annexation would be that the district could plan long-range water development, Gilbert said. This could include a dam on Walker Creek, estimated to be a $3 million project, or possibly transporting Russian River water either through Two Rock or Bodega.

The district does not intend to build on Walker Creek "tomorrow or five years from now," Gilbert said. "We're just trying to plan ahead."

Until the long-range program is developed, the area possibly could be served from wells in the Walker Creek gravel beds, possibly by surplus water piped across Tomales Bay from Inverness, or possibly from a small reservoir in a tributary of Walker Creek, Gilbert said.

He said it is hard to determine what development might be undertaken until the annexation is set and a study undertaken. "The bigger the annex, the broader the look," he said.

"Considering the areas of support, the logical strip is along the coast where there is an immediate problem."

Several residents wanted to know why those seeking annexation could not form their own district and leave out the rest of the area.

Gilbert said the Local Agency Formation Commission's policy is that the North Marin and Marin Municipal Water Districts should expand to serve the entire county, rather than have additional small districts in West Marin.

Others asked why the district did not annex just a small area where there was a demand for annexation.

"You cannot properly develop a program if you annex a piece here and a piece there," Gilbert said.

Residents who want to develop projects could form improvement districts within the water district and they alone would pay for these projects, he said.

The district will not undertake any project or establish any project tax rate without approval of the people in the area, he said.

During the question session, James Thacher said, "The only ones we hear in favor are the subdivisions."

"The value depends on improvements," Gilbert said. "If you're in the district only, it wouldn't make taxes go up."

One rancher wanted to know whether the district would take any of the present well supply. Gilbert said the district could take "any excess water," but could not take any water being used by a rancher.

Walter Lawson of Dillon Beach said the "open acreage" on Dillon Beach is opposed to annexation. Gilbert noted that the Oceana Marin subdivisioin north of Dillon Beach is interested in annexing.

If a proposed annexation is approved by the Local Agency Formation Commission, the district board will hold a public hearing in Northwest Marin, Gilbert said.

If 10 per cent of the property owners representing 10 per cent of the acreage and 10 per cent of the registered voters protest, they can force an election, he said. If 50 per cent protest, the proposal is dead.

Among those attending was County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who represents the area and also serves on the Local Agency Formation Commission.

Supervisors Deny Three Public Claims

The owner of a house at 200 Shoreline Highway, near Mill Valley, has filed a claim for $50,000 in flood damages suffered since Jan. 27, 1965.

Harry Johnson, owner of the home, said that "negligently installed drainage facilities" cause cracks in the floor and undermining and weakening of the foundations.

Marin County supervisors today denied the claim.

The board also denied the claim of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Williams of 320 Crown Road, Kentfield, asking $2,100 for seven acacia trees chopped down by the county public works department in front of their home. Donald R. Frost, directo rof public works, said the trees were in county right-of-way and were obstructing the view on a sharp curve.

Supervisors denied the claim of Raymond P. Foster Jr. of 351 Redwood Road, Woodacre, for $1,200 damages to him and his car Nov. 9 when his car struck a protruding man-hole ring on Midvale Lane in Tamalpais Valley.

Budget Approved

LOS ANGELES — The Union Oil Co. of California board of directors has approved a capital expenditure budget of approximately $260 million for 1966, up 27 per cent from the $250 million for 1965, Fred L. Hartley, president, announced today.

Sydney H. Williams of the planning firm of Williams, Cook and Mocien also gave a short report on how the plan can relate to over-all planning for the city.

Next study session on the plan was set for Feb. 23. There were about 15 persons in the audience. Gross reported.

Prowler Beats Up Sausalito Artist

Sausalito artist Serge Trubach was beaten early today in his home at 631 Bridgeway, and his alleged assailant was arrested by police three minutes after Trubach called for help.

Booked in Marin County Jail was William Richard Lowe, 23, of Benicia, who gave his occupation to police as "college drop-out."

Lowe, who was found to have a bud resembling peyote in his pants pocket, was charged with burglary, felony assault and possession of narcotics. Bail was set at $7,500.

Trubach, 52, who resides alone, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple cuts.

Trubach, a candidate for the Sausalito city council in the April 12 election, told police he awoke about 2:40 a.m. to see a figure standing over his bed.

He sat up and asked, "What are you doing in my apartment?"

At this point the man began striking Trubach on the face and head with his fists, the artist said.

Trubach sprang out of bed, but his assailant continued to strike him about the head with his fists and knocked the artist to the floor. Then he kicked him in the ribs and back, Trubach said.

Finally Trubach was allowed to rise, he said, his assailant telling him, "Remember what happened in Germany."

The man, taking nothing from the apartment, left. Trubach telephoned police at 2:50 a.m.

Sgt. John Coady responded immediately. Learning what had happened, he ran into an alley alongside the building, three minutes from the time he had been called. Coady said he saw a man crouching, apparently hiding, in a small alcove.

Coady told him to stand up and stay where he was and, Trubach, coming on the scene, then identified "positively" the man as the one who assaulted him.

Searching Lowe, Sergeant Coady found a small brownish-green bud in the man's right front trouser pocket, which police said appeared to be peyote. The bud was sent to a state chemist for analysis.

Trubach was first given first aid by Sausalito firemen, then taken to the hospital by United Ambulance. Police said Trubach's door had been forced by breaking a window in the door, then breaking the door jamb itself.

Purse Stolen From Theater

Third Arrest In Hub Theft Of Motorcycle

San Anselmo police yesterday arrested Daniel Warren Foley, 21, of San Francisco on a charge of vehicle theft. Foley, along with two other San Francisco men, is suspected of stealing a motorcycle from the Sir Francis Drake High School parking lot Jan. 19.

An informant who identified the alleged thieves shortly after the crime originally told police that tone of them was Danny R. Foley of 1380 Redwood Highway, Novato. He mixed up the names, Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani reported. Danny Foley is not wanted by police.

Arrested earlier in connection with the theft were David Ray Sterio, 22, and Louis Leo Sterio, 20, both of San Francisco. Buchignani said Foley yesterday admitted taking the cycle, but said it was subsequently stolen from him in San Francisco. He was booked in county jail with bail set at $1,100.

Air Police Drag Negro Squatters Out Of Empty Air Base Building

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP)—Air Force troops today forciby evicted a band of 60 Negro squatters from the deactivated Greenville Ai rForce Base. The Negroes put up a struggle an dwere carried out bodily by air police.

The Air Force had flown a major general and 150 air police into its deactivated Greenville base today to deal with an invasion by Negro squatters who demand food, land and jobs.

Maj. Gen. R. W. Puryear, commanding general of the Technical Training Center, Keesler AFB, Miss., brushed aside newsmen when he arrived.

The Negroes, along with a few white civil rights workers, camped around two pot-bellied stoves through the night in a T-shaped building which once was headquarters for the base air police.

In Washington, the White House had no immediate comment on the Greenville sit-in.

Officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity in the capital, told the squatters' demands for food, pointed out that in cooperation with Mississippi authorities it has launched an experimental program designed to improve the distribution of food to the needy in Mississippi.

The Negroes had earlier said they would leave the base if a special antipoverty program with $24 million in funds was turned over to their "poor people's conference" and other civil rights groups for control.

The band, chiefly Negroes, forced their way onto deactivated Greenville Air Force Base yesterday despite the objections of civilian guards, who said later they were caught by surprise.

Once gathered in an unheated, one-story building near the main gate, the group issued a manifesto of complaints and demands.

"We are asking President Johnson whose side he is on — the poor people or the millionaires."

"We are here because we are hungry and cold and we have no jobs or land," the squatters said. "We don't want charity. We are willing to work for ourselves if given a chance."

Some of the Negroes claimed they were evicted from their homes by plantation owners but declined to give the names of the landowners.

During the cold night, the group huddled on the floor around coal-burning stoves. They had smashed out two windows and stuck stovepipes through them. A paper sign on one door said: "This is our home. Please knock before entering."

The first group to invade the base numbered about 35. They carried blankets and clothing. Later in the day about 15 others, including old women and small children, joined them.

They identified themselves as the "Poor People's Conference."

Ida Mae Lawrence, identified as their spokesman, said they wanted a government program to provide emergency food for the poor. She said antipoverty funds should be administered by the Freedom Democratic party, the Poor People's Conference, the Mississippi Freedom Labor Union and the Delta ministry — not by state officials.

Silverthorne Tax Adjustment Due, He Tells Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "There's a lot of adjustment to be made." Don C. Silverthorne testified yesterday when asked if his 1964 income tax returns were correct.

Silverthorne, once president of the now defunct San Francisco National Bank, is on trial charged with bank fraud conspiracy—misapplication of bank funds.

The adjustment, he continued, "will be in my favor, too."

James J. Brosnahan, assistant U.S. attorney, asked: "Is this contribution of $1,000 to Mary's Help Hospital that is listed on your tax return the same contribution you told the jury was made for the bank?"

"I'm not going to answer the question when it is like that," Silverthorne replied.

MARGARET AZEVEDO
Succeeds Warburg

Margaret Azevedo Gets Gavel

Mrs. Margaret Azevedo of Tiburon was elected chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday, replacing Felix M. Warburg, who resigned from the commission.

Mrs. Azevedo had served as vice chairman. Commissioner Eugene R. Trombley, who had been secretary, was named vice chairman, and Commissioner Hugh Dougherty was named secretary.

Ascherman Hearing Hit By New Delay

Hearing on Dr. Stanford W. Ascherman's lengthy effort to gain staff privileges at Marin General Hospital has halted pending a Marin Superior Court ruling on an effort to get confidential records from St. Joseph's Hospital, San Francisco.

Presiding Judge Thomas F. Keating scheduled for Feb. 7 hearing on a motion by the hospital to quash a subpoena served by the hospital district's hearing officer, Thomas C. Nelson.

The subpoena, served Jan. 24, directed St. Joseph Hospital's custodian of records to produce on the following day charts of surgical patients of Dr. Ascherman while he was on that hospital's surgical staff from 1959 through 1961.

It also asked correspondence and minutes of meetings by various committees of the medical staff about the doctor.

St. Joseph's Hospital promptly filed the motion to quash the subpoena on grounds that materials wanted are privileged and confidential, that it would disclose investigations made by the medical staff and reveal "possible discipline taken by the medical staff and hospital against certain doctors involved.

The motion added that production of the records might also subject the hospital and medical staff to annoyance and embarrassment. It declared none of Dr. Ascherman's patients there had given permission to disclose this material.

Judge Keating granted a stay of execution of the subpoena until the Feb. 7 hearing before Judge Samuel W. Gardiner.

Dr. Ascherman has been seeking staff privileges at Marin General Hospital since January, 1964. The current hearing started Dec. 6.

Recruits Graduate

Marine Privates Laurit R. Hansen, son of Mrs. Jack Woods of 253 Glen Drive, Sausalito, and Michael P. Hays, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse P. Hays of 825 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael, have graduated from Marine Corps recruit training at San Diego.

School Album

The San Rafael High School chapter of the American Junior Red Cross is preparing a picture album of its school. The album will be mailed to a school in Thailand as "a gesture of friendship to help increase understanding," according to representative Jonathan Marlowe.

Agricultural Preserves Area Drawn

Agricultural preserves could cover most of West Marin and extend from an area north of Novato around the urban area of the county and south to the proposed headland state park, according to a map shown the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

The commission adopted the map as a starting point for a hearing on the preserve area slated for 2 p.m. on Feb. 14.

The map excludes parks, incorporated cities, and urban areas adjacent to cities. Operating dairy and cattle ranches next to urban areas were designated for "possible exclusion" in the map, prepared by Rowland J. Darnell of the county planning staff and Richard T. Straw, county agricultural commissioner.

The county has to fix the area of preserves before ranchers can enter a 10-year contractural agreement with the county that would keep their lands in agricultural use and provide a tax assessment break for owners.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wheelwright, owners of the Green Gulch Ranch in Southern Marin, were the first to enter the contract. Their land was designated for preserve in an earlier special hearing by planning commission and supervisors.

Marin Newsman Suspended In Viet Reporting

The United States Military Command in South Viet Nam yesterday imposed a 30-day suspension on war correspondent Jack Foisie of Tamalpais Valley, because he filed a story on a Marine landing before details were released through official channels.

Foisie, who heads the Los Angeles Times' two-man Saigon bureau, said he was confirming with all precedents under the basic rules of voluntary news censorship in Viet Nam, and said the military command apparently changes the rules by edict without consulting newsmen.

The Times said Foisie waited two days before filing his dispatch on the landing, which took place in view of the enemy. Up to now, voluntary censorship has permitted correspondents to file stories 36 hours after an operation, the Times said.

Wife Divorces Actor Lawford

SUN VALLEY, Ida. (AP) — Patricia Lawford, sister of the late President John F. Kennedy, was granted a divorce today from actor Peter Lawford on grounds of mental cruelty.

The divorce was entered at the District Court of Judge Charles Scoggins in nearby Goodings, Idaho.

Mrs. Lawford, who established Idaho residence at the Sun Valley resort last Dec. 20, went to court with her attorney, but was unavailable for comment afterward.

She was given custody of their four children. He was given visitation rights. The Lawfords were married 11 years ago.

Low, High Mercury

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lowes temperature reported this morning to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 16 below zero at Philip, S.D., and Lone Rock, Wis. The highest reported yesterday was 76 degrees at McAllen, Tex.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Correct Amount Of Exercise Aids Treatment Of Arthritis

VAN DELLEN

A woman writes: "Have you heard about the use of brick lifting as an aid in rheumatoid arthritis? My sister's friend told her this remedy was beneficial. It consists of having one brick tied to the foot. The person is sitting and lifts the leg to a straight position a number of times. Other bricks are added, one at a time, until the person is lifting five bricks. This process is supposed to break down calcium deposits and alleviate the cause of the disease. Do you have any knowledge of this procedure, and could it cause further damage?"

Yes. Exercise is helpful in the treatment of arthritis provided it does not aggravate the distress.

IT IS MOST IMPORTANT in the prevention and correction of deformities. In addition, it strengthens the muscles so that the joints will be held in a good position. It does not break down calcium deposits.

Bricks are heavy and cumbersome. Sandbags are better. As an alternative, ask someone to hold back the feet while the arthritic attempts to raise the extremities. Most physiotherapy departments have weights and pulleys for this purpose.

These resistive exercises should be done twice a day. They are best done by sitting on the edge of the bed with the legs dangling. Slowly raise the feet to straighten the leg and then reverse the process.

PASSIVE EXERCISES are done with the assistance of someone else. The individual may be unable to straighten or bend the knee but can do so with help. Pain during the maneuvers is not significant but when it persists for hours the amount of exercise should be decreased, but not stopped.

Many persons exercise following the application of heat because the joints and muscles are more relaxed at this time.

INFLAMED VESSELS

T. R. E. writes: Could a person develop blood poisoning without an open wound?

REPLY

Yes, and most bona fide cases of blood poisoning stem from tonsilitis, a strep sore throat, or abscess of a tooth and other structure. The red streaks that appear on an arm or leg after a wound indicate spread of infection thru the lymphatic passageways and represent lymphangitis rather than blood poisoning. When lymphangitis is not treated, however, the infection may reach the bloodstream eventually.

OVERPRODUCTION

Mrs. A. E. writes: When I am pregnant I have a saliva problem. My mouth is continually filled with water. Why does this happen?

REPLY

Pregnancy is one of the conditions associated with excess salivation. There are many other causes, as described in our leaflet. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on salvia production.

WHAT'S LEFT

S. S. writes: What is residual disease?

REPLY

This is what is left after the original condition subsides. For example, after an attack of pneumonia, the lung may not heal completely or fluid may develop in the pleural space — as residual disease.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Insurance Policy Limits

Charles was following Dan Devine's car at 65 miles per hour on the freeway. When Dan slammed on his brakes to avoid a car in front, Charles rammed into his car throwing Dan and his family into a ditch, seriously injuring them.

Dan sued Charles at once. Charles turned his case over to his insurance company. Its claims manager first denied liability because Dan had stopped or slowed down without warning.

Dan's lawyer offered to settle the case for less than Charles' policy limits of $20,000 but the insurance company said no. With the case set for trial, Dan's attorney renewed the offer. But still the company refused to settle.

Imagine how they felt when the jury awarded Dan $40,000, twice Charles' coverage. Charles could not pay the extra $20,000. He demanded it of the insurance company though the judgment exceeded the policy. Why? Dan could show that the company had not acted in good faith to settle the case.

The company had many chances to settle for less than the policy limits. Its own lawyers had estimated the case might go $10,000 or $20,000 over the policy limits.

Had the company acted in good faith, it could have settled within the policy limits. Since it had not, it must pay off the whole judgment.

When one is being sued, he should look out for his own interest although he may think insurance covers his liability. In turn the company has a legal duty to inform the insured of settlement offers.

When a person's financial position improves with more assets, or he earns more income, he needs protection by increasing his liability insurance.

As a rule, one of the most valuable parts of such an insurance policy is the legal representation it promises when one is sued.

Air Base Limits Gate Picketing

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—The commander of this sprawling desert flight test center has designated one of five gates as the entrance for Rocketdyne Division employees in an attempt to limit the effect of a strike.

The firm, a division of North American Aviation, was struck yesterday by the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers.

Employees of Rocketdyne were expected to go through only the one gate—if they chose to cross the picket line—while the rest of the base's operations continued undisturbed, said the commander, Col. Donald Ewing.

Officials said base operations were not impeded by the strike.

A union spokesman said the dispute arose because the company was allegedly trying to penalize workers "for joining our union."

TELEVISION REVIEW

What Does Video Do To American History?

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Jesse James? Oh, he was really a good guy and the only reason he went aocund robbing banks and killing people was because people shoved him around and didn't understand him.

Besides, according to the current ABC version, he was "cursed with a quick and restless gun," it is explained in the ballad that opens the show each Monday night. Just last night he was sweet enough to take a lot of money he and his pals stole in a bank robbery and give it to the widow of a gang member who got killed in the exploit.

Daniel Boone? Oh, he's a tall, G-dropping, fellow who lives in a stockade and carries a gun and fights Injuns—except his best friend who is a feather-wearing Injun who went to Harvard and speaks much better English than Dan'l.

Ulysses S. Grant? Oh, he was President of the United States or something a long time ago and spent most of his time hiring secret agents. He had one secret agent named James West, according to CBS, and he rode around in a private railroad car, keeping crazy inventors from destroying the nation and keeping important visitors from being killed and kissing pretty girls.

Then this Grant, according to NBC, had another agent, a man who had been kicked out of the cavalry for cowardice. Grant knew this fellow was no coward but he didn't do anything about it because he had lots of secret missions he wanted him to perform.

A youngster in the impressionable years could certainly get a strange version of American history — particularly as it applied to the Old West — if his exposure to it were confined to television series.

CBS' dinner-hours news show became a colorcast last night. At least most of the news film and reporter Walter Cronkite blossomed forth in color. NBC's Huntley-Brinkley show has been in color for some time now.

Color film of action in Viet Nam shows forcefully the ugly face of war, but it also underscores its drama. Some of CBS' film of Washington after the big snow looked like a delicate Christmas card.

Bomb Call Stalls Royal Journey

Philip will go on to the United States to seek a million dollars for charity and more trade for Britain.

The tour will take the royal couple to Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago and 12 British territories in the area, including restless British Guiana.

Beatnik Novel Not Banned, Just Not Assigned, Official Stresses

The question of what happened to Jack Kerouac's book, "On the Road," at a San Rafael Board of Education meeting last Tuesday was raised today by Lawrence B. Thomas of 163 Oak Drive, who was a candidate for the board of education last year.

Thomas, in a letter to Supt. Bert C. Corona of San Rafael city schools, reported confusion over the board's handling of a report by Asst. Supt. Mitchell Voydat that the book had been removed from the required reading list of a senior English class.

"Has the book been banned or taken off the shelves?" he asked. If it has, he went on, "will there be any point of an open discussion at the Feb. 8 meeting (of the board of education) . . . ?"

Superintendent Corona pointed out there had never been any suggestion that the Kerouac book be banned or taken off school library shelves. The point at issue, he noted, was whether it should be assigned reading for an English class. It had been assigned to a senior honors class at Terra Linda High School.

"There was no suggestion that it be taken off the shelves," Corona said. "Absolutely not!"

The superintendent said the matter was put on the agenda for next Tuesday night's board meeting at his suggestion, because it had not been on the advance agenda last Tuesday and he felt "to close the thing out . . . would not be a good policy."

"There will be an opportunity to speak" at next Tuesday's meeting, the superintendent said. Whether the board of education might consider overruling Voydat's action would be up to the board.

Corona explained the situation as regards the book as follows:

It was assigned by a Terra Linda High teacher for reading by a senior honors English class, with approval of the department head at the school. It has already been read by that class.

It was not assigned for any other class in San Rafael High School District this year.

Its removal from the list means simply that some other book will be assigned in its place next year by the teacher who used it this year.

In his letter to the superintendent, Thomas said:

"On Wednesday the Chronicle, Examiner, and Independent-Journal carried stories that the book had been banned (or taken off the shelves). . . . Subsequently there have been other newspaper items—and all I have seen indicate the book has been taken off the shelves and banned. . . .

". . . I would appreciate a prompt reply from your office so I may proceed with other steps in an effort to halt further book banning and erosion of academic freedom in our community."

The Independent-Journal, however, at no time reported "On the Road" had been banned or taken off the shelves at the school. All stories regarding it, prior and subsequent to last Tuesday night's board meeting, referred to its inclusion in an assigned reading list.

Election will be April 5. This would be the third three-year term for Bragg.

Owner of Bay Springs Products, Inc., of San Francisco, manufacturers of bed, mattress and furniture springs, Bragg lives at 2218 Mar East Street, Tiburon, with his wife, Alice.

Four-Car Chain-Reaction Collision Brings Injuries

A Petaluma woman and a Santa Rosa man both complained of pains after a four-car chain-reaction crash on Highway 101 just north of the Linden Lane undercrossing, San Rafael, at 5:10 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Frederick C. Corsen, 27, of Petaluma, driving north in the slow lane with a passenger, Julia Valdespino, 50, also of Petaluma, slowed his car for traffic.

Three cars back, an auto driven by Edward J. Keister, 22, of Santa Rosa hit the rear of one driven by Richard F. Laws, 57, of 2 Celeste Court, Novato. It in turn hit a car driven by Roy T. Yamashita, 32, of 227 Calle de la Selva, Ignacio, which was forced into the Corsen car.

Mrs. Valdespino and Keister were to see their own doctors. The other drivers were unhurt.

Youth Pleads On Two Charges

George D. Beauchamp Jr., 22, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to petty theft and to misdemeanor passing of worthless checks totaling $50. He will be sentenced Feb. 15.

Beauchamp, of 865 Francisco Boulevard, took a coin and stamp collection from his father, CM/Sgt. George D. Beauchamp Sr., 48, of 542 Bolling Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, while the latter was in Arizona last December. He was originally charged with burglary.

Charge Heard In Gun-Waving

Alfred T. Domergue, 49, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a misdemeanor charge of displaying a firearm in rude and threatening manner. His case was continued until 1:30 p.m. next Monday for plea entry.

Domergue, of 323 Pine Street, Sausalito, was arrested Saturday after allegedly holding a gun on Sausalito Patrolman Brian Newlon. He was originally booked for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon.

Class Elects

DRAMATIC COMEBACK VICTORY IN LUCKY

Venturi Eyes Nat'l Open, Retirement

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ken Venturi, the golfer who refuses to say quit, won the $57,000 Lucky International Open Golf Tournament with his heart across a lake.

His 66 over the Harding Park municipal course yesterday brought him the $8,500 first prize, his first victory since a circulatory ailment threatened his career late in 1964 after he had won the U.S. Open title.

This was the course where Venturi had grown up, where his friends cheered him on and where his dad operates the pro shop.

Yet across Lake Merced is the Olympic club where the 1966 United States Open will be played in June, and Ken said, "I'm going to play a lot of rounds there, and I'm shooting for it. If I win it, I might just retire. That's my aim."

Venturi came back from a prolonged and agonizing slump to win the national title in 1964, but after the circulatory ailment attacked he collected just $295 in official money last year.

Before the Lucky, he skipped the Bing Crosby tournament, fearing cold weather, but told friends, "I wanted to play in the Lucky because it's the tournament in my home town."

Carrying hand warmers to give him feeling when he swung the clubs, Venturi started four strokes off the pace and even with his 33 on the first nine was still four back of leader Frank Beard.

Then Beard faltered with three bogeys on the first four holes while Venturi shot even par to move within a stroke of the leader. Beard parred the 14th, but Venturi found the putting secret of the day to sink a 25-footer, and they were even. When Kenney sank a 10-foot birdie putt on the 16th he had the winning stroke.

Archer, a former San Francisco city champion, carded the best individual 18-hole round of the tournament with a 65.

Beard's 274 brought him the $4,600 second prize, yet he missed becoming the first golfer ever to score a wire-to-wire victory.

Venturi's 273 was just one stroke off the Lucky tournament record of 272 set by current U.S. open champion Gary Player in 1961. Now he heads for the Bob Hope tournament starting tomorrow in Palm Springs.

In his final round over the course he knows as well as any school book, Venturi hit all 18 greens and took only 31 putts.

"I'm not able to practice as much as I used to because of my hands," said Venturi. "They just won't take it, and I have to stop frequently to restore circulation."

He plans to miss the cold tournaments and concentrate on summer play. Despite the fact San Francisco usually is chilly this time of year, Venturi said he wanted to play in the Lucky.

"This is my home town, and I wanted to prove I can still play a good game," he declared.

MAYS IS SNOWBOUND, MISSES AWARD FETE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The snow threw Willie Mays a curve too slippery to handle, but everyone else arrived in time for the St. Louis baseball writers dinner last night.

The San Francisco Giants' star, last season's Most Valuable Player in the National League, was snowed in somewhere in the East. He was scheduled to receive an award for outstanding achievement.

But Charlie Grimm was present to receive a nostalgia award, retired Baseball Commission Ford Frick got award for meritorious service and Vern Law, Pittsburgh Pirates' right-hander, received an award for physical comeback.

SPORTS TRAIL ALONG MARIN'S

James Bond At Rod-Gun Club; This One's A Real Sportsman

WHEN I FIRST heard that Jim Bond was going to appear at the Marin Rod and Gun Club Thursday night my first thoughts were of secret agents and beautiful dames. Farms in Berkeley? Pussy Galore at the Marin Rod and Gun Club????

Well, my dreams were shattered. Old double ought seven isn't coming to Marin after all. THIS Jim Bond is a real life adventurer who deals in outdoor sports like hunting and fishing (boo), records the action on film, and then travels the country showing them to sportsmen's groups who think Pussy Galore is a mess of catfish. Hence, his appearance at the MRGC clubhouse Thursday at 8 p.m.

Scenes from Bond's latest flicker range from a 3,000-pound jet boat being tossed around like a match stick in the dangerous Snake River rapids of Hell's Canyon to the fanciest pheasant shooting in the U.S.; from shooting a bull elk with a tranquillizer gun to that of the hunter going after the majestic old bulls with a rifle; from big mule deer bucks in the sage-aspen cover of southeastern Idaho ot the sure-footed, agile goats of northern Idaho.

DID YOU ever wonder about those orange spots on the pucks at Seals hockey games? You did? Goodie! Ol' Super-Duper Scooper Gilly can tell you that one side has a Seals emblem and the other side informs anyone who goes around reading pucks that it is an official Western Hockey League puck, made in the U.S.A. by Converse Rubber Co., and distributed by C.C.M.

I know because the Seals sent me one either to use as a paper weight or to stick in my mouth. Which is about the size of it.

DICK CREIGHTON, former Marin Catholic and Santa Clara star pitcher, is now coaching at St. Helena High. Dick was a visitor to the Knights of Columbus Hotstove Session in Mill Valley last Friday.

So was ex-Boston Red Sox hurler Jack Wilson, the local Lucky Lager distributer.

One of the local favorites who missed the Hotstove bullfest was Sam Chapman, still mending from an auto mishap last week.

I TELL YOU, this column really gets around. Today I can report that retired Tam High teacher Mrs. Katherine Flanagan is teaching for the Peace Corps in East Africa—about 50 miles from Kilimanjaro. Old timers will remember Mrs. Flanagan had a swim team at Tam, later joining the Western Women's Swim Club.

DICK BASS, the former Vallejo High flash who has gone to greater things with the Los Angeles Rams, doesn't just sit around and read his press clippings during the off-season. Dandy Dick has been named manager of the L.A. nightspot, The Locker Room. First act booked there is one called "The Fearsome Foursome" composed of Ram stalwarts Dave Jones, Merlin Olsen, Charley Cowan and Lamar Lunday. They sing. And a solo vocal job is done by still another Ram, Roosevelt Grier.

Fire Toll Rises At Bowie Track

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — Workmen trying to get Bowie Race Course into shape for tomorrow's scheduled reopening struggled today with fire-leveled ruins of five barns, snow-choked approach roads and runaway horses.

Martin Meyer, track superintendent, said at least 43 horses perished in the flames which early yesterday swept through the barn area known as Blueberry Hills just after a blizzard dumped 18 inches of snow on the area.

Grooms and other stable employees, many barely escaping being trampled by the frenzied animals, raced through the crackling barn area to release another 140 horses.

Officials said all but eight or nine had been recaptured by today, some up to 10 miles away.

The figure was expected to rise as veterinarians worked through the day, examining injured and bleeding thoroughbreds and advising the humane destruction of those beyond recovery.

Yesterday's fire was discovered about 1:30 a.m., in a group of barns far from the clubhouse and grandstand. These were not threatened by the flames, but two large glass sections were smashed by 45-mile-an-hour winds accompanying the snowstorm.

Winds through the day piled the snow into drifts 3½ feet, causing track officials to call off attempts to clear the track and parking areas. These and roads leading to the track must be opened before racing is resumed at the southern Maryland track plagued by fire and snow in recent years.

Yesterday's fire was the 15th since Bowie opened in 1914. Two years ago 12 horses were lost in a barn fire. In 1961, six persons were killed and more than 100 were hurt in the wreck of a special train for racegoers near the track and fire destroyed a betting area in the grandstand the same day.

In 1958 a weekend blizzard marooned about 5,000 fans at Bowie. In 1952, the meet was interrupted by fog, rain and sleet.

"We're not discouraged," said General Manager Jack Loome after the latest misfortune. "It's just nature and we'll keep running."

As Mueller Goes, So Goes USF

Erwin Mueller,, the University of San Francisco's 6-8, 220-pound center, was acclaimed yesterday as player of the week by the Northern California Basketball Writers Assn.

Mueller scored 25 points in leading the Dons to a 81-73 triumph over Southern California last Friday night. USC also fell before Santa Clara 79-76 Saturday night.

Pete Peletta, Don coach, said USF's success depends in great measure on Mueller. "If he goes well the team does well," Peletta said.

The Dons play at U.C. Santa Barbara Thursday and at San Jose State Saturday in West Coast Athletic Conference games. San Jose State and Santa Clara meet in a traditional game Thursday and Santa Clara goes to Santa Barbara Saturday.

Stanford and California will encounter tough opposition in weekend series with Oregon and Oregon State as Pacific Eight play resumes after a break for examinations.

"It's a must weekend for us," said Rene Herrerias, California coach. With a 1-3 league record, Cal hosts Oregon State Friday and Oregon Saturday.

"We expect Oregon to be real tough now that guard Jim Barnett is in good shape again," said Howie Dallmar, Stanford coach. The Indians play Oregon Friday and OSC Saturday.

Serena 3rd In Acapulco Yacht Race

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Kialoa II, Jim Kilroy's 73-foot aluminum sloop from Newport Harbor, held a narrow lead today in the 1,430-mile San Diego-to-Acapulco yacht race.

Trailing by two miles was Serena, scratch yacht of the 25-boat fleet.

Radio reports from the escort vessel Qualifier 85 reported Bob Johnson's Ticonderoga, famed 73-foot ketch representing Portland, Ore., Yacht Club, about three miles behind Serena, in third position.

All three class A boats were making about eight knots in the 8-to-15 mile-an-hour winds that shifted to north-northwest.

Leader on a corrected time basis was Bob Foster's 40-Aegaen with Russ Lamoureaux at the helm. The class B boat is out of San Diego Yacht Club.

I Knew I Was Ready, Says Ken After Great Comeback

By P. D. ELDRED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The stage was set and Ken Venturi was ready for his come-from-behind victory yesterday in the Lucky International Golf Tournament, the San Franciscan said after edging Frank Beard by one stroke.

"I could feel my game shaping up for the past month," said the 34-year-old Venturi, who now has to battle bad circulation in his hands as well as the course when he golfs.

"I didn't know whether I would win this tournament. But, from the way my game was coming along, I knew I was ready to win," Venturi said.

Ken called this $8,500 first money win over the 6,692-yard Harding Park course one of his most satisfying, particularly because of the perfection of his play. In the final decisive round, he hit 18 greens, only took 31 putts and one-putted five greens.

"When I started this crucial last round, I figured I would have to shoot a six-under 65 to win," Ken said. "But Frank Beard, who teed off leading me by four strokes, got bogey trouble on the back side and that made the difference."

11 UNDER

Actually, Ken finished with 66, which left him 11 under for four rounds of the tournament. Beard slipped to a last round par 71, leaving him at 10 under.

Because of his circulation problem, Ken uses chemical hand warmers. Part of the time he puts black leather gloves on both hands, the left one over a yellow golf glove. He had an operation on his hands last June but says he must live with his ailment permanently.

"I never knew I was leading Beard until the 17th," Venturi said. "And even then, I wasn't sure. I thought I was in front by a stroke as I had heard about Frank's bogey trouble on the back nine.

NO TROUBLE

"But I never was concerned. As hole after hole started grinding out with no trouble at all, I felt I could win."

Ken said he had his momentum going strong in the third round and "the biggest key to my final win was the eight-foot putt I had to get down on the 18th Sunday.

"If I hadn't made that putt, I could have lost my momentum."

Ken has played Harding Park more than any other course. He has scored as low as 62 on the tree lined layout, many of its tricky holes flanked by Lake Merced.

"I had a definite pattern when I went out Monday morning for the final round," Ken said, adding with a laugh that his caddy, Jim Allio of adjacent Daly City "was more worried than I was as we came into the last holes."

11 Marin Boxers Open Fire In Golden Gloves

Marin County boxing fans will have plenty of local talent to watch tonight at San Francisco's Kezar Pavilion in the opening card of the three-night Golden Gloves program.

Representing MarVel are Dave Townsel, a 139-pounder; Bill Goelz, 112 pounds; Homer Hall, 119; Morlin Smith, 147, and Norm Kreuter, heavyweight. Townsel will fight in the senior division, the others in the novice group.

Tickets are on sale at Taveggia-Brusati Sports Show, 1340 Fourth Street, San Rafael. The Golden Gloves bouts will continue Friday and conclude on Feb. 10. All action will take place at Kezar Pavilion.

Keino To Compete In L.A. On Feb. 12

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Kipchoge Keino, Kenya's 3,000 and 5,000-meter world record holder, said today he had accepted an invitation to run against Ron Clarke of Australia in an indoor-meet at Los Angeles on Feb. 12.

The 25-year old policeman-athlete only returned Sunday from an invasion of the United States during which he won the Wanamaker Mile in New York and a two-mile event in Los Angeles).

McKeever Still In Coma; 9 Weeks

LONG BEACH (AP)—Former football star Mike McKeever was in his ninth week in a coma today, with no indication when he might regain consciousness.

Doctors at Long Beach Memorial Hospital said McKeever, who suffered head injuries in an auto accident, remains in unchanged condition.

Doctors, in an attempt to help the 25-year-old athlete's general condition, have taken him from his bed and kept him standing for several minutes at a time.

WARRIORS DRUB BALTIMORE

Hey, Look Who's In Second

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors have just landed in second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn.

But it's lucky for them they aren't in the same division as the East's second-place Cincinnati Royals who test the West's new runners-up tonight in San Francisco.

If they were in the same division, the Warriors would be 11 games behind the Royals.

San Francisco moved past Baltimore into second place last night by thrashing the Bullets 131-118. Paul Neumann scored 16 points for the Warriors in the first six minutes of the fourth quarter and the Bullets fell 16 points behind, never to recover.

The victory, the Warriors' third straight, gave them a 25-30 season mark and moved them to 5½ games behind the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Royals, at 34-17, would be 5½ games ahead of the Lakers, if they were in the same division, in case you want more comparisons.

Baltimore played without high scorer Don Ohl, who remained in a Los Angeles hospital after being injured Sunday against the Lakers. The Bullets took off for New York where they play the Knicks tonight in a Madison Square Garden doubleheader preceded by Detroit against Boston.

HANLEY

Seldom has the annual visit of touring golf pros been more serene. Usually one or more of them sound sour notes. Not this time. The Crosby weather was so benign nobody could find fault with it. Harding Park's greens were so smooth they defied criticism although the Lucky weather was mixed.

Above all, the tournament spon- mooners. Everybody loved everybody. It was quite a contrast from two years ago when TV came between the happy couples. TV riches now has brought them together again.

WHOEVER HEARD of the PGA paying a sponsor? Sponsors are supposed to put up money and make up deficits. So naturally John Keane beamed when the PGA presented him with a $7,000 check even though 75 per cent was earmarked for Lucky prize money. The chairman of the Lucky was so delighted he chunked the entire $7,000 into the tournament's pot.

THE $7,000 represented the Lucky's cut from the PGA's first TV package contract even though the Lucky wasn't televised. To prevent overexposure the PGA permits only 13 or 14 of its 43 official tournaments to be televised. But all tournament sponsors share in the TV take which was $750,000 under last year's initial PGA package deal. In 1964 the same tournaments netted only $50,000 with individual sponsors negotiating separate TV contracts.

THE PGA told the sponsors in 1964 that it was taking over TV rights and furthermore was going to allot 75 per cent of them to its golfers in added prize money. The sponsors screamed. Keane, the same fellow now happy, was a loud screamer. "I don't see how they can expect to get something ont rightfully theirs," he said.

WHEN SPONSORS of the Phoenix Open balked at the PGA demand, the PGA in effect called a strike. For a time it looked like the Phoenix Open wouldn't be played in 1964. But Lionel Hebert's diplomatic handling of that squabble convinced the Thunderbirds, sponsors of the Phoenix Open, pro golfers weren't trying to act like muscle men.

"I think the day will come," Hebert told the Thunderbirds, "when sponsors will be able to keep all their receipts and not even put up any purses if they will go along with us on our TV package plan."

JAY HEBERT, Lionel's brother, was PGA tournament chairman at the time and he told sponsors: "Several years ago, the PGA assigned television rights to you but, with few exceptions, you haven't done much with them. Now we intend to see what we can do. The PGA is a strong, national organization well equipped to market TV rights."

Obviously, the PGA has done a better job of selling than individual tournament sponsors but the day is still far off when sponsors "will be able to keep all their receipts and not even put up any purses."

Best-Kept Secret At UCLA Is 7 Feet Tall

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The best-kept secret at UCLA is 7 feet 1½ inches tall, which is pretty tall to keep a secret.

School authorities, from Athletic Director J. D. Morgan down, have thrown a protective screen around the young man from Power High school in New York.

A spokesman said Lew's parents asked that he be shielded from excess publicity.

Non-school sources whisper that the unique request came also from, of all places, members of the UCLA varsity team.

The upperclassmen, who started as the nation's No. One ranked team and then dropped out of the top 10, are still irked by the defeat they absorbed from the school's sensational freshman team in a pre-season game.

Whatever the case, the frosh are still undefeated in nine games and Alcindor and his mates have averaged an amazing 115 points a game.

Alcindor, the center, has averaged 33.5 points per contest and broke the Brubabe one-game scoring record with 48 points against San Diego City College last month.

He made 21 of 23 field goal attempts and got six more points on free throws. It erased a 40-point game record set in 1959 by Ron Lawson.

Alcindor is surrounded by talent, doubtless the finest ever in the history of UCLA's bright history in basketball.

Kent Taylor, with a 6.7 scoring average, and Lynn Shackleford, 22.5, are at forward; Lucius Allen, 23.4, and Kenny Heitz, 13.3, make up the fabulous five.

Undoubtedly the understatement of the year at UCLA was the line in the press book describing Alcindor.

"Rated as a top prospect," it read.

Seals To Apply For Big League Franchise Monday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Fleharty, acting president of the San Francisco Seals of the Western Hockey League, said yesterday that formal application for a National Hockey League franchise will be made at an NHL directors meeting in New York next Monday.

Fleharty, 41, and head of the Shasta Corp., said he plans to arrive in New York Sunday with Frank Tatum, attorney and legal adviser for the Seals.

Fleharty became acting president following the sale of his stock interest last week by Mel Swig, hotel executive.

SEATTLE (AP) — San Francisco's Seals, trying for a playoff berth in the Western Hockey League, open an eight-game trip tonight against the Seattle Totems. The Seals are in fifth place.

Burns To Coach At Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Jerry Burns, dismissed as head football coach at Iowa after five dismal seasons, has stepped up instead of down.

Burns was added yesterday to the coaching staff of the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Football League three of the last five seasons.

It was a prestigous appointment to a staff that has produced two new head football coaches in the NFL within the last month.

Vince Lombardi, head coach, general manager and taciturn taskmaster of the Packers, didn't specify what Burns would do, although it was expected he would take over defensive backfield duties.

Burns replaces Norb Hecker, who welded the stingiest pass defense unit in the NFL last season and was named last week as head coach of the new Atlanta Falcons.

Burns has stayed largely in seclusion at his home in Iowa City since he was fired in mid-November. He had no immediate comment.

Lombardi has a reputation for driving his staff even harder than he drives his players. Taking over at Green Bay in 1959 after the Packers' worst season in history, he put together a hand-picked staff and a team that has carved the best winning record in the NFL over the last six seasons.

Bill Austin, a graduate of Lombardi's staff who moved on to Los Angeles last year, was named recently as new head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers. Lombardi's ace defensive line coach, Phil Bengtson, reportedly had other offers dangled before him in the reshuffling of the NFL coaching lineup since the season ended.

Burns was dismissed four days before the season ended.

Wilt Gains On West In NBA Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers are on the move in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn., and it is reflected in the statistics where 76er star Wilt Chamberlain has gained ground on scoring leader Jerry West of Los Angeles.

Chamberlain scored 156 points in four games last week, including 53 against Los Angeles, for a total of 1,743 to 1,792 for West.

His 65 for 114 from the floor also moved Chamberlain into a first-place tie in field goal percentage, at .522, with Baltimore's Johnny Green, the statistics released today showed.

Chamberlain continues to lead in rebounds with 1,243, Guy Rodgers of San Francisco is first in assists with 572, and Boston's Larry Siegfried tops the free throw percentage leaders with .882.

Antitrust Trial Is Advanced To Feb. 28

By KEN HARTNETT

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Baseball lawyers say the National League isn't ignoring a Wisconsin court order. In fact, they say, they'll be trying to knock it out of the box later this week.

Bowie Kuhn, attorney for the National League, told Circuit Court Judge Elmer Roller yesterday that his order was unjustified, was issued without a proper hearing and did not have "sufficient certainty and specificity for us to comply with it."

But, Kuhn said, the National League wasn't ignoring the order which directs it to prepare to field a baseball team in Milwaukee this spring, either the Atlanta-bound Braves or a still unborn expansion club.

Kuhn said the league will move later this week if possible, to have the order vacated.

But his remarks didn't stop the state from having a rhetorical field day at baseball's expense as it pressed for and won an advance in the trial date of its antitrust action against the game.

The trial, moved back last week to March 7, is now scheduled to begin Feb. 28 before Roller.

"The state finds it hard to believe," thundered William S. Stafford, special counsel, "that the National League, which takes such pains to present an Eagle Scout image of its ball players, would be so irresponsible as to flout a court order . . . truly it is in the character of the monopolistic men we are dealing with."

Sloppy Bruins Scolded, But Turn Back Arizona

LOS ANGELES (AP)—UCLA coach Johnny Wooden, scolding the Bruins for committing too many ball control errors, says he was still pleased with their 84-67 basketball victory over Arizona.

The Bruins forced the Wildcats into the same sort of ball control errors last night in a non-conference game at Pauley Pavilion. And UCLA turned all the errors into points.

Wooden said he was particularly pleased with the victory since UCLA was without starter Edgar Lacey, ill with the flu.

The trouble with the Bruins this year, said Wooden afterwards, is "they don't have good hands," don't handle the ball well and miss passes. Wooden said the problem particularly damaged the Bruins' offense.

The Bruins had a good outside game, however, said Wooden, with the shooting of Mike Lynn. Lynn paced the victors with 23 points.

Longshooting Harvey Fox was high man for Arizona with 17.

The play-making of Mike Warren set up the Bruin offense and kept them out of trouble.

"Our full court press hurt them," said Wooden.

The score was 14-11 in UCLA's favor when the Wildcats suddenly buckled under the pressure of the Bruin press. UCLA scored 11 in a row to take a 25-13 advantage. It was easy sailing for the Bruins after that.

100 Pct. Pay Hike For Yankee Ace Mel Stottlemyer

Completing his first full season with the Yankees, the slender native of Mabton, Wash., won 20, lost 9 and led the regular Yankee pitchers with a 2.63 earned run average.

Stottlemyre, 6-foot-2 and 175 pounds, joined the Yankees in August of 1964, after posting a 13-3 record at Richmond, and proceeded to win six of 12 decisions in the remaining six weeks of the American League season. His brilliant pitching enabled the Yankees to overhaul both Chicago and Baltimore to capture the American League pennant by one game over the White Sox.

Spring Weather May Ruin World Bobsled Races

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP) — A second successive day of warm weather threatened today to wreck the world four-man bobsledding championship.

Unseasonable heat, with temperatures rising well above freezing, was eating away at the icy walls of the 1,720-meter chute where the event is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Lowest temperature last night was four below zero but by this morning the mercury had risen to three above zero and was still going up.

Spring-like temperatures descended on this Alpine resort yesterday, and by noontime it was so warm skiers in shirt sleeves and girls sun bathing in bikinis were a common sight.

"One more warm day like that and the track could be ruined beyond repair for the weekend competition," said Renato Manaigo, member of the chute supervising committee.

Mantle, Maris To Bunt More: Keane

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — The mighty Yankees are going to substitute the jab for the haymaker.

Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle are going to do more bunting this year in Manager Johnny Keane's new plan of attack.

"We're not going to sit back and wait for the home run," said Keane, who was bitterly disappointed last year when the injured Yanks floundered and finished sixth.

"We are going to do more bunting," said Keane. "What's wrong with having Mantle bunt? With men on first and second and nobody out, Mr. Maris is going to bunt."

Keane made his remarks at a news conference yesterday, called to announce the signing of pitcher Bob Friend and shortstop Ruben Amaro. Friend reportedly got $42,000 from the Yanks. There were no estimates of Amaro's salary.

Asked if the new bunting attack resulted from the Los Angeles Dodgers' success, Keane said:

"The Dodgers had something to do with it. You notice Boston led the league in home runs last year and finished ninth. When I was with St. Louis we used to go for the bunt when we played at Chavez Ravine. We're going to be doing more of it at Yankee Stadium, Boston and Baltimore.

"You don't see anybody charging Maris and Mantle when they're at the plate. I want to make all our players more adept bunters.

"No longer will I hesitate about having Maris or Mantle bunt. When I was at St. Louis, we never did have Stan Musial bunt. It just wasn't supposed to be done. Yes, that's right. Maybe I was overwhelmed by the glamor of Musial like I was by the glamor of Mantle.

"I've come to realize there are times when it is the best thing to do. Why shouldn't the big men bunt?"

Ralph Houk, Yankee general manager, said the latest report from Rochester, Minn., was that Mantle would be in full swing in mid-March and ready for opening day. He said he expected Mantle to start working out March 1 when the club reports at Fort Laudderdale, Fal. Mickey recently underwent an operation at the Mayo Clinic for the removal of a bone particle from his right shoulder.

Keane said the success of the operation eliminated any possibility that Mickey might be moved to first base.

"If he hadn't had the operation and if his shoulder still bothered him, we might have tried first base," said Keane. "I was hesitant about it because you are taking a chance on his legs at first base and his legs held up pretty good last year."

End Advance.

San Jose St. Names Coach

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) —Tom Keele, 32-year-old University of Puget Sound assistant coach, was named football line coach yesterday at San Jose State College. The appointment is effective next Monday.

Keele joined the UPS staff last September as head grid aid, freshman basketball and head golf coach. He also taught in the school's physical education program.

A three-year starter at tackle at the University of Oregon, Keele played on the 1958 Rose Bowl team which lost 10-7 to Ohio State and was named captain and most valuable player of the 1959 squad.

Keele coached at several Oregon high schools before joining the UPS staff. He was named the state's Coach of the Year in 1962 and was selected to coach in the Shrine all-state grid all-star contest the following summer.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Sturgeon Angling Is Red-Hot, But Stripers Are Still Around

STEVENS

Even in fishing, styles change from year to year. Today the angling addicts in this area, particularly in the upper San Pablo Bay and the lower Suisun Bay, arm themselves with a supply of grass shrimps and go out to do battle with sturgeon rather than with striped bass. It was not so long ago that the hooking of a sturgeon was an accident while fishing for stripers. Today that order is reversed.

In talking with Harbor Master Charlie Schmelz, Dowrelio's Harbor at Crockett, I learned that: "Every boat out on Thursday and Friday came in with limits. Nothing like it has ever been known."

CHARLIE ALSO reported flounders in copious quantity have been taken this past week, most by those actually fishing for flounders but almost as many by accident. (The grass shrimp used for the taking of sturgeon is also a tempting tidbit for flounders.)

On Saturday and Sunday, the ocean was too rough and the wind too strong for even the rockfishing boats to do more than drive to the G. G. Bridge and return to port.

IN TALKING WITH Tony Caruso of Caruso's Harbor at Sausalito, I learned that last Wednesday a teeming school of herring was spotted just outside his harbor. Men, women and boys reaped a harvest of the little fish. Buckets, pans and other utensils were filled with herring.

It seems that for some unknown reason the spawning herring have not shown in the Richmond area.

IT IS A MISTAKE to believe that the pressure on sturgeon fishing is made because of no striped bass around. There are bass, some real lunkers, too, just waiting a chance to grab one's bait. Hal Boenner of Lee Anderson's Shop in Oakland reported the boat, E.O.11, with four rods working near Buoy No. 5, coming in with 11 stripers to 17 pounds.

THE REPORT from the Fruitvale Bait and Tackle informed that while striper fishing is very slow, a goodly number of perch have been taken from shore between Fruitvale Bridge and the train bridge, also some at or near High Street have been caught by anglers using grass shrimp, both live and frozen, under the Bay Farm Island Bridge.

No reports of steelhead or salmon catches in the Sacramento River, which was scheduled to become prime in the Anderson Valley-Redding area. Probably delayed again account of badly colored waters.

Near-Expert Skier In Just One Winter?

By JACK PERRON

PARK CITY, Utah (AP) — The story probably will be told some day about the icelandic caveman who sat down to carve out the winter world's answer to the wheel — skis.

No doubt it will tell how he completed his task, strapped on the worlds' first pair of skis and set off down a snowy hillside — only to fall and break a leg.

Man hasn't changed much since those days. His tendency to grab a pair of skis and set off down a slope is still there — as is his tendency to break a leg.

But even though such an injury will always be a hazard in the sport, they say it can be avoided during the learning stages with proper instruction.

The result of years of study, the "Official American Ski Technique" was published in 1964 by the Professional Ski Instructors of America.

Not meant to be a new style of skiing, the technique is a conglomeration of the best skiing forms from foreign countries.

And today it's the guide for nearly all ski instruction in the United States.

The American technique is based on seven principles: forward lean, total motion, unweighting by an up-motion, counter rotation, weight transfer, natural position and angulation. These are some of the terms with which a novice has to become familiar on his way to the expert level.

And it's possible to become a near-expert in one winter through the American system, says Dave Larsen, one of 45 men and women instructors at the Treasure Mountain ski resort here.

Located 30 minutes away, Park City is one of the reasons Salt Lake City believes it will be chosen as host for the 1972 international Winter Olympics.

"The American Ski Technique is the quickest, safest and most enjoyable way of taking a novice out of his office chair and placing him on the slopes," says Larsen.

When a beginner starts his instruction with Larsen he gets an introduction to the ski equipment — and how to wear it. He learns how to walk, fall and stand. And before the first lesson ends, the student has gained a feeling of control.

The American Ski Technique takes the novice through all phases with his individual talents in mind. And, slow or fast, everyone enjoys the ability to progress, Larsen says.

President Johnson said in proclaiming Jan. 20-31 National Ski Week: "Skiing in the United States has now become one of our most popular sports."

Marin PAL To Buy Boxing Equipment

Marin Police Athletic League (PAL) directors Friday voted to purchase boxing equipment for matches to be held starting in two or three weeks at the Mill Valley Community and Youth Center, William Porter, president, said today. The board also decided to attempt to establish a similar program for teenagers in Central Marin, possibly in San Rafael.

New Planning Director Gives Some Opinions

Paul Zucker, the county's new planning director attending his first commission session yesterday, gave his views on a general plan for Marin and a design review board.

He told the commission that his preliminary thoughts on a general plan are that preparation would take at least two years, that it should be a study of the entire county, including cities and areas that are already covered by general plans, and that federal funds probably should be requested.

WITH OWN STAFF

Zucker said he believes the study should be done by the county staff, with consultants brought in only for special matters such as "transportation and visual effects."

The commission adopted in principle the need for a general plan as a high priority item in the county program, regardless of the availability of federal funds.

The federal "701" program provides partial funding of general plan studies. Zucker said he hoped to develop more detailed recommendations prior to preparation of budget requests for next fiscal year.

Zucker said the planning staff would probably have to be increased.

"It will be a large undertaking," he said. "I don't feel that we're staffed up to do the job at this moment."

On a proposed design board, which has been under study for several months, Zucker had same reservations. He said the commission must be very clear on what the design board is to do and what the staff's relation with it should be.

CITES PROBLEMS

"It may be a good idea," he said, but warned there have been big problems with the design board concept all across the country.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty said he envisioned a panel of architects and design specialists that the commission could draw on to study major problems, maybe using only one or two specialists. Use of the design board would be discretionary with the commission.

Commissioner Margaret Azevedo said she favored a design board because she has seen "timidity among commissioners to stand on their subjective reactions. I've felt the need for professionals."

Zucker said he would present a detailed recommendation soon.

The new planner also told the commission that his preliminary opinion is that the county zoning ordinance will have to have an overall revision, rather than piece-meal changes.

Drunken Driver Fined

Bernhardt Crane Rosen, 29, San Francisco, was fined $300 and placed on six months probation in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving. He was arrested on Highway 101 last Thursday by California Highway Patrol.

West Marin Plan Density Hike Voted

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday adopted an addendum to the West Marin master plan necessitated by a density increase over the original plan approved by the commission on Jan. 17.

Instead of a proposed density of .66 of one housing unit per acre, the commission approved .86. This would permit ultimate population of the area to be 87,500 rather than 66,000.

This means that 21 rather than 15 elementary schools will be needed; five rather than four junior high schools, and three rather than two high schools.

The commission also approved addition of three acres to the proposed Millerton shopping Center, 11 acres to the Point Reyes Station shopping center, and three acres to the Olema shopping center.

The increase in maximum population will also call for two additional fire stations, one at Bivalve and another at Five Brooks, according to estimates presented by Rowland J. Darnell of the county planning staff.

Commissioners voted 4-0 in favor of the changes. Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. abstained because of an interest he has in land at Olema, and Commissioner Harry H. Heifetz had to leave the session early to keep a dental appointment. Felix M. Warburg resigned from the commission yesterday.

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday also:

1. Approved a use permit for Darnell to operate a dog kennel on his home site at 85 Crest Road, Black Point.
2. Denied appeal of Alice Garrison who wanted frontage of her land at 11 Greenwood Way in Kentfield on a 20-foot rather than 40-foot easement. Neighbors complained the property was subject to sliding and the applicant never should have been granted a lot split, approved several months ago.
3. Set hearing Feb. 14 on commercial zoning for Kentfield Corners that would encourage coordination of development among several property owners.
4. Set hearing Feb. 14 on revisions in Ballinger's general plan that would include possible revision in the alignment of Merrydale Roads extension.
5. Agreed to give the Homestead Valley Improvement Club a hearing on its protest against a land division approved for Robert M. Maguire's land on Linden Lane. Commissioners agreed they would reconsider the matter if the club should show proper grounds for appeal.
6. Adjourned at 6:45 p.m.

'Copters To Change Building Methods

NEW YORK (AP)—The construction industry predicts that commercial helicopters of the future will revolutionize the building of dams, bridges and other vast projects in hard-to-reach areas.

Modified versions of the giant-size "flying crane" helicopters which are being used by the U.S. Army, are capable of moving trucks, bridge sections and even bulldozers over roadless terrain.

New Notary Public

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today announced issuance of a notary public commission to Frank J. Mee, Santa Venetia.

"Any average family can now amass cash—perhaps even become rich—because of the methods banks use in compounding your interest."

"Yes, there is a way to double your money without speculating."

Dr. Leslie C. Peacock, Vice President and Economist for Crocker-Citizens National Bank, suggests how to get ahead financially.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: In this day and age, is there still a way to double your money without speculating?

DR. PEACOCK: Absolutely. Based on our current interest rate and method of computation, money you deposit now with our bank in a savings account will double in about 17½ years. And every dollar you deposit will amount to about four dollars in 35 years at today's 4% rate. The secret lies in the way your interest compounds.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: How does this differ from other forms of investment?

DR. PEACOCK: The market value of real estate, mutual funds, stocks and bonds can go up or down, of course, but dollars compounding interest can go in only one direction—up. You know your money is growing when it's in the bank, and you can count on it for retirement.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: True, but most families don't have large lump sums to deposit right now. How can they plan for a comfortable retirement?

DR. PEACOCK: Social Security is a mainstay, but even supplemented by income from a company pension plan, it may be hardly enough for more than minimum comforts, not to mention emergencies or extra luxuries such as travel. But there is a way the average family can amass cash without taking speculative risks. It requires laying away a few dollars every month in a savings account with the bank, and letting compound interest go to work over a long period. The arithmetic may startle you.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Can you give an example?

DR. PEACOCK: Say you're a 25-year-old just out of college and starting your first job. If you save just $10 a month, you will have deposited $4,800 by the time you're 65. But you would actually have $11,819 cash in your account—provided, of course, the current 4% compound interest rate is in effect throughout the entire period. Your $10 deposits would earn $7,019 interest at that rate. And certainly most working people should be able to save at least $10 a month.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Will interest rates change?

DR. PEACOCK: We can't predict that. Of course, the rate can go either up or down, and over the periods of time we're talking about it could change several times.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Assuming that the current rate applied, at age 65 would you draw out that $11,819 nest egg?

DR. PEACOCK: Well, you could draw it out at the rate of $70 a month—and it would last you 20 years and 7½ months. That's a total payout during that time of $17,325, all from a total investment of $4,800. That's a pretty handsome return, I'd say.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Say you were 35 years old and deposited $50 a month until you were 65. How much cash would you have?

DR. PEACOCK: Using today's rate and method of computation, $34,735. You would have deposited only $18,000 in an investment which doesn't fluctuate in market value.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Stocks and bonds fluctuate in value. Does this mean you advise against them as investments?

DR. PEACOCK: No, quite to the contrary. Other investments have their advantages, too. They're fine—but only after you've covered all the other bases, such as life, health and other insurance, a cash reserve for emergencies, and perhaps a home of your own.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Some of our neighbors are saving $100 a month by using your "Layaway Plan" service. Isn't this stretching things a bit?

DR. PEACOCK: Maybe or maybe not, but these families will be well off. For example, if a breadwinner at age 25 could save $100 a month until he reaches 65, he would have $118,197 cash in the bank. His deposits would have earned $70,197 interest at the current rate. For the average family, saving as much as $100 each month might be fairly hard. It could mean making some sacrifices now—but it's worth it in the long run if you want true financial security and a rich, full life at retirement age.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: What's the best age to start saving?

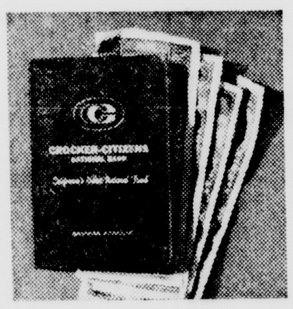
DR. PEACOCK: The earlier the better, but the rewards are great at any age. The secret, of course, is to get started now and to stick with it. One couple our bank serves started just last week to save $100 a month. He's 45 years old. When he reaches 65, our figures show they'll have $36,744—in cash. Then they plan to buy some income property and live happily ever after. We think they'll do it, too.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Bankers say that too many families are missing a golden opportunity to achieve financial security. Is it really a good time to save?

DR. PEACOCK: Decidedly—especially here in California, where incomes are higher than ever before and also higher than in other parts of the country. If a family can't save now, it may be that it never will.

NOTE: The amounts quoted are subject to any change in the Bank's savings interest rate or method of interest computation and are before income taxes, which of course will vary according to individual circumstances.

"1. INSURANCE is essential and should be provided to protect your wife and children.



2. A CASH RESERVE is next, for a comfortable retirement, emergencies, a possible down payment on a house, or perhaps a college education for your children. This should be in a bank savings account, too.

3. BUYING A HOUSE is often better than paying rent.

4. PENSIONS AND SOCIAL SECURITY will help give you security—but not luxuries—in your later years.

5. OTHER INVESTMENTS have their advantages, too, but only after you've covered all the other bases."

Court Reverses Verdict On Bruce

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California Supreme Court yesterday reversed a lower court which has ordered comedian Lenny Bruce to a rehabilitation center as a narcotics user.

Justices concluded the evidence was "legally insufficient to substantiate an order of commitment."

The court ordered Bruce's case returned to Los Angeles Superior Court where he was convicted of possessing heroin in 1963 in North Hollywood. That conviction was upheld late last year by the Supreme Court.

Southern Pacific Wants To Drop Old Lark's Run

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Southern Pacific Co. asked the California Public Utilities Commission yesterday for permission to suspend the Lark.

Because of airplane competition, each of the nightly trains beteen San Francisco and Los Angeles has an average of only 95 passengers, the railroad said. Trains leave each city each evening.

Southern Pacific also asked to stop the San Joaquin Daylight's trip between Bakersfield and Los Angeles in favor of a bus connection. It would continue the rail links beteen San Francisco and Bakersfield.

Southern Pacific claimed an out-of-pocket loss of $993,683 for the first 11 months of 1965 on the Lark.

SP also said dropping the Bakersfield - Los Angeles link would reduce the road's annual loss on the train by about $700,000. It now claims a $1,048,000 annual loss.

THE 1966 LEGISLATURE

Lawmakers Will Receive Budget Asking For Over $4.5 Billion

By BILL BOYARSKY
(Second in a series)

SACRAMENTO (AP) — New taxes to pay for another bigger-than-ever budget face a legislature meeting amid the political scrambling of an election year.

A blueprint for spending more than $4.5 billion will be awaiting lawmakers when they convene next Monday. As thick as a big city phone book, it will provide legislators with a giant problem—the need to find new revenue to pay all the bills.

Democratic Gov. Brown estimates the budget deficit will run from $250 to $300 million.

But he came up with a change in accounting methods, and said it will reduce the expected new tax package by about $100 million.

"Another in a long series of fiscal gimmicks," replied Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy.

Even with the new plan, there will be new taxes unless the legislature can balance the budget by cutting spending. And any vote on taxes will come while legislators are asking the folks back home to return them to office.

The sharp rise from last year's $4.18 billion budget isn't a new story to Californians. A decade ago, the budget was only $1.8 billion. Twenty years ago, it was less than $700 million.

Why the rise? Where's the money going?

Education takes the biggest slice.

Dr. Ronald Cox, chief of the Education Department's Bureau of Public School Administration, estimated the state will require between $75 million and $100 million more this year to pay for the schooling of children in kindergarten through junior college.

Of this, $51 million is required to be spent under state law, which says school expenditures must keep pace with increasing enrollments. New programs—improving reading instruction, help for handicapped children and others—could cost between $25 million and $49 million more.

And that doesn't include money for the University of California and the state colleges. Brown said the state will need an additional $75 million for U.C. alone.

More funds will be needed for prisons and parole care for adults and juveniles, reported Richard McGee, administrator of the Youth and Corrections Agency.

Last year's appropriation was $123.6 million, but McGee, citing expansion of parole supervision, said "there's no question it will be higher."

A year ago, Brown asked for $21.6 million for parks and recreation and later got another $40.6 million in bond funds for purchase of parkland.

Estimates in the Resources Agency indicate the administration will ask for some $44 million in bond funds for park acquisitions, plus money for grants for local projects. In addition, the General Fund could be tapped for about $20 million.

Paul Ward, chief of the Health and Welfare Agency, said his budget hasn't been completed. But there's no doubt that it will require more than the $705.5 million taken from the General Fund by the last budget, in addition to county and federal money.

There are other spending boosts. Brown wants a 4 per cent raise for state employees—a $30 million item. He hopes to pay for about half of this by making the employees work harder, thus increasing their output.

Finance Director Hale Champion said the administration's revenue plans haven't been completed. He did say that two bond issues are under consideration—one to provide funds for loans to local school districts and the other to raise money for state construction. But he said the construction bond issue may be trimmed this year, by limiting it to only higher education building.

Many new taxes are under consideration, including a boost in the cigarette tax, higher beer and liquor levies, more bank and corporation taxes, a real estate transfer tax and others.

Senator McCarthy Vows To Trim State Budget

By WAT TAKESHITA

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, said today that he and his colleagues will work to cut expenses wherever possible in the state budget, when the 1966 legislative session opens on Feb. 7 in Sacramento.

'The major business of the Legislature will be to trim off most of the fat in the budget without damaging or hindering progressive and reasonable programs and not create any more positions in government unless absolutely necessary," the Senate minority leader declared.

McCarthy predicts a "short session" that may wind up in early April because most of the legislators will be eager to get back to their constituencies to campaign for the June election.

McCarthy, himself, is up for re-election in a broadened senatorial district that now includes Napa and most of Solano County, in addition to Marin.

The senator sees little likelihood that local legislation, applying specifically to Marin County, will be placed on special call during the coming budget session.

However, if the occasion arises, he will continue his fight for acquisition of Marin Headlands State Park land and additions to Mount Tamalpais State Park.

Among some of the items that could stand some paring, McCarthy listed these:

1. The governor's request for $350,000 for the Office of Economic Development.

"To me, this is a glorified agency that duplicates existing groups like the chambers of commerce and the Redwood Empire Assn."

2. The governor has requested $50,000 for a California representative in Europe to watch out for the interests of the state in world trade. McCarthy questions the need for this expense.

3. The governor is asking for $128,000 from the tidelands revenue for petroleum engineers to re-examine the Long Beach tidelands oil field.

"A joint legislative committee, of which I am vice chairman, is already looking into the situation. I think the $128,000 expense can be held off, at least until the legislative committee has studied the matter."

McCarthy said he is "leery" of the so-called tax reforms, which sound good on paper but may only mean more taxes on the people.

"I'd advise my colleagues to stop a deficit budget. If the question of state withholding tax comes up, I'll do everything possible to fight it off."

"Our major concern is that the governor seems to forget there is a two-party system. I think it is a healthy thing for the people of California to have representatives from both parties discuss the financial affairs of the state."

City Claims Errors Cloud Parking Fight

Only 89 Spaces Due To Vanish

By WAT TAKESHITA
(First of three articles)

Some misinformation has been injected into the current controversy over angle or diagonal parking on San Rafael's Fourth Street between Lincoln Avenue and E Street.

The major discrepancy lies in the number of parking spaces that would allegedly be lost by the change to parallel parking.

The Committee Against Parallel Parking (those who want to retain diagonal parking) contends that up to 139 spaces will be lost.

SETBACK RULE

Official study by the San Rafael city engineer's office shows that only 89 spaces would be lost by the changeover. And some of this 89 loss comes from complying with an existing city ordinance on the amount of setback from intersections.

In other words, some of the existing diagonal parking spaces are in violation of the city's own ordinance in that they are too close to intersections. If the change is made to parallel parking, the proper setbacks will be made from intersections.

OLD STUDY BLAMED

The allegation that "139 spaces woud be lost" probably stems from a 1958 study made at the time the city's offstreet parking district was set up.

The 1958 report covered the entire parking district (not just Fourth Street), including cross streets that have since been changed from diagonal to parallel.

The 1958 report, therefore, stated that "the consulting engineer estimates that complete elimination of diagonal parking would result in the net loss of 137 spaces." This was for the entire parking district.

The present issue is confined to Fourth Street from Lincoln to E (the rest is already parallel).

There are now 266 diagonal spaces on Fourth. This would be cut to 177 under parallel parking, with proper setbacks—a loss of 89.

Another contention by the Committee Against Parallel Parking is that one car trying to back into a parallel parking space would force cars to back up for blocks.

City engineering studies show that Fourth Street averages 51 feet wide. Long cars diagonally parked now extend as much as 16 feet from the curb. If a similar car is parked on the opposite

BACK TO ELECTRICS?

Bay Group Studies Lure To Commuters

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

Would Marin County residents use hovercraft that would carry them in 12 minutes from downtown San Rafael to downtown San Francisco?

That question of public acceptance of other modes of commuting than by family car loomed large yesterday in a series of reports on the new technology of transportation.

The reports — some of them seemingly far-out, but actually presently feasible—were delivered by a number of experts to the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission which met in San Francisco.

Possibilities of moving people in vast numbers ranged from trains travelling at 500 miles per hour in underground pneumatic tubes to fleets of publicly owned electric cars rented to commuters.

The suggestion of San Rafael to San Francisco hovercraft was made by John C. Cunningham, vice president of SFO Helicopter Airlines of Oakland, which has a terminal in Sausalito and is participating in a trial of hovercraft service on the Bay.

He recommended the use of an English hovercraft carrying 98 passengers on a cushion of air. It could be operated out of the San Rafael estuary, he said. Cunningham estimated a one-way fare at about one dollar. Fares would be reduced, he said, as passenger volume increased.

Cunningham was enthusiastic about growing public acceptance of helicopter and hover-

NWP Given To June 30 On Tunnel

The California Public Utilities Commission today gave the Northwestern Pacific Railroad until June 30 to re-open its Puerto Suello Tunnel, United Press International reported from San Francisco.

The commission today reinstated its September, 1964, decision ordering reopening of the line, with today the effective date.

This placed into effect a series of deadlines which had been stayed by the railroad's challenge of PUC jurisdiction in federal courts. The U.S. Supreme Court last month refused to hear the challenge.

Terms of the 1964 PUC order gave the railroad 150 days to complete reconstruction of its line through the tunnel, and 180 days to resume service over the line. Reinstatement of the order today would mean Northwestern Pacific would have to start mainline service to San Rafael by July 30.

Last month, the court refused to reconsider the railroad's claim, which has been the subject of an intense legal battle between the railroad and the City of San Rafael, backed by Marin County, since shortly after the tunnel collapsed by fire on July 22, 1961.

Governor Opens Campaign For Third Term In Capitol

GOV. EDMUND G. BROWN
As he announced today

U.S. Appointment Appears Rejected

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, launching a day-long air trip in a rainstorm, today opened his campaign for a third term—achieved only once before in California's 115 years of statehood.

Asking four more years "to make California a better place," the 60-year-old governor said "I am prepared to pledge to serve out my third term."

"I can't think of any federal appointment that's greater than being governor of your native state in this time of growth," he said in answer to a reporter's question at the first news conference of the day.

He added that the "President has never suggested that I take a place in the federal government, whatsoever." Johnson, Brown said, wanted him to run for governor.

Rain sprinkled down on much of Northern California as Brown began an arduous flying trip, stretching more than 1,100 miles the length of California. The trip touched off what he promised will be "a vigorous and dedicated campaign."

SEVERAL STOPS

It began in Sacramento, with airport news conference stops at Chico, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Santa Barbara and Fresno.

Republican Earl Warren — now U.S. Chief Justice — is the only man ever to win three terms in the governor's mansion.

Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty says he may challenge Brown in the June 7 primary.

RECORD TO SPEAK

"If I am challenged in the primary, I will let the record of our legislative and executive team speak for itself," Brown said.

He said he will pay no attention to the Republican primary, shaping up into a fight between actor Ronald Reagan and George Christopher, former mayor of San Francisco.

Even before the announcement was official, Christopher declared Brown will have to run on his record, and "we Republicans regard this as an ideal battleground." Reagan said he hopes for a philosophical campaign and not "an attack on motives or personalities."

BAGLEY'S VIEW

In Sacramento, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said Brown would rather have Ronald Reagan as a gubernatorial opponent because "he can put him in a Goldwater-closet."

Bagley said, "the Republican opportunity this year is George Christopher who leads Pat Brown by 15 percentage points in the most recent polls."

The former San Francisco mayor "can clobber Pat in November," Bagley said.

Brown said his one-day swing will constitute most of his political efforts until May. The trip over, he said, "I intend to come right back here to Sacramento and continue with the work of government."

FIVE-YEAR SCHEME FOR AID PROPOSED

President Asks Congress To Split Plan Into Separate Arms And Aid Measures

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for five-year authority for foreign aid and proposed that the global program be split into separate economic and arms aid bills.

In a special message seeking $3.39 billion in new aid funds for next year, Johnson also spelled out a $1-billion program of food, education and health assistance abroad.

"I propose that the United States offer to join in new attacks upon the root causes of world poverty," the President told the legislators.

"The incessant cycle of hunger, ignorance, and disease is the common blight of the developing world. This vicious pattern can be broken. It must be broken if democracy is to survive."

Johnson said the large-scale foreign aid program is necessary for the same reasons as his "Great Society" program inside the United States.

He said the aim is to improve "the kind of world our children will live in."

MORE MONEY

The $3.39 billion — $2.469 billion in economic aid and $917 million in military — more than Congress voted last year in comparable new funds for the year ending June 30, 1966. But just how much the increase amounts to is difficult to say because a large chink of the arms assistance, for Viet Nam, has been wrapped into the regular U.S. defense budget.

A fight seemed certain over non-money items in the aid legislation as well as the more usual tugging and hauling over the financing.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee chairman, Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., and some other influential legislators also believe the military assistance measure should continue to be tied to the economic aid legislation as a means of garnering more votes for the economic assistance.

FOOD, PEACE

If related programs such as food for peace are counted, the economic total goes above $4 billion for next year. Also in the aid fund ould be some $344 million unspent for past appropriations. That would raise the economic total to $2.81 billion, up a quarter billion from this year.

Johnson proposed $1,006,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning July 1 for health, education and agriculture assistance abroad. This is a quarter-billion-dollar boost over such projects this year.

For economic assistance, Johnson's fiscal 1967 budget propose $2.47 billion in new appropriations, counting $550 million for Viet Nam. For military aid it seeks $917 million, not counting Viet Nam. If related programs such as Food for Peace are included, the over-all total pushes above the $4-billion mark.

Russ Denounce U.N. Debates On Viet Nam

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union today objected to a U.S. request for United Nations action on the Viet Nam conflict. It called the U.S. move a diversionary tactic designed to hide plans to expand the war.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko addressed the U.N. Security Council immediately after U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg had urged U.N. efforts to set up a Viet Nam peace conference. Goldberg proposed that both North and South Viet Nam be invited to take part in council discussions.

He accused the U.S. delegate of distorting the situation, and said Goldberg had confirmed that Washington was not interested in a settlement, but was merely seeking to stage a propaganda show in the council.

Goldberg told the council he believed it would be useful to have representatives of Saigon and Hanoi appear during the current council debate. The primary question, however, was whether the 15-nation council would ignore the Soviet protest and take up the Viet Nam problem.

Nine affirmative votes would be required for inclusion of the issue on the agenda. The big-power veto does not apply.

Fedorenko had declined to tell newsmen in advance what attitude he would take.

BOMBING CONTINUES

U.S., Allied Vise Pinches Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. warplanes hammered at targets in North Viet Nam again today, while on the ground American and Allied forces caught the Viet Cong in a giant vise along South Viet Nam's coastal plains and sent them sprawling into retreat after 488 were reported killed.

An Air Force spokesman said three American planes — one Air Force and two Navy jets — were lost in the first day of air attacks on the Communist North after the 37-day bombing pause. There were no details yet on the second day of the raids.

The pilots of the two Navy planes were rescued, but the pilot of an Air Force F-105 Thunderchief was missing about 20 miles south of Vinh. He pulled into cloud cover and disappeared. Rescue efforts were called off after a search, the spokesman said.

Radio Hanoi claimed yesterday that North Vietnamese gunners had downed five American planes and damaged 10 others.

As U.S. Air Force and Navy carrier planes roared over the north again, the combined allied Operation Masher in the ricefields and jungles 290 miles northeast of Saigon smashed at a large Viet Cong force from three sides. Some of the guerrillas were reported ripping off their green jungle fighting suits and donning the black pajamas of the Vietnamese peasantry in a desperate effort to escape.

In addition to the 488 dead reported, six days of heavy fighting with the hard-core Viet Cong backed up by North Vietnamese regulars yielded 12 enemy prisoners and 408 suspects. A U.S. Army spokesman said intelligence had established that 75 per cent of the suspects are Viet Cong.

The battle raged over an area 13 miles wide and 10 miles deep. Units of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division were pressing the Communists from the south and west, while South Vietnamese and South Korean marines were hitting from other directions.

An American spokesman said the battering by ground forces,

Hedda Hopper Dies At 75

The former actress succumbed in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where she was taken Sunday. Her condition had worsened after she contracted a virus infection last Friday. See also story, page 2.

The other, Louella Parsons, is ailing in a movie colony rest home.

Born Ilda Furry in Hollidaysburg, Pa., in 1890 as one of nine children of Quaker parents, Miss Hopper ran away to New York City at age 18 to become an actress.

Miss Hopper complained of a cold last Friday. She stayed home on Saturday, then her condition worsened. Dr. Rex Kennamer ordered her to the hospital on Sunday, where her condition developed into double pneumonia. She then suffered a heart complication.

Baby Electrocuted In Home Accident

ROHNERVILLE, Humboldt County (UPI) — A 15-month-old girl was electrocuted last night when she picked up live wires leading to a washing machine which her mother was trying to repair.

Authorities said 220 volts apparently flowed through the body of Vicki Jacobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jacobson. Mrs. Jacobson and a neighbor were working on the machine and had mistakenly believed they had pulled all the fuses when Vicki started playing with the wires.

Study Urged On Annexing Terra Linda To San Rafael

Study of annexing all of Terra Linda to the City of San Rafael was urged today by John F. Barrows, executive officer of Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Barrows, who is also assistant county administrator, made the recommendation in connection with request of owners of 54 acres at the southwest corner of Lucas Valley Road and Highway 101 to annex to the city.

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District have protested the move because of loss in assessment when the area is removed from their districts. Assessed value in the area is $126,230 and the Lucas Green shopping center is proposed on nine of the 54 acres.

The local agency formation commission will hold a hearing on the proposed annexation at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Civic Center. But Barrows will recommend that the hearing be continued to March 3 to give time for representatives of the two districts and city officials to get together on "a mutually agreeable annexation proposal" of all of Terra Linda that could be presented to Terra Linda residents for vote.

The 54 acres is uninhabited territory and requires no election for annexation. If it were annexed to the city, Terra Linda would be left as an island of unincorporated territory within San Rafael.

Creation of such islands by annexation was illegal until September, when new legislation gave local agency formation commissions the option of waiving the prohibition.

Big Storm Eases; Citrus Imperiled

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snowfall eased today in the big Eastern storm, but cold, gusty winds continued to pile drifts, bedeviling efforts to clear roads in smothered communities and a new storm spread 4 to 8 inches of snow northeastward out of the southern Plains.

Syracuse, N.Y. still was in the grip of blizzardy snow squalls blowing off Lake Ontario. Four feet of snow covered some parts of the city.

The Weather Bureau said that the record January snowfall included 43 inches at Worcester, Mass., 41 inches at both Burlington, Vt., and Roanoke, Va., and 32 inches at Lynchburg,

Statewide emergencies were declared for Pennsylvania and Delaware where hundreds of travelers and rural dwellers were still isolated by road blockades caused by drifts of 10 feet or more. In Virginia, the snow dunes were reported 15 feet high.

With communications hampered, there was no way of assessing the cost in lives or dollars of the January storm series. Death counts boggled as human attrition took many forms including fire fatalities, freezing, and heart attacks from snow removal exertion.

In Florida, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Florida growers moved swiftly today to bring in West Indian laborers to help harvest millions of boxes of citrus hard hit by cold weather.

Wirtz, who had insisted that domestic labor be used to harvest the crops in Florida, relented after weekend subfreezing temperatures swept the state. Growers, fighting desperately to salvage their fruit, were grateful.

Gov. Haydon Burns telegraphed Wirtz Monday saying, "Your immediate approval of emergency offshore labor is sorely needed and will be greatly appreciated."

Approval was quickly granted, and Burns said no limit was placed on the number of West Indian laborers who would be allowed to work in Florida.

Dry, cold air spread frost over the entire state, forcing growers to begin to harvest millions of boxes of citrus immediately. The fruit must be gathered quickly after the frost, and growers say sufficient domestic labor is not available.

Rutledge estimated 15 million boxes of oranges and 43 million boxes of Valencias remain on the trees. About 20 million boxes of grapefruit have yet to be harvested.

Bomb Raids Bring Back The Marchers

OAKLAND (AP)—Resumption of bombing raids on North Viet Nam has inspired new demonstrations by groups opposed to the U.S. role in Southeast Asia.

About 350 marched yesterday from Berkeley, and with police protection all the way, invaded the offices of Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan, D-Calif., in adjacent Oakland. Cohelan was in Washington.

About 180 were led inside by Robert Scheer, a magazine ritter opposed to American intervention in Viet Nam. He is an announced candidate against Cohelan in the June Democratic primary.

Stanford University also was the scene of protest with an estimated 800 gathered in White Plaza to hear speeches attacking the decision to resume bombing. Nearby, a group of fraternity men burned an effigy of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh.

A student and professor strike suggested by the Stanford Committee for Peace in Viet Nam failed to gain momentum, with school officials reporting only about six classes affected.

In Oakland, some of the demonstrators wanted to risk arrest by staying all night in Cohelan's offices on the eighth floor of the Latham Building.

Buf after Scheer said that sitting-in after the 7 p.m. building closing time wouldn't have any "serious political effect," the demonstrators voted to leave.

Juvenile Charged

A 17-year-old Novato boy was booked into juvenile hall yesterday by Novato police who charge that he allegedly offered cash to two boys, 12 and 13 years old, to commit lewd acts.

No End In Sight For Taft-Hartley Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate resumes debate today on the union shop bill with no end to the talkfest in sight.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he will begin holding seven-hour or eight-hour sessions in his attempt to wear out opponents of the bill which would repeal the right of states to outlaw union shop contracts.

Buster Keaton Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Buster Keaton, 70, the baggy-pants comedian of the silent screen, died today, of lung cancer at his home in suburban Woodland Hills.

Keaton had been under treatment for cancer for about three months.

He was one of the great comics of the silent screen era and one of the last surviving giants of that day. He had been in show business nearly all his life, starting as a child. In recent years he had done character spots in movies and guest shots on television shows.

Viet Bombing Hardly Stirs Disarm Talks

GENEVA (UPI) —The Communists reacted with surprising mildness at the disarmament conference today to the resumption of American bombing of North Viet Nam.

Western officials said the cool reaction was "a good omen," particularly in view of the fact that Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin did not speak at all.

Tsarapkin left it to Czechoslovakia to attack the United States for "increasing is forces and expanding its activities in Viet Nam" and for resuming its "barbarous bombing."

This was the only Communist bloc reference to Viet Nam.

After the 65-minute session, Tsarapkin told reporters the resumption of bombing is "bad and does not facilitate our work."

"But I have already said that the to issues, Viet Nam and our negotiations, should not be connected," he said.

"What was not said today was the most significant thing about the meeting," an American spokesman said.

Test Results Publicity Criticized By Rafferty

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California school chief Max Rafferty has joined a group of educators and lawmakers in a chorus of criticism over the release of student achievement test results.

"I deplore setting school against school and district against district," the state superintendent of public instruction said yesterday.

Rafferty's criticism was directed at the Assembly Education Committee which, through a subcommittee earlier this month, disclosed test results from 140 state school districts.

Individual school districts have made the results from their schools known before and have compared them with the statewide average. But there hasn't been district-by-district comparisons.

The testing program, begun in 1961, prohibits the reporting of a district's test results by the state superintendent's office without the permission of the district school board.

The education subcommittee, however, cited a legislative counsel ruling allowing release of the information for the first time.

The program tested achievement in such areas as arithmetic and spelling in the 5th, 8th and 11th grades. The subcommittee released the 5th grade results, a test used by about 1,000 of the state's 1,411 school districts.

The results showed where the 140 districts stood in relation to other districts and concluded that the smaller the class size, the higher the student achievement in basic elementary school skills.

The California Teachers Assn. in a survey conducted after the Assembly hearing, said several state legislators and numerous educators were sharply critical of the release of such information.

The survey said four members of the Assembly Education Committee, the eight members of the State Board of Education's advisory committee on testing, educators and teaching leaders agreed that such disclosures are "dangerously misleading without detailed interpretation." A spokesman for the rival American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, said he thought the public had a right to know such information, assuming adequate explanatory material was provided.

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Former Lt. Gov. Harold J. (Butch) Powers was convicted yesterday in Municipal Court of a traffic charge involving the right-of-way law.

Powers, now director of the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards, will be sentenced tomorrow.

Little League Park Site Is Endorsed

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night endorsed a proposal for a Little League ball park on the Rancho School site.

The proposition was then presented a second time to the city council, with Mayor Robert D. Carrow and Councilman Lucille Cannon absent, after a public hearing on the recreation phase of the Novato master plan. The council agreed to take up the matter at 8 p.m. today when it holds its second public hearing on the plan.

The plan, as outlined by Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, calls for the Little League to install a ball park on the school site, then turn it over to the city for maintenance under the city-school recreation agreement.

The city plans to buy adjacent land for a city park. The Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce has volunteered to erect a tiny-tot playground on the city land, Adams said.

Improvements on the city land would cost between $4,500 and $5,000, Adams estimated. He suggested the city might dispense with hiring a juvenile officer and use part of the $6,600 budgeted for that purpose to develop the park.

"The Kiwanis Club had pledged $1,000 for a park in memory of Jay Links, and maybe they would use it here," Adams said.

He disclosed he had already asked the Novato Civic Foundation to purchase the lots for the city, prior to the city getting its money from its special 30-cent park acquisition tax.

The Little League proposition was made to the Novato Unified School District board last week, but it delayed action on it pending opinions from both the county counsel and the state on whether the Little League, a private corporation, could legally put a ball park on school land owned by the state.

ANNUAL REPORT

Police Kept Busy In Corte Madera

Corte Madera police made 112 per cent more arrests last year than they did in 1964. They also investigated 33.5 per cent more cases of major crime.

These statistics and others were revealed last night in Police Chief Frank L. Nelson's annual report to the town council. As fire chief, Nelson also reported that property losses due to fire for 1965 totaled $30,415, compared to $25,925 in 1964.

Among major crimes, the largest percentage increase was in sex cases. The department investigated 17 such cases last year, compared with seven in 1964.

Largest number of crimes last year were petty theft, with such cases investigated jumping from 117 in 1964 to 176. Next was malicious mischief. This category increased from 122 cases in 1964 to 168 cases last year.

The number of grand theft cases increased from seven to 12. Burglary cases decreased from 85 to 79. The town had one case of robbery in 1964 and two cases last year. It had one case of rape in 1964 and none last year.

Greatest decrease in crime, the chief reported, was in the category of forged checks. The town had 46.4 per cent fewer of these cases last year—from 69 in 1964 down to 37 in 1965.

The town had 114 more major crimes last year than the year before and made 119 more arrests. It had only 17 more traffic accidents and issued 132 more traffic citations.

He made a complaint common in most police departments today concerning the courts and criminals:

"With the laws constantly changing and the decisions of the courts leaning more and more toward the rights of the individual, it is getting very difficult . . . to get either warrants of arrest or convictions in court. It appears this trend is going to be with us for a long time, making the clearing of crimes reported a much harder job."

Despite the more than $4,000 increase in damage from fires in town over 1964, Nelson termed the damages for 1965 minimal.

The reports were accepted without comment by the town council.

Money Taken From Shop In Sausalito

Burglars forced open three doors on Sausalito's floating shop, Trade Fair, aboard the ferry boat Berkeley, and stole $300 in currency and coins from cash registers and money bags in the office file cabinets.

Harold Sillery, an employee who lives at 595 Bridgeway, reported the burglary Sunday, saying thieves entered the Trade Fair between 6 p.m. Saturday and 8:40 a.m. Sunday.

Police said the burglars pried the lock on the left side door of the boat, went to the top deck and forced open another door. This led them back down to the main deck where they broke open a third door leading to the shop.

President of the Sausalito Foundation is Jack R. Wagner.

Stolen Shotguns Are Recovered

Three shotguns stolen in Belvedere last Tuesday night were recovered in San Francisco yesterday, and a Millbrae man was arrested on suspicion of possession of stolen goods.

The guns, valued at $2,720, were stolen from the locked trunk of L. H. Easterling's car, parked in front of his home at 8 Maybridge Road.

They were recovered at a furniture store on Mission Street in San Francisco. An employee of the store, Lido Christofani, 42, of Millbrae, was booked at San Francisco County Jail, Belvedere Police Chief William S. Woodington reported.

A Rockefeller Becomes A Demo

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Another Rockefeller has entered politics — but in West Virginia of all places, and as a Democrat, of all things.

He is John D. (Jay) Rockefeller IV, great grandson of the empire builder and member of one of the nation's best-known Republican families.

Now 28, he was a registered Republican for five years. "The decision in itself was not difficult," he said. "But you just don't walk out on that much tradition without a lot of thought."

Jay said he went to Arkansas to talk with Winthrop and recently met with Nelson in New York. "I received their support," he said, "because it's important to them that I do what makes sense for me as a person."

Corte Madera To Allow Two Dances Each Month

The Corte Madera Town Council last night directed the town attorney to prepare an amendment to the business license ordinance which would allow two dances each month in the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

At present, the town allows three dances every two months. Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher suggested this be changed, pointing out that the present system makes possible three dances in one month and fails to delineate where each two-month period begins and ends.

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton voiced the only objection to the proposed amendment, reminding that "we've had trouble with these dances before."

Carl Brown of the Corte Madera Lions Club, which manages the recreation center, told the council that close restrictions are placed on every dance held in the building.

These include:

Dress is regulated — no jeans, shorts or capris for girls; boys must wear coats and ties during the school year. Advertisement for the dances is restricted to within Marin County. No more than 500 persons are allowed in for any dance. Promoter must hire services of six uniformed police officers.

Councilmen agreed the ordinance will be introduced next Monday night and go into effect in March if adopted.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Called for bids Feb. 18 at 2 p.m. on a new fire engine which will pump 1,000 gallons of water per minute. Budget allocation for the vehicle is $27,000.

2. Approved a change order for less expensive heating duct and window sash material in remodeling the town hall, at a saving of $1,368.

3. Agreed to pay $90 for Corte Madera's share of a $2,000 study of a drainage system for industrial property around Industrial Way east of Highway 101. Remainder will be paid by property owners and the City of Larkspur.

4. Passed a resolution releasing the Corte Madera Sanitary District from liability for any damage to Paradise Drive during recent relocation of a sewer line there.

5. Heard from Usher about progress on the town's proposed uniform traffic ordinance which will allow changes in traffic regulations through the adoption of resolutions instead of ordinances.

6. Renewed, for two years, the permit for D. F. Short to operate an accounting office in his home at 622 Tamalpais Drive.

7. Adopted a resolution calling for a municipal election April 12.

8. Proclaimed Feb. 20-27 "National Brotherhood Week" in Corte Madera.

Visitors Bureau Installs Officers

Other new officers were Al L. Neiri of Novato and Frank Mesta of San Anselmo, vice presidents; Esther Dearth of San Rafael, secretary; and Glenn W. Sleezer of San Rafael, treasurer.

New directors are Nick Kobseff of Nicasio and Gordon F. Jones of San Rafael.

Suspects Both Use Same Name

Corte Madera police yesterday jailed two women, both of whom identified themselves as Shirley Johnson, 22, of San Francisco, after they were placed under citizen's arrest for petty theft by Raymond J. Guerra, Montgomery Ward and Co. security officer.

The first Miss Johnson, who gave her address as Turk Street, San Francisco, was caught stealing a $46 knit suit and a blouse, Guerra said.

The second, who said she lived on Haight Street, was caught stealing three $65 suits, the security officer said. He also charged her with resisting arrest, saying she fought him.

Driver Treated

Christine B. Parr, 22, of 146 Ross Street, San Rafael, was cut on the forehead when her southbound car skidded on Highway 101 just north of the Alto overpass and hit the center chain link fence at 11:45 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported. She was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Supervisors Hire New Parks Chief

Marin County supervisors today hired Pierre W. Joske at $14,400 a year to serve as county park and recreation director, filling a post that has been vacant for four months.

Joske, who will start work in Marin March 1, is chief of park planning for the Los Angeles County Park and Recreation Department. He was one of the three men interviewed in a closed session of the board of supervisors and park and recreation commission this morning.

Both the commission and supervisors were unanimous in favor of Joske, County Administrator Alan Bruce reported.

Joske, 38, is a native of Panorama City, Los Angeles County. He attended Lycee de Nice, France; Ecole d'Horticulture d'Antibes, France, and California Polytechnic College at San Dimas, and received a bachelor of science degree in ornamental horticulture and landscape architecture.

In 1943-45 he was an estate gardener and fruit farm manager in Southern France. In 1949-53 he was foreman for Landscape Construction Co. in New York suburbs and later in Southern California. He was in the Los Angeles County engineer's office, 1956-63, and was appointed to the Los Angeles County Parks and Recreation Department in 1964.

He and his wife have three children.

PARKING

Under parallel parking, here are the comparable figures:

Each parking space will extend eight feet from the curb. Cars parked on opposite curbs will thus take up 16 feet. This leaves 35 feet in the center for through traffic. That is enough for almost four lanes of moving traffic between cars parked on both sides of the street.

How about the revenue from the 89 meters that would be lost by a changeover to parallel?

The city finance officer estimates that each meter brings in an average of $120 per year. That would be almost $10,700 per year from 89 meters.

However, the loss of 89 meters would not mean that all customers who would have used those meters would stop coming into town. There are other parking stalls within a block of Fourth Street (such as the off-street lot at Third and Lootens) that are unfilled today. The upper deck of the Third and Lootens lots remains nearly empty.

Therefore, of the $10,700 "lost" from 89 meters, the finance officer estimates that 75 per cent ($8,025) would be "regained" from fuller use of other parking spaces within a block or two of Fourth Street. This would mean a net loss of $2,675 per year in meter revenue.

The current revenue from all meters in the San Rafael Parking District is about $135,000 per year.

History Month

healthy man," who, after "a great deal of reflection" had decided to embark on the long campaign. He said "my choice was clear."

But in an informal office chat with newsmen the afternoon before, he conceded his wife, Bernice, was "not too enthusiastic."

He promised California's 19 million citizens to continue what he considers his administration's big achievement: "To steer their government on a progressive course to work with them in building a good life for today and a better life for their children."

He pointed to work on the huge project to ship water to dry Southern California; a higher education system to "assure every son and daughter of this state a chance to win a college degree;" "financial policies which have encouraged business to invest billions of dollars in California;" and expanding recreation developments.

He talked, too, of the administration's pioneering effort to use space age scientists "to invent better ways to get another man off welfare and into a useful life; invent a better way to get a father to and from work."

In the months ahead, he said, he will spell out new programs for education, water development, expanding the economy, fighting crime, "for doing the jobs the people of California entrust to their government . . ."

"And I will ask Republicans and Democrats; business and labor, to join me," he said.

Brown's pledge to serve out a third term—hedged only by the reference to the U.S. Supreme Court—was made to newsmen during the informal chat the day before the formal announcement.

As for the chances of receiving such an appointment, Brown said "the President has never suggested that I take a place in the federal government, whatsoever." Johnson, he added, told him recently, "I want you to run" for another term.

Ike Supports Bombing Plan

PALM DESERT (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said today he supports President Johnson's order resuming bombing of military targets in North Viet Nam.

Gen. Eisenhower told newsmen at his winter office in nearby Indio:

"Our relations with Southeast Asia are important to us. It is my view that we must never allow any of our friends in that region to believe we have weakened—or shall weaken — in our purpose of supporting freedom.

"Should our actions be so interpreted, I think it would be a very dark day for America."

Greek Crewmen Saved From Ship

A Coast Guard plane dropped liferafts near the Liberian-registered vessel, Rockport, 1,000 miles northwest of Honolulu. The 13 made it safely to the U.S. military transport, General Walker.

Other crewmen were ready to be ferried to the transport in liferafts.

craft transportation. He said that "in five years SFO has expanded from two helicopters carrying 2,000 passengers a month to five large helicopters carrying 20,000 a month." He predicted that in another five years one million persons a month will be carried by helicopters and hovercraft in the Bay Area.

Others were less optimistic that the commuter would abandon his automobile. Albert Elledge of Crowley Tugboat and Launch Co. said his Tiburon-San Francisco ferry service broke even last September for the first time since operation began in August, 1962.

The firm's boats, Harbor King and Harbor Queen, steaming from Tiburon at 7:30 a.m. and the Ferry Building in San Francisco at 5:30 p.m., carried 110 passengers each way on the 35-minute, 7-mile run. The service would be profitable, he said, if it reached anything like the boat's 400-passenger capacity.

"There are hundreds of people just in Tiburon who could use it," he said somewhat plaintively. "But the commuter is close to Highway 101 and he's not going to drive to Tiburon. He's just going to keep on going in his car."

Elledge also made it clear that his ferry service would be nowhere near the break-even point if it were not for the sight-seeing operation that carries the capital investment and administrative costs of the boats.

Commissioner John C. Beckett described the potential of the electric automobile, made possible by recent development of a zinc-air battery.

Such a battery, Beckett said, would have only one-fourth the weight for the same power yield as the present lead-acid battery. Till now, according to Beckett, it has been the weight of the conventional battery that has made an electric car impractical.

Because of the very low maintenance of an electric car, he said, it would be possible for public transportation systems to own fleets of them, making them available to commuters at various terminals.

"The individual," Beckett said, "would not need to own a car for commuting. He would subscribe to the service much as he does to a public utility for power."

In the situation imagined by Beckett, a Marin County commuter would drive from his home in a publicly owned electric car to some central rapid transit terminal, turning in his car on arrival. On his return to the terminal in the evening, he would pick up another car for the drive to his house.

Other advantages of the electric car would be noise and smog abatement, he said.

Joseph Dove, of Food Machinery Corp.'s ordnance division, reported on hydrofoil craft and said that only public acceptance was holding back their full development and use on the bay.

All of the speakers touched on the need for adequate parking facilities near all trans-bay terminals and for adequate public transportation at destination points, if the commuter is to be wooed from his automobile.

Earlier yesterday, the commission approved a final study design of Bay Area transportation requirements to cost $4,425,000—an increase of $960,000 over its preliminary estimate.

The commission's work is financed primarily by federal and state agencies, with lesser contributions from the nine Bay Area counties.

Leydecker Will Miss Grand Jury's Hearing

Byron W. Leydecker, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, will not appear before the county grand jury tomorrow when the jury investigates the hiring of Leydecker's neighbor, John M. Douglas as director of economic development.

Leydecker, who returned yesterday from Palm Springs, will be in New York on a business trip tomorrow and Thursday, he said. He reported he talked to George R. Scott, grand jury foreman, and Scott said Leydecker could testify at a later hearing as the jury probably would not complete its work tomorrow.

Auditor Finds No Minutes For Bel Marin Keys Board

By RICHARD LYTTLE

No minutes have been taken of meetings of the Bel Marin Keys community services district board of directors since December, 1963.

There was no required legal notice published for a meeting when the budget for the current fiscal year was adopted by directors.

The audit found that expenditures by the district for street lighting and pumping stations were legitimate, but that there were many technical errors.

Developers of Bel Marin Keys are the district directors: Jack H. West Sr., his wife, Leona West and Jack H. West Jr. They were elected by nine voters, including the Wests, when the district was formed in 1961. There has been no subsequent elections, although the law required elections in 1962 and 1964.

The audit further showed that none of the directors has ever taken an oath of office before the county clerk, as required by law, and that there was no attempt to classify themselves by length of term.

Mitchell recommended that formal minutes be kept, that an election be held either on the regular April 12 date or consolidated with the June 7 primary, and that all bills against the district be approved by the directors and the approval reflected in the minutes.

Directors on Jan. 14 agreed to hold the election April 12, reported Leland H. Jordan, attorney for the district.

Mitchell further recommended that district directors work more closely with their attorney and "explicitly follow his advice on all matters concerning the operation of the district."

Jordan said Mrs. West's term will expire April 12 and that the other two Wests want to resign.

County Opposes Annexation To Lighting District

Marin County supervisors today denied the proposed annexation of the 12-lot Bella Vista subdivision on Novato Boulevard to the Novato County Lighting District.

The action means that the tract will have to be annexed to the City of Novato if it is to have street lighting.

J. Julien Baget, Novato city manager, said the city was constantly struggling to round out its borders and annexation to a county lighting district of a tract adjacent to the city would hamper this struggle.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker spoke in favor of a policy of having areas demanding municipal level services becoming part of cities. Supervisor Peter H. Behr asked for a report on the effect of such a policy on all cities and their area of influence.

Novato Youngster Missing Again

James Allen Price, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Price of 35 Crescent Lane, Novato, was missing from his home today and listed as a runaway by Novato police.

His father last night reported to police that James had left home about 6 p.m. Sunday and had not returned. This was the third time that he had runaway, the elder Price told police.

James was listed as five feet eight inches tall, weighing 165 pounds, of medium build, blonde hair, blue eyes and fair skinned. He was wearing white jeans, a light shirt, a blue jacket and black Oxfords when last seen, according to police.

Ross Creates Board On Building Appeals

A five-member board of appeals to rule on findings of the city's building inspector has been appointed by Mayor Frederick S. Allen of Ross.

Appointed were three San Anselmans, David H. Smith and David S. Brodner, electrical contractors, and Jerry Commis, plumbing contractor, and two from San Rafael, Homer Scott and Leonard Murphy, both general contractors.

Lagunitas Bond Issue Debated

About 100 people attended a debate last night on whether Lagunitas School District voters should approve a $200,000 bond issue and $400,000 state loan request in the district's Feb. 15 election.

The debate, at Lagunitas School, was sponsored by the San Geronimo Valley Assn. Speakers were Robert E. Lea of Lagunitas, favoring the bonds, and Jack M. Barnes of Woodacre, opposing them.

Jean A. Bevans, association speaker, said the session lasted two hours and 15 minutes, of which more than an hour was devoted to questions from the audience.

Controversy over the election has centered on the district's pledge to buy and build on a site in central Woodacre. Opposition to the bonds and loan has been spearheaded by residents of the proposed site, including Barnes.

Humboldt County Set As Disaster Area

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—President Johnson has declared Humboldt County a "major disaster area" due to January rains and allocated $1 million to make repairs, Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced yesterday.

Brown, who asked for the disaster designation Jan. 17, said estimates of damage to public facilities in the county totaled more than $4 million.

Convict's Girl Testifies In Assault Trial

The prosecution finished its testimony at 11 a.m. today in the Marin Superior Court jury retrial of Robert Gene Glover, 33, charged with assaulting a fellow San Quentin Prison inmate in 1963.

Last witness was Mrs. Dolores Dutra, 30, Novato fiancee of the defendant and whose receipt of some 500 love letters from Glover has been an issue in the trial.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw, who subpoenaed Mrs. Dutra and the letters on contention they might contain information about the assault, said today he read all correspondence released to him through Mrs. Dutra by W. O. Weissich, attorney for Glover.

Status of any possible remaining letters was not immediately determined.

Defense testimony began shortly before noon.

A jury which included Mrs. Dutra convicted him of the assault, but the First District Court of Appeals, San Francisco, granted the new trial. Mrs. Dutra has testified she and Glover fell in love during correspondence since the original trial.

Food Rioting Spreads In India

NEW DELHI (UPI) —Food riots spread throughout Communist-dominated Kerald state in southern India today and police used tear gas and metal-tipped clubs to battle the growing disturbances.

The government arrested E. M. S. Namboodiripad, leader of the pro-Peking faction of the Kerala state Communist party, in an effort to cut the protest movement at its source.

More than 150 other persons, mostly Communist dock workers, also were being held.

Planned Community Zone Is Challenged

A suit challenging the legality of planned community zoning by Marin County, believed to be the first such case in California, was filed today in Marin Superior Court.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs said basis of the suit is that such zoning has no standard to go by, that restrictions for each such community can vary, and therefore the zoning is not fair or just to residents.

The suit, filed on behalf of Marin Assn. for Planning and two couples, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Van Der Male and Mr. and Mrs. Hal McIntyre, whose homes are in the Wolfback Ridge area, near the proposed Marincello community, ask that the planned community zoning portion of Marin County Code be declared unconstitutional and illegal.

It also asks that all resolutions, ordinances and permits resulting for the zoning be nullified, and seeks a temporary and permanent injunction preventing any further adoption of resolutions or ordinances on a basis of that zoning.

Defendants are the county board of supervisors, county planning commission; Donald Zucker, county planning director, and Donald R. Frost, county director of public works.

The board of supervisors adopted the Marin County Code, which included the planned community zoning portion, last March 9. The suit states that since adoption, certain parcels of land have been rezoned into the planning community districts, and others are in the process of such rezoning.

It adds that the Van Der Males and McIntyres are owners of property immediately adjacent to one such parcel rezoned into a planned community district, and would suffer "great and irreparable injury" unless an injunction is granted.

Plaintiffs charge the development of such districts will create vested rights in the developers and owners of the property involved, that traffic, fire and health hazards may develop, and undesirable congestion or density of land uses would depreciate land values of adjacent property.

In addition, according to the suit, taxes may be increased. Attorneys for the plaintiffs are Stephen H. Kaufmann and Leonard J. Bloom.

William Dampier, the buccaneer, in 1688 was the first Englishman to visit Australia.

Two-Car Wreck Traps Woman Behind Wheel

A Sausalito woman was trapped for 45 minutes yesterday between the steering wheel and seat of her car, after an auto accident on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, firemen and the California Highway Patrol reported.

Mary C. Somers, 26, of 1 Ebbtide Street, Apt. 4, Sausalito, had to be pried from the car at 4 p.m. after the accident at 3:15 p.m. on Drake Boulevard, Kentfield Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp said.

The patrol said Darleen F. Small, 21, of San Francisco, had just turned right into the eastbound lane of Drake from College Avenue when she slowed for traffic and was struck from behind by the Somers car. Miss Small complained of neck pains and was to see her own doctor. Miss Somers was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple cuts and bruises.

Sonoma Theft Trial Of Marinite Delayed

Young, formerly of Mill Valley where he conducted an insurance business, is accused of pocketing a $10,000 premium paid by the City of Petaluma.

More Than Inch Of Rain Falls, More Is Expected

Marin County enjoyed a brief reprieve at midday today from rain which swept over the area during the night, dumping well over an inch in many places.

The break in the clouds is not expected to last long, however, and the Weather Bureau predicts more rain tomorrow.

Hail was reported last night in Sausalito.

Lt. Jerry Wolfram of the 666th Radar Squadron atop Mount Tamalpais reported that hail, beating on his windows, kept him awake for 20 minutes during the night.

The largest amounts of rain recorded in the 24 hours up to 8 a.m. today were at Mill Valley and San Anselmo where 1.3 inches were reported.

Other places to hit the inch mark and over were Ross 1.11 inches, Chevy Chase (Larkspur) 1.05, and Larkspur 1.02.

Other rainfall figures included Bolinas .87, San Rafael .82, Belvedere and Terra Linda .8, Sausalito .78, and Novato .75.

Sanitary Board Annexes Parcels

It raised the salary of Inez Burdick, secretary, from $415 to $436 per month.

It set Feb. 10, 17 and 28 for meeting dates this month.

Parks Planner Praises Novato For Foresight

Novato, with its master plan for parks, is out in front of the rest of the county, Walter Horchler, Marin County senior planner, last night told a public hearing on the parks and recreation phase of the Novato master plan at the Novato Community House.

The plan was presented to three members of the city council, with Mayor Robert C. Carrow and Lucille Cannon absent, and to the parks and recreation commission and approximately 15 spectators.

"This is the last possible time to preserve some of the charming atmosphere of Novato," Horchler said.

The plan, based on a projection of 180,000 population in the area in the year 2000, calls for one acre of neighborhood parks per 1,000 population. The area includes not only the present limits of Novato, but also unincorporated area west to Hicks Valley and north to the Sonoma County line.

Major parks would be at Canyon Lake off Canyon Road, at Deer Island, in uplands north of Stafford Lake, and on the hill north of Marion School.

"I am happy to report that the county list now puts Stafford Lake park in top priority," Hodchler said. He said he hoped the county could apply for federal funds for that park by Feb. 28.

In the original estimate, Horchler put the cost of the proposed park system for Novato at approximately three million dollars. This would include $1,905,100 for land and $1,094,900 for development.

He briefly touched on a plan presented by County Supervisor Peter H. Behr in which Novato's share of a proposed county-city park bond issue would be $779,600, or 39 per cent of the amount allotted to cities.

Mrs. John Machado of 1424 Dames Street, asked whether the neighborhood park sites should be developed in conjunction with schools.

"They definitely should work together whenever they can," Horchler said.

"If this plan goes through, Novato will have the number one spot in the county for parks," he concluded.

The city council adjourned until 8 p.m. today to continue its hearing on the Novato master plan.

$204 Chain Saw Reported Stolen

James, who resides in Rohnert Park, reported the saw was stolen between Dec. 28 and Jan. 5 from a locked tool shed at the tree service headquarters. There was no sign of forced entry, he said.

Teacher's Wife Asks Seat On Board Of Education

There has been one official application so far for the vacancy on the San Rafael Board of Education caused by the resignation of Walter J. Doll, president, although Mayor C. Paul Bettini said today he had received "a number of indirect inquiries."

Leonore E. Cadwallader, 576 Appleberry Drive, Lucas Valley, has sent a letter to City Clerk W. C. Cornwell asking to be considered for the vacancy.

Mrs. Cadwallader, wife of Robert G. Cadwallader, a Kentfield schoolteacher, said yesterday: "I have been interested in the San Rafael Board of Education for eight years now, attending its meetings regularly.

"My voluntary work has included being a teacher's aide, a library aide, and I am also a member of the Council of Music and Arts for the Dixie School District." She said that prior to her interest in San Rafael, she attended education meetings at Kentfield, Sausalito and Mill Valley and also has done freelance writing on educational subjects.

The city council has 20 days to fill the vacancy from the date the letter was received by the city clerk last Thursday.

The council has only one regular meeting—next Monday—before the notice expires on Feb. 16. According to the charter, if the vacancy were not filled within the 20-day period, the school board would fill the empty place itself.

Bettini commented, "I have had several calls from people who have inquired about the vacancy and the likelihood of being able to produce a candidate, but no names were mentioned."

Doll is resigning from the board because of business pressures and family responsibilities, he said.

The odds against each of the four players in a bridge game being dealt a perfect hand, all cards of the same suit, are 2,235,197,406,895,366,368,301,559,999 to 1, according to the Encyclopedia of Bridge.

Supervisors Disagree On Planning Vacancy

Marin County supervisors began today to discuss a replacement for Felix M. Warburg on the county planning commission, and ran into a controversy at once.

Warburg submitted his resignation yesterday.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said he hoped the board would pick a replacement who is "down the middle, representing neither development or conservation interests, and is a true, bona fide businessman."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr declared that those "in between are the ones who stay home and look at the idiot box." Behr said he would prefer a man with some integrity of thought, even if he were representing development interests.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss said the replacement should be someone with architectural experience.

Warburg was an at-large member of the commission, meaning that all board members will have a hand in finding a replacement and he can be a resident of any part of the county.

Supervisors did agree that anyone interested in serving should submit application in writing to the board.

WORSE THAN SKUNKS?

Previous Victim Has Sad News For Ousted Family

It may have been something "much worse than a skunk" that some days ago forced a family of three to flee a house at the end of Ivy Lane in Woodacre.

And that's bad news for the Al Chelimies, who returned today in the hope of invading animal was gone.

Said Mrs. Joyce: "They smell worse than a skunk and they never really leave the place they've once mated in. They have five or six in a litter and they litter four times a year."

Mrs. Joyce's first anguished encounter with civet cats was about three years ago in her home on Aztec Road in Forest Knolls.

She learned about the Chelimes' plight after reading in the Independent-Journal that Bard Clow, agent for the Woodacre house, had complained about a skunk to the county health department, agricultural commissioner and humane society with no results.

"Nobody would help me either," she said, "but I studied the damn things." As a result of her studies, Mrs. Joyce had a few pointers for Clow, whom she phoned:

First, board up the two-inch hole in the wall behind the sink. The five or six-pound civet can get through it. "It's long and slender," she said, "with sharp teeth and claws and climbs straight up a five-foot wall."

Second, fumigate the house with formaldehyde and sulphur candles.

Third, spread moth balls everywhere Civet cats, no matter how bad they smell themselves, "can't stand the smell of camphor," she said.

According to Mrs. Joyce, if they haven't already mated and started to multiply, "maybe they won't come back."

Good luck, Mr. and Mrs. Chelimie.

Brown Supports New G.I. Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown wants Congress to move swiftly in approving a new GI bill for Viet Nam veterans and other servicemen who were on duty in the cold war.

Brown said last night that many veterans of the Viet Nam war andd ther military actions have made "sacrifices as great as those veterans of the two world wars and Korea," and should receive educational and other benefits granted to those military men.

He made the appeal in a telegram to Chairman Olin Teague, D-Tex., of the House Veterans Affairs Committee.

Boat's Builders Sailing To Races

Two Mill Valley men, trimaran designer Arthur L. Piver and boat builder Richard Gerling, are en route to Acapulco to then cruise to the Atlantic and participate in the Bermuda-Denmark race in late spring.

Piver, who lives at 50 Marlin Avenue, designed the new racing trimaran the men are sailing and Gerling, 39, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Gerling of 12 St. Jude Road, built the boat.

Court Reverses Verdict On Bruce

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California Supreme Court yesterday reversed a lower court which has ordered comedian Lenny Bruce to a rehabilitation center as a narcotics user.

Justices concluded the evidence was "legally insufficient to substantiate an order of commitment."

The court ordered Bruce's case returned to Superior Court where he was convicted of possessing heroin in 1963 in North Hollywood. That conviction was upheld late last year by the Supreme Court.

Jobs Set Record

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Nonagricultural wage and salary employment—bolstered by temporary jobs in retail stores and post offices—crossed the 10 million mark in the 13 Western states in December for the first time in hisory.

Southern Pacific Wants To Drop Old Lark's Run

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Southern Pacific Co. asked the California Public Utilities Commission yesterday for permission to suspend the Lark.

Because of airplane competition, each of the nightly trains beteen San Francisco and Los Angeles has an average of only 95 passengers, the railroad said.

Trains leave each city each evening.

Southern Pacific also asked to stop the San Joaquin Daylight's trip between Bakersfield and Los Angeles in favor of a bus connection. It would continue the rail links between San Francisco and Bakersfield.

Southern Pacific claimed an out-of-pocket loss of $993,683 for the first 11 months of 1965 on the Lark.

SP also said dropping the Bakersfield - Los Angeles link would reduce the road's annual loss on the train by about $700,000. It now claims a $1,048,000 annual loss.

THE 1966 LEGISLATURE

Lawmakers Will Receive Budget Asking For Over $4.5 Billion

By BILL BOYARSKY
(Second in a series)

SACRAMENTO (AP) — New taxes to pay for another bigger-than-ever budget face a legislature meeting amid the political scrambling of an election year.

A blueprint for spending more than $4.5 billion will be submitted by lawmakers when they convene next Monday. As thick as a big city phone book, it will provide legislators with a giant problem—the need to find new revenue to pay all the bills.

Democratic Gov. Brown estimates the budget deficit will run from $250 to $300 million.

But he came up with a change in accounting methods, and said it will reduce the expected new tax package by about $100 million.

Even with the new plan, there will be new taxes unless the legislature can balance the budget by cutting spending. And any vote on taxes will come while legislators are asking the folks back home to return them to office.

The sharp rise from last year's $4.18 billion budget isn't a new story to Californians. A decade ago, the budget was only $1.8 billion. Twenty years ago, it was less than $700 million.

Why the rise? Where's the money going?

Education takes the biggest slice.

Dr. Ronald Cox, chief of the Education Department's Bureau of Public School Administration, estimated the state will require between $75 million and $100 million more this year to pay for the schooling of children in kindergarten through junior college.

Of this, $51 million is required to be spent under state law, which says school expenditures must keep pace with increasing enrollments. New programs—improving reading instruction, help for handicapped children and others—could cost between $25 million and $49 million more.

And that doesn't include money for the University of California and the state colleges.

Brown said the state will need an additional $75 million for U.C. alone.

More funds will be needed for prisons and parole care for adults and juveniles, reported Richard McGee, administrator of the Youth and Corrections Agency.

Last year's appropriation was $123.6 million, but McGee, citing expansion of parole supervision, said "there's no question it will be higher."

A year ago, Brown asked for $21.6 million for parks and recreation and later got another $40.6 million in bond funds for purchase of parkland.

Estimates in the Resources Agency indicate the administration will ask for some $44 million in bond funds for park acquisitions, plus money for grants for local projects. In addition, the General Fund could be tapped for about $20 million.

Paul Ward, chief of the Health and Welfare Agency, said his budget hasn't been completed. But there's no doubt that it will require more than the $705.5 million taken from the General Fund by the last budget, in addition to county and federal money.

There are other spending boosts. Brown wants a 4 per cent raise for state employees—a $30 million item. He hopes to pay for about half of this by making the employees work harder, thus increasing their output.

Finance Director Hale Champion said the administration's revenue plans haven't been completed. He did say that two bond issues are under consideration—one to provide funds for loans to local school districts and the other to raise money for state construction. But he said the construction bond issue may be trimmed this year, by limiting it to only higher education building.

Many new taxes are under consideration, including a boost in the cigarette tax, higher beer and liquor levies, more bank and corporation taxes, a real estate transfer tax and others.

NEXT: Urban Problems.

Senator McCarthy Vows To Trim State Budget

By WAT TAKESHITA

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, said today that he and his colleagues will work to cut expenses wherever possible in the state budget, when the 1966 legislative session opens on Feb. 7 in Sacramento.

"The major business of the Legislature will be to trim off most of the fat in the budget without damaging or hindering progressive and reasonable programs and not create any more positions in government unless absolutely necessary," the Senate minority leader declared.

McCarthy predicts a "short session" that may wind up in early April because most of the legislators will be eager to get back to their constituencies to campaign for the June election.

McCarthy, himself, is up for re-election in a broadened senatorial district that now includes Napa and most of Solano County, in addition to Marin.

The senator sees little likelihood that local legislation, applying specifically to Marin County, will be placed on special call during the coming budget session.

However, if the occasion arises, he will continue his fight for acquisition of Marin Headlands State Park land and additions to Mount Tamalpais State Park.

Among some of the items that could stand some paring, McCarthy listed these:

1. The governor's request for $350,000 for the Office of Economic Development.

"To me, this is a glorified agency that duplicates existing groups like the chambers of commerce and the Redwood Empire Assn."

2. The governor has requested $50,000 for a California representative in Europe to watch out for the interests of the state in world trade. McCarthy questions the need for this expense.

3. The governor is asking for $128,000 from the tidelands revenue for petroleum engineers to re-examine the Long Beach tidelands oil field.

"A joint legislative committee, of which I am vice chairman, is already looking into the situation. I think the $128,000 expense can be held off, at least until the legislative committee has studied the matter."

McCarthy said he is "leery" of the so-called tax reforms, which sound good on paper but may only mean more taxes on the people.

"I'd advise my colleagues to stop a deficit budget. If the question of state withholding tax comes up, I'll do everything possible to fight it off."

"Our major concern is that the governor seems to forget there is a two-party system. I think it is a healthy thing for the people of California to have representatives from both parties discuss the financial affairs of the state."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Hoard Higher Cards When Your Partner Has Need

At your first bridge lesson you learn that a king is better than a deuce and that it pays to keep your high cards until they can win tricks.

Much later you learn that a plus is better than a minus score and that sometimes you must sacrifice your high cards for the sake of the partnership.

♥ Q J 10 9 5
♦ J 10 6
♣ 9 8.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

You have only 4 points in high cards, and 1 point for the doubleton, but the hand is worth a raise because of the unusually good trump support.

However, do not make the mistake of jumping to four hearts; the distribution is not good enough for that.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

West opened the queen of hearts, and East properly "wasted" his king by playing it at once.

DEUCE UNWISE

If East unwisely played the deuce of hearts at the first trick, South would play low. West would lead another heart, East would have to play the king, and South would again play low.

East would have to shift to another suit, whereupon South would give up a diamond trick and make game with four diamonds, one heart and two tricks in each black suit.

Actually, as we have seen, East played the king of hearts at the first trick, and South played low.

East got out by leading his other heart, and South played low again. This time South was wrong.

UNBLOCKS

West won the second heart trick and led a third heart to force out the ace.

On this trick East cleverly discarded the queen of diamonds.

Now if South tried to develop the diamonds he would have to give the lead to West, whereupon the rest of the hearts would defeat him.

If South tried to develop spades or clubs, he would run into equally bad luck.

South should win the second heart, enter dummy with a spade and lead a diamond through East.

If East plays the queen, South plays low to make sure of losing the diamond trick to East rather than to West.

If East plays a low diamond, South wins and gets to dummy with a club to lead the other diamond through East.

No matter what East does, South gives him a trick with the queen of diamonds and thus safely develops nine tricks.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

Late Buying Partly Offsets Sudden Drop

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed sharply lower today but late buying trimmed some of the worst declines. Trading was heavy.

Stocks broke down in the afternoon in a selling wave that brought losses of several points to some of the high-flying aerospace and electronic issues which have been such big gainers.

No specific news was linked ith the sudden break but selling mushroomed once it got started.

Volume for the day was estimated at 9.8 million shares compared with 7.79 million yesterday.

Key stocks sank from 1 to 2 points. Some of the "high flyers" were off 5 or 6 points.

It looked like the long-awaited "correction" of the rise to nearly 1,000 in the Dow Jones industrial average and there was no specific news development to account for it.

Texas Instruments was down 6, Admiral nearly 5, Northwest Airlines 3, Litton (new), South Puerto Rico Sugar, Reynolds Metals, Bucyrus-Erie, Magnavox and Occidental Petroleum about 2 each.

On bullish news developments, Koppers was up nearly 3 and Witco Chemical 1.

American Telephone, down ½, was at another new low.

Fairchild Camera skidded nearly 8 points. KLM Airlines and Texas Gulf Sulphur lost about 3 each, IBM and Xerox 4 points or so.

Losses of 2 or more were also shown by New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Polaroid, U.S. Smelting, General Electric, Kennecott, Radio Corp., Boeing, United Aircraft.

Off a point or more were Zenith, American Smelting (ex-dividend), Eastman Kodak, Du Pont, International Paper, U.S. Gypsum, Standard Oil of Indiana, Chesapeake and Ohio and many others.

Solano County Deep Well Finds New Gas Zones

RIO VISTA — Signal Oil and Gas Co. has discovered a deep gas zone in the Lindsey slough field, approximately six miles northwest of Rio Vista (Solano County).

The company's Petersen Estate No. 2 well which encountered six producing horizons, extended the field a half mile to the northwest.

The deep K-1 Sand, at 10,172 feet, the deepest and most significant zone, produced gas at a rate of 8 million cubic feet per day on drill stem test through a 33 64 choke. This rate was attained from 26 feet of the 150 foot zone. Commercial production from the K-1 Sand has not previously been encountered in the Sacramento Valley.

Another Office Building Due For Lincoln Avenue Strip

There will be another cluster of modern offices available on the Lincoln Avenue strip, San Rafael by next May—up to 27 units.

James L. Bowler and Ralph Waltz of San Rafael, teamed as B and W Development Co., 24 La Crescenta Way (they did Los Ranchitos Apartments on Merrydale Road), have a two-story building under construction at 1368 Lincoln Avenue. Rentable area will total 9,320 square feet. This is a $250,000 project with building designs by W. R. Beck. Wesley W. Gehrke is the contractor.

Offices are as small as 270 square feet—or the entire second floor can be utilized as a 5,000-square foot suite. B and W isn't in the current phone directory, but information has the listing.

MRS. LUCREZIA KEMPER of Sausalito, prominent west coast advertising woman, has retired from Albert Frank-Guenther Law, Inc., San Francisco with whom she has been associated since 1929. She became a vice president in 1952 and a senior vice president in 1963. During her long career she won many honors — most recent being her selection as "Advertising Woman of the Year" by the San Francisco Advertising Club in 1962.

Mrs. Kemper Suhr

DONALD L. SUHR of Ross, formerly general sales manager for Fox and Carskadon, has joined Dohemann and Co. Now on a vacation, he will be in the commercial development division at Dohemann's office starting Feb. 15.

KEITH E. ROBERTS of Terra Linda Valley, San Rafael has a new assignment with Sears Roebuck and Co.—but he still has a long commute. As of today he is acting manager of the Walnut Creek store. He has been with Sears 16 years—the last two spent as the hardlines merchandise manager at the Hayward store.

W. ROBERT WILSON of Kentfield has been appointed media director for Hoefer, Dieterich and Brown, Inc., San Francisco. He was formerly media director for Campbell-Ewald and before that held similar posts as Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn, Inc. and Guild, Bascom and Bonfigle, Inc. Wilson is a part-time instructor at San Francisco State College in the radio-television-film department.

INSURANCE. John L. Kassab of San Rafael has been appointed manager of the Prudential Insurance Co. office at at 3330 Geary Boulevard, San Francisco. A native of New York, he has been active in life insurance management for 14 years. . . . Ernest Muzatko, regional superintendent of agencies for Pilot Life Insurance, reports his company had all-time sales of over 625 million dollars last year. Insurance in force passed the three-billion mark in December.

SAN ANSELMO travel agent Harry Orrick and wife Jackie will conduct a personalized tour to Portugal, Spain and Morocco, taking off May 2. They made the trip last year and decided to go again, with a limited group not to exceed 18 persons. The tour takes in Lisbon, Seville, Cordoba, Granada, Malaga, Tangier, Algeciras, Madrid, Majorca, Barcelona—and back to New York and San Francisco on jet planes by May 23.

AND SPEAKING OF FLYING, it's pretty hard to miss Bill Melbern of Airport Limousine Service, Sausalito at the San Francisco International Airport these days. He sports a flashy red coat and chauffeur's cap that can be seen almost from the landing strips. You might just be able to make a connection with his return trip to Marin.

Taxes collected by state and local governments in the United States during the 12 months ended June, 1965, totaled $51.6 billion, an increase of $3.8 billion over the previous year, reports the Bureau of the Census.

Some Highways Indicate State Has Green Thumb

The state's Highway Commission, Department of Public Works and the Division of Highways have often been criticized for laying down massive stretches of concrete and pavement over the shortest freeway routes, with no concern for esthetics.

A recent report on state landscaping along Marin highways indicates that much of the criticism is unwarranted.

As of the end of last year, almost a half million dollars had gone into highway landscaping and planting, from Vista Point, just north of Golden Gate Bridge, through Novato.

This half million dollars represents highway improvements that are over and above the minimum needs to move traffic from one point to the next.

It demonstrrates that the State Highway Commission and the State Division of Highways do have an eye for beautification, as well as for the practical job of moving the most traffic over the shortest route in the shortest time under safest circumstances.

Only a few years ago, Vista Point was just a dirt knoll where the quick could swerve their cars off Highway 101 for a short breather and a glimpse of the bay and San Francisco. Today it is paved, lined for parking, landscaped, and has water and other facilities for the convenience of the motoring public.

From the Golden Gate Bridge to Lucas Valley, trees and shrubs have been planted and maintained in various areas, especially at interchanges and overpasses where ugly dirt scars or patches of dead weeds would have resulted, if left unlandscaped.

In the near future, more landscaping projects are planned on Tiburon Highway and along 101 from Lucas Valley to Ignacio to brighten an otherwise harsh stretch of asphalt and macadam with strips of green foliage.

These should effectively refute the blind critics who would have us believe that freeway designers and engineers suffer from a vision that does not extend beyond the traveled pavement.

Marin highways are not the only examples. Hollywood Freeway in Los Angeles, for one, replaced unsightly buildings and constricted streets with a graceful curving thoroughfare, lined with attractive greenery.

In some locations, such as the Corte Madera interchange, attempts at landscaping have been impeded by the forces of nature.

The low stretch through Corte Madera is largely filled marshland with brackish mud a few feet below the surface. Many trees, such as redwoods, planted along the highway have been lost or stunted because of the high saline content of the soil.

The highway people are to be commended for having a few green thumbs, along with their engineers and surveyors.

Johnson Probably Didn't Help Term Plan With His Backing

By JOHN BECKLER
(James Marlow is ill)

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson may not have helped the cause of longer terms for House members by urging it so strongly.

A determined backstage effort to extend the present two-year terms to four years was nearing success in the House without much interest being shown in it until Johnson spoke out.

BUT EVER SINCE he plugged the four-year term in his State of the Union address the issue has been caught in the glare of controversy and its fate is now in doubt.

To win congressional approval, the proposed amendment must pass in both the House and Senate by at least a two-thirds favorable vote--not just a simple majority. Then three-fourths of the state legislatures --38—would have to ratify it for the proposal to become law.

For the first time, mail is coming to Congress on the subject, much of it opposing the longer terms. Newspapers and magazines are taking editorial stands. Voters are discussing it.

All this was much different last year when Rep. Frank Chelf, D-Ky., was quietly, but effectively, lining up support for a four-year-term constitutional amendment.

BY HIS OWN COUNT Chelf wrote more than 8,000 letters to his 534 colleagues in the House and Senate with arguments in support of longer terms. He talked about it at every opportunity, got dozens to introduce amendments.

Working through his fellow members of the House Judiciary Committee he finally pressured Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., an unyielding opponent of the amendment, to hold hearings. Nearly 50 members appeared to sing the praises of longer terms, none in opposition.

Celler couldn't find anyone who would testify against it and he was finally forced to move the amendment to the top of the committee calendar, ready for almost certain approval at the start of this session. Then the President spoke out.

CELLER HAS no lack of members and outside witnesses now who want to testify against the amendment and he is preparing to renew the hearings.

The awakened interest in the four-year term also has caused members who thought they favored it to look more closely at what is at stake. Some are having second thoughts.

They don't like Johnson's proposal that the four-year terms coincide with the President's, fearing loss of independence to the executive branch. With a Democrat in power, Republicans are particularly opposed to this feature.

THOSE WHO FAVOR dividing the House and staggering the terms so half the members run every two years don't have the answer to the technical problem of how to deal with automatic reapportionment of the House after the national census every 10 years.

Few like the concession forced on Chelf by the Senate —and now embraced by Johnson—that would deny a House member serving a four-year term the chance to run against a senator unless he resigns from the House.

Chelf, an untiring optimist, has not eased up in his efforts to get an amendment approved and on its way to the states. But what seemed within his grasp a few weeks ago will now be harder to obtain.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Planning Thought Needed By City

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The Independent-Journal carried a lead article on Jan. 21 which pointed out that the population of San Rafael increased from 11,389 in the 1950 census, to 31,550 in 1965.

City planning must be one of the most important government functions in a city which has tripled its size in 15 years, and the selection of a man to be planning director for San Rafael is a matter of great concern to all its citizens. Surely it is worth whatever time or effort is necessary to find a well-qualified and experienced planner to direct this city's continuing growth.

I would suggest that the Independent-Journal can do the community a great service by bringing to the public's attention the qualifications of each person being considered for the position of planning director.

Idea Fine; Reason Differs

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your recent (Jan. 24) editorial on volunteer teacher aides struck a responsive chord in this resident of the Dixie School District. Our district has a volunteer group known as COMA, Council on Music and Arts, which is dealing directly with teachers, administrators, and students. Our purpose is to bring to our children an awareness and acquaintance with music and the fine arts, by direct contact, something our impoverished school district cannot do.

With the encouragement of our superintendent, Dennie B. Willis, a group of parents formed this council last year. In one year they financed and arranged a trip to a museum for 120 pupils, and arranged for 260 students to attend musical events in the city.

With the help of Joseph Curatilo, Dixie music director, whose enthusiasm and effort make COMA work, we are currently planning for 455 fifth graders from the seven elementary schools to visit the San Francisco Museum of Art. Other projects will involve the two intermediate schools.

These are the things COMA does. But not for the reason you gave in your editorial: not so that we will be listened to when we complain.

The parents in COMA do this work because we feel that we are doing something for our children that could not be done otherwise. And the school people share our views.

MRS. RICHARD BAZNIK
Chairman, Council on Music and Arts

Doll Answers I-J Suggestion

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your (editorial) letter regarding the suggested review procedure of Jack Kerouac's book "On the Road" was read at the regular meeting of the Board of Education Jan. 25.

Here is a statement made by President Walter Doll in response to your suggestions.

BERT C. CORONA,
Secretary,
Board of Education

San Rafael

The Independent-Journal, through its editorial column, has made a suggestion regarding a change in this board's procedures. We are asked, as a "democratic method of resolving the problem," to put the book in question before a public meeting for a vote on its disposition.

We, as a board, have always welcomed suggestions from the public and appreciate the interest of the I-J in our school system. The right of the newspaper to make proposals regarding public business is unquestioned.

However, I do question this suggestion that is based on inaccurate facts and presumptions which are, in my opinion, untrue. I believe many of the remarks, while purporting to assist the district, actually undermine the public's confidence —and without sound basis.

I have always believed that in this country we govern ourselves through representative government. Is this proposed "democratic method" an example of "representative government"? It is certainly contrary to the concept—and contrary to my deepest beliefs.

Aside from the moral question of this board's abdicating its responsibility, there is a practical side. At our last meeting, we had 23 items on the agenda and worked four hours to complete them all. Now suppose that each item was placed before a meeting of the public—an assembly that would have to be fully prepared on each item as well as thoroughly familiar with all aspects of this district. Of course, too, there would be the time consumed in taking a poll on each item. Ridiculous! ! !

What then would be the function of the board? Merely a matter of mechanical voting based on the poll taken? This board's function is to establish policies under which the district's responsibilities can be discharged, and which fulfill the goals of the community for their schools to the greatest degree possible.

The board also has the obligation to make decisions based upon the fullest information available and to look to professionals for professional guidance on problems, reserving at all times the board's legal right to responsibility to make the final decisions.

Thanks Given In Auto Help

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to thank all the kind people who stopped on a recent Thursday evening on Wolfe Grade, on the San Rafael side, to offer their assistance when I had car trouble.

Like so many of us I guess, when we are having car trouble, we merely say thanks to a stranger who offers help and never think of asking their names to send our personal thanks.

I was amazed at the number of people both men and women, who stopped when they saw my plight. I would like to say a special thanks to the young woman in a V.W. who was first to stop and who telephoned my husband in order that he could telephone the AAA.—also to the gentleman who came along and aided me in getting my car out of the line of oncoming traffic.

Air Defenses Built During Bombing Lull

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The most massive anti-aircraft defenses in the world have been built up by the Communists in the Hanoi-Haiphong area during the five-week bombing lull.

This tremendous concentration of anti-aircraft guns and missiles was revealed by reconnaissance flights over the North Viet Nam capital and principal seaport.

Defense Secretary Robert McNamara made this starkly grim disclosure under intensive questioning at a closed-door meeting of the Senate and House armed services and appropriations committees.

LATER A MEMORANDUM from McNamara's office to the legislators estimated that more than 500 "additional" anti-aircraft weapons have been installed in this crucial region during the bombing suspension. There was no indication of the extent of these defenses prior to the lull, but they had been reported as numerous.

An Air Force report to these committees estimated there are now more than 20,000 anti-aircraft guns and missiles in Viet Nam.

The new surface-to-air missiles are improved Soviet Sam-2s. They replace older-type missiles that scored only nine hits out of more than 150 firings. The anti-aircraft guns are radar-controlled.

RUSSIAN AND CZECH technicians installed the new weapons and are manning them. The number of these crews is estimated at "several" thousand.

Despite these startling admissions, McNamara steadfastly defended President Johnson's decision to halt the bombing. Similarly, he justified not attacking Hanoi and Haiphong on the ground "Hanoi and Saigon are mutual hostages."

"That must be kept constantly in mind in escalating the war," contended McNamara. "Bombing Hanoi could precipitate massive enemy terror in Saigon, as well as attempts to bottle up the harbor of Saigon through sabotage."

A committeeman asked why the airfields, power plants, industrial plants and communications centers around Hanoi were not bombed. McNamara tersely replied the Communists would probably react the same way.

"In other words," retorted the legislator, "you are letting the Moscow-Peiping-Hanoi axis dictate your military moves." The Pentagon head did not reply.

MORE THAN 13,000 U.S. troops are now stationed in Thailand and the number could increase to "upwards of 25,000 within the next six to eight months."

McNamara revealed this unannounced development in the course of discussing plans to boost U.S. combat forces in South Viet Nam. He told the Senate and House committeemen that the considerable number of U.S. troops were sent to Thailand to safeguard five airbases being used for attacks against the Communists' supply corridor (the so-called Ho Chi Minh trail) through Laos from North Viet Nam. F-101s, F-105s and F-4Cs are operating from these Thailand bases.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., grilled McNamara on the failure to impose a naval blockade on North Viet Nam.

"A NAVAL BLOCKADE is an act of war," said McNamara, "and that probably would bring on retaliation from Moscow and Peiping."

Thurmond pointed out President Kennedy had proclaimed a "naval quarantine" on Cuba during the missile crisis, and that Russia had backed down.

"That was an entirely different situation," contended McNamara.

THE HIDDEN FACE OF CRIME

The quiet-looking individual who pockets a few dollars that are not his can cause a greater loss to society than the masked bank robber.

This is the opinion of James V. Bennett, who was head of the federal prison system for 28 years.

"White collar crime," he said, "composes the vast bulk of our crime problem. Its large mass lies iceberg-like below the lesser bulk of such visible crimes as auto theft, bank robbery and burglary."

Mr. Bennett cited a study showing that only one out of ten bank embezzlements is reported to authorities.

Laws, police, courts and prisons can touch only a small portion of the problems related to crime.

It is up to millions of people like you: 1) to determine that their own actions are distinguished by integrity; 2) to assist law enforcement agencies when required; 3) to seek ways to eliminate conditions that breed certain forms of crime; and 4) to press for procedures that safeguard the God-given as well as constitutional rights of every citizen without exception.

"Do you not know that the unjust will not possess the kingdom of God?"
(1 Corninthians 6:9)

Let me encourage respect for just laws, O Jesus, by obeying them myself even when it hurts.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The considerable increases in world trade and their economic impact on the state of California have resulted in requests for more state support of the export and import business, Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced he has requested a $50,000 budget item for a California representative in Europe to watch out for the interests of this state in the common market.

The request has some precedent, as the World Trade Authority co-ordinating council has had a representative in Mexico City for some time and last month another representative opened an office in Tokyo.

OF COURSE, no records of accomplishment are available as yet from the Japanese office. The Mexico City office, however, has somewhat of an impressive list of activities which would appear to justify expenditure of funds from taxes to support the representative in Latin America.

One of the ways the office works is to contact importers who are apt to be using California products for various purposes. The contacts, according to the World Trade Authority office in San Francisco, involve not only importers, but contractors and other business interests.

The representative determines what California products could be used, notifies the World Trade authorities in San Francisco and Los Angeles. These in turn make the prospects available to California exporters, and the avenues are thus opened for buying and selling of California products.

THE MEXICO CITY representative, officials of the authority said, furnished more than 300 such propects during the past year.

Adolph P. Schuman, chairman of the co-ordinating council, told an Assembly ways and means subcommittee recently, that the state of California receives more benefits, per dollar of government funds expended, from world trade than from any other single element in the state's entire economy.

Schuman said the current annual total of imports and exports through California ports has reached the aggregate total of $4 billion annually, which makes this the number one exporting state in the nation. Yet the state is expending only $250,000 annually to promote this economic factor. In five years, import-export has increased by 60 per cent, he said.

Growth invites more competition, he added, and "continued vigorous support of all valid programs by the state is necessary."

TWO VERY bored and uncomfortable ladies were dragged to a football game by their husbands, though the rain was persistent and the field a sea of mud. "I don't see how those poor players will ever get clean," commented one of the ladies. "Oh," hazarded the other, "I guess that's what the scrub team is for."

A FORMIDABLE 250-pound female pushed her way forward in a crowded bus, glared at her fellow passengers, and demanded, "Isn't anybody on this vehicle going to offer me a seat?" A skinny little runt got up, cleared his throat, and announced, "I'm game to make a contribution."

Military Field Facts Of Life Would Outlaw Civilian Flights

The low flying F-101 from Hamilton Air Force Base which scared several people in San Rafael recently, points out several facts and factors in aviation in Marin County.

The first is that as airplanes take off and land at any or all airports, accidents and near accidents can and do happen. It is not that Hamilton is any more dangerous than any other airport. It is not; it is probably safer than most. It just points out that a majority of airplane accidents occur near airports.

This points out another thing—the fallacy which has clouded airport thinking in Marin County: The possibility of placing a parallel runway east of the runway at Hamilton and using the tower facilities at Hamilton.

Col. Harry W. Shoup, commander of the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton, has some very definite opinions on the idea of slow flying private planes being near the runway at Hamilton.

"SURE, THERE WOULD always be the possibility of a crash, because the fast flying military aircraft could not avoid some of the smaller slow planes," he said.

"Then if we missed them, there is always the chance that one of them would get caught in our backdraft and be thrown into a spin out of control," he said. He pointed out the tremendous horsepower necessary to keep the heavily armed military aircraft in the air at landing and take off speeds.

Then he pointed out the war situation in the world. Hamilton is the best situated base for the protection of the Bay Area. Its importance as an embarking base probably will be increased as the war effort in Southeast Asia is increased.

NOVATO POLICE CHIEF Robert Di Grazia has had nothing but praise for the quick thinking and action of Maurice W. Michl Jr., who aided police in the apprehension of two men accused of armed robbery.

His aid in keeping the getaway car in sight was instrumental in their capture, the chief said.

"This happened here, a citizen caring enough to help the police. This is very heartening when one reads about people in the East who will not even bother to call police when they see a crime being committed," the chief said.

THE NOVATO FIRE District Board has been brought back to its full three man capacity with the appointment of Henry Alvernaz, who tied for first place in the election a year ago and lost on the toss of a coin.

Had he not been appointed immediately, it could have curtailed the effectiveness of the board because it would then have been just a two-man board, subject to deadlock ties on issues that perhaps should have immediate attention.

We suggest that the fire district board and the residents of the Novato Fire District give serious consideration to increasing board members to five. If that were done, the loss of one man would not put the board in a position where it could be seriously handicapped in performing its duties.

Marin City Due Postal Report

Jack D. Holsclaw, housing manager at the Marin County Housing Authority, will report on Marin City postal service and mail boxes at an 8:30 p.m. meeting of the authority's commission today.

The board will also hear reports from Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, on the status of the proposed Santa Venetia and Homestead projects for housing the elderly.

The redevelopment agency will meet at 7:30 p.m., prior to the housing authority, both boards meeting in the community lounge.

Piper's Resignation Due Council Tomorrow

Larkspur City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall, will be asked to accept the resignation of City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper, effective Feb. 28.

The councilmen will be asked to also approve plans and specifications and call for bids on widening and resurfacing Bon Air Road from the bridge west to Magnolia Avenue, and channelizing the intersection there. Total cost of the two projects is estimated at $34,237. Approximately half of this will be paid for with state gas tax funds, according to Piper.

Councilmen will also be asked to renew the city's contract for garbage collection with Marin Sanitary Service. They will discuss, with officials of Tele-Vue, the city's franchised community television antenna company, complaints by some citizens that the company refuses to provide them service.

Army Pvt. Robert E. Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Parks, Tomales, has completed a food service course at Fort Ord.

Furniture Report Set For Council

Sausalito city council will hear a report from City Mgr. Charles A. Brown at an 8 p.m. meeting today on police solicitations for furniture for the new police station at 29 Caledonia Street.

Complaint was registered by A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr., representing the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce.

The council will hear a letter from the Sausalito Citizens Council requesting additional police foot patrol in the downtown area. It also will hear a request from Sausalito community TV system for extending its coverage in the city, and is scheduled to adopt a community antenna television ordinance.

Here Is Test To Find If You Are Ready To Be Middle-Aged

It must be—because more and more people are becoming middle-aged.

As a matter of fact, some young folks show signs of being prematurely weary of the problems of youth today, and plaintively wonder when they, too, can enjoy the advantages of middle age.

But they are interlopers.

ONLY THOSE who have put in the necessary apprenticeship by actual living should be allowed to dwell in the silver pastures of middle age.

Here are some guideposts.

You undoubtedly are middle-aged if:

Your appetite is great. You are now able to eat with relish any kind of food put upon your plate which the doctor says is bad for you.

DURING THE DAY you catnap, but at night it is impossible to sleep eight full hours at a stretch. You invariably wake up in the morning before the alarm clock goes off.

It bothers your conscience to look out the window and see your wife shoveling snow. You even consider going out and helping her—but think better of it.

You talk to yourself as you shave, because you realize you probably won't have such a sympathetic audience the rest of the day.

IT IS NECESSARY to send flowers so often to hospitalized friends that you open a charge account with the florist.

When you read a gossip column, you don't recognize the names of eight of 10 of the people being gabbed about—and don't really care what happens to the other two.

At a party you find it much easier to make conversation with women wearing bifocal glasses. They seem to have so much more common sense.

The world is in a mess, but you aren't sure it is worth the bother it would take to unscramble it.

Half your working day is spent doodling on ways you can possibly retire ahead of time without starving.

YOU GET MORE cautious. You gulp a couple of antacid pills before—not after—eating cabbage or Brussels sprouts.

If someone gave you a free round trip ticket to Tahiti, you'd sell it. What's in Tahiti for you?

You begin to believe that real estate is the only safe investment—so you make the down payment on a cemetery plot.

Fairfax Slates Special Program

The Fairfax School District Board tonight will make final arrangements for the start of a special education program financed largely by anti-poverty funds.

Two teachers will be hired, one to teach at the Deer Park and Central Schools and another to teach at Manor School.

Arrangements for a summer school program in the district and appointment of a principal for the school will be made at the meeting, to begin at 7:45 p.m. at Manor School.

Hitchhikers Sought In Burglary Case

Information by the person who gave a ride to two young men hitchhiking on the Nicasio-San Geronimo Road from Nicasio to Fairfax last Friday is being sought by Sheriff's Inspector Kenneth Irving.

The officer said the information would help solve last weekend's burglary of the summer home of John G. Ziel, Nicasio.

Rec Budget Slated

The Fairfax Recreation Commission will meet at 8 p.m. today at the Fairfax Women's Club. Next year's recreation budget will be discussed, as well as plans for two tennis courts and rules governing use of the pavilion.

Mickey Rooney's 5th Wife, Actor Die Of Gun Wounds

Bodies Found After Attempt To Reconcile

By BOB THOMAS

BARBARA ROONEY
Fifth wife

MICKEY ROONEY
In hospital

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The planned reconciliation of Mickey Rooney and his fifth wife has resulted in her murder and the suicide of the young Yugoslav actor accused by Rooney of being her lover.

The bodies of Barbara Thomasen Rooney, 29, and Milos Milosevic, 25, an actor known professionally as Milos Milos, were found yesterday in the bathroom of the $150,000 Brentwood home Rooney once shared with his wife and four young children.

Police theorized that Milosevic shot Mrs. Rooney, then turned the .38-caliber pistol on himself because she was planning to resume her marriage with the diminutive actor.

Rooney was under sedation at St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica, being treated for an intestinal infection acquired during filming in the Philippines.

Said Rooney's manager, Red Doff: "Mickey told me they'd (he and Barbara) had a very good talk and they were very close to reconciliation. I think Milos may have resented it."

West Los Angeles police, fitting together the sequence of events that led to the double tragedy, said this picture emerged:

Rooney returned from the Philippine location in December to discover he had been replaced in his wife's affections by the handsome Milosevic, who had been a friend of the family for a year.

Milosevic had appeared in three films — "The Russians Are Coming," yet to be released; "Religious Legends of Old Monterey" and an art film, "Incubus," in Esperanto. His marriage to Cynthia Krensky Bouron on July 2, 1964, ended in divorce after she charged him with assault last July and was to have become final this July.

A week ago, Rooney filed suit for divorce, charging that his wife "was allowing, permitting, encouraging or harboring" the Yugoslav actor at the Rooney home.

Mrs. Rooney countered with a suit for separate maintenance.

Last Sunday night, Rooney and his wife met in his hospital room. Unknown to him, she had hired a private detective to tape record their conversation.

The 45-year-old actor-comedian, once famed as Andy Hardy, was peruasive in his arguments for a reconciliation. His wife shut off the recorder when she began to succumb to his reasoning.

She and the detective, Herm Schlieske, returned to her home.

There she met Milosevic, two of her woman friends and her attorney, Harold Abeles.

The attorney said later: "She agreed not to see him (Milosevic) anymore if it bothered Mr. Rooney."

Milosevic appeared to agree without rancor to break off his friendship with Mrs. Rooney. He then invited her into the master bedroom. They disappeared inside at 8:30 p.m. and the door was locked.

A house guest, Wilma Catania, 35, decided to depart for dinner an hour later. She knocked on the bedroom door. Hearing no answer, she took Mrs. Rooney's car.

She returned at 2:30 a.m. and found the house lights ablaze.

Police believe that Milosevic may have fired the pistol shortly after entering the bedroom.

Two closed doors may have muffled the sound of shots.

Found bodies

Miss Catania awoke at noon yesterday. Finding that the maid had not seen Mrs. Rooney, the house guest unlocked the bedroom door. She found the bed still made. Then she opened the bathroom door.

Mrs. Rooney lay face up on the floor, clad in tan capris and a flowered blouse. A bullet had entered her jaw. Milosevic, in black pants and white shirt, was sprawled over her, a bullet hole in his temple. The pistol was next to the bodies.

Boarder Finds Two Killed By Heater Fumes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An improperly vented gas heater in a boarding house that catered to youngsters killed two persons today and seriously sickened four others, police said.

Seriously sickened and taken to Mission Emergency Hospital were Tommy McCannon, 8; Josephine Gonzales, 11, no relation to the owners; Teddy Gonzales Jr., 5, no relation; and Theodore Gonzales, 63, husband of the dead woman.

Charles Peck, 36, a boarder, returned from overtime work at the Schlage Lock Co. and found all the persons in the house unconscious. He opened windowns, called ambulances and tried unsuccessfully to rouse the occupants.

Lt. Harrison Williams of the Mission Police Station said the imperfectly vented heater was in the living room. Windows were closed, he surmised, because of rainy weather.

State Harbor Officials To Study Bolinas Drift

Bolinas Harbor District commissioners have been told that the State Small Craft Harbor Division representatives are willing to cooperate with the Bolinas district on a study of littoral drift in Bolinas Bay.

If it is found there is no major littoral drift—the drifting of sand sideways back and forth both above and under water—this would obviate the necessity for a $6,000,000 breakwater offshore for a proposed safe harbor of refuge in Bolinas Lagoon.

"Our purpose in requesting the state representatives to come and talk with us was to ascertain the degree of interest which the California small craft harbor group has in Bolinas Harbor," reported commissioner Clyde W. King, vice president.

"We found they were very much interested in it and expressed a desire to work with other proper entities in determination of littoral drift."

Bolinas Bay, said King, stretches from Duxbury Reef on the north to the end of the sandspit on the south.

Whether there is a study to be made is now in the hands of the state division, King said. Asked where money would come for such a proposed study, he replied it is not known.

News that the commission had met Jan. 19 at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael came belatedly yesterday when an anonymous citizen telephoned the Independent-Journal from Stinson Beach, asking why there was no report on the meeting.

King said it was the first such meeting the commission had and it didn't occur to any commissioner to announce the meeting.

Next regular meeting of the commission will be at 8 p.m., Feb. 24 at the Bolinas Community Center.

Paris Collections Are Burning With Nude Look And Cut-Outs

(Combined from AP and UPI)

PARIS—Designer Yves Saint-Laurent unveiled a Follies Bergere-like spring fashion today of sheer organdy short dresses with only beaded bikinis underneath.

Although high fashion has ignored the bosom this year, Paris is burning with the "nude look"—cut-outs, bare midriffs, shoulders and backs.

BUYERS who viewed the opening Saint-Laurent presentation were either amused or scandalized by the organdy shifts with demure long sleeves and high necklines. Underneath the models wore nothing but a few rows of strategically placed beads and bras that bared the navel.

The crowning touch to the "nude look" that has infected the spring collection was the tongue-in-cheek "bridal" gown that wound up the Saint-Laurent show. A mannequin glided out wearing only a white bikini bottom, silver shoes and sprays of lillies-of-the-valley hiding her chest and face.

Saint-Laurent got on the bare knees bandwagon by hoisting his hemlines two to three inches above the knees. But buyers said whether they will manufacture clothes at that length still depends largely on what designers Hubert de Givenchy, Gabrielle Chanel and Cristobal Balenciaga display.

THE EERY spectacle of disembodied women took on wholeness again when the lights went on, for the phantom females were garbed in the young designer's new chemically treated cotton formalwear, ideal for power failures.

But these incandescent misses couldn't hold a candle to the slick chicks who opened the short, snappy show. These pretty packages were wrapped in cellophane.

OVER WHITE helmet hats were clear plastic material that gave each model her own angelic aura. The same clear cellophane covered short coats, jackets and dresses, making them the slippery girls in town.

Sometimes the shining misses strolled through the little showroom in dresses with cellophane windows at the midriff or bordering the hemline. Jewels bordered the transparent tent worn over a silk satin bare-shouldered sheath.

WITHOUT their sandwich wraps, however, the Capucci girls were just as sleek in chic body skimming dresses with square necks and sleeves the size of coffee cups, or molded capes just slightly larger than collars.

Short-sleeved coats and jackets in the same soft pastels or white buttoned over them. When the girls whirled around deep pleats flicked a view of navy insets in their white dresses belted lightly at the hipbone. Black, short jackets of suits were lined with three bright colors.

Automobile And Yachting Buffs Have Their Innings

By MOLLY MARIN

It's a long way off yet, but the fourth annual Concours D'Elegance in Marin has the chairmen, Mrs. Peter Knowles and Mrs. Arthur Collbran of Belvedere, thinking along the lines of date, place and special events that draw the car buffs from throughout the Bay Area to the event. It will be held this year on Sept. 25 at Peacock Gap Country Club with nine car clubs co-operating with the sponsors, the Marin Circle of the Florence Crittenton Circle.

THE JOHN CAMPIONS of Fairhills, San Rafael, were hosts for cocktails at their home and dinner at West End Villa honoring Mr. and Mrs. Arntjony Janda of Pebble Beach, formerly of Marin. Guests included Dr. and Mrs. Harry Hensler and Judge and Mrs. Charles Brusatori.

SQUAW VALLEY will be the weekend destination of the Hugh Harrises of Belvedere, who hope to enjoy some skiing.

THE JAMES MICHAELS are back in Belvedere after two weeks in New York. The Henry Morgans entertained them at dinner at the New York Yacht Club, and Mr. and Mrs. Colin Ratsey gave a dinner party for them at their home in Rye, N.Y.

Jim and Lu also saw old friends from Marin while in the Eastern city. Lu had lunch with the Rev. E. John Mohr, former rector of St. Stephen's Church, Belvedere, and his wife, Hiledgarde. The Michaels met David Winslow of Paradise Cove, who was also attending the boat show. David went on to Wellesley, Mass. to visit his daughters, Kathleen, a student at Wellesley, and Becky, who attends Dana Hall. The heavy snowfall in the East prevented them from keeping a date with the Richard Ollers, former Belvedere residents, but Lu did talk to Jean Oller, daughter of Mrs. B. G. Johnston of Belvedere.

INVITATIONS ARE in the mail for the annual cocktail party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. William F. Nave and their sons, William Jr., Robert and Richard of San Rafael to introduce the commanders and staff officers at Hamilton Air Force Base organizations to Marinites. The party will be held Feb. 13 at Nero's Restaurant in Ignacio.

Woman Needn't Be Dominated By Clothes – Traina

NEW YORK (AP) — Teal Traina, the designer who thinks "a dress isn't supposed to do anything for a woman," shows dresses that do plenty in his new collection.

He introduced his spring and summer wardrobes to the New York couture group, pointing out that as a man he "looks what's inside the dress first.

"Most women let themselves be dominated by clothes," says Traina. "What woman wants to be upstaged by a piece of cloth?

Most women, he says, disagree with him.

His favorite looks are "young, easy, cardigan and casual."

Illustrating what he calls a "soft touch," Traina put motion into skirts by using bias flares, tiny rib pleats and soft A-lines. Necklines were barely — gathered, rolled, cowled and rounded.

Traina's favorite evening gown in called an evening pinafore. Ruffled to an empire waist in front, it dips low in back leaving only a halter to keep the dress intact.

PSYCHOLOGISTS REPORT

Small Children Are Aware Of Crises In Adult World

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A team of psychologists has reported that persons are in error if they feel that small children are ignorant of crisis in the adult world.

The paper, presented Friday at the 19th annual convention of the California State Psychological Assn., dealt with the riots last August in the Watts section of Los Angeles.

The report, dealing with interviews with children four to five years old, was prepared by Ralph L. Dunlap, Astrid Beigel and Virginia Armon of the department of psychiatry, Southern California Permanent Medical group, Los Angeles.

"It SEEMS LIKELY," they said, "that children in our time are exposed more or less directly to unsettling social events which can and do arouse fears and help to determine social attitudes . . .

"To deny a child what he already is partly aware of, either exaggerates its danger or undermines his confidence in his own perception and adults' confidence and honesty."

Within four days after cessation of violence at Watts, interviews were held with 107 Negro, 23 Mexican-American and 52 white children.

THE CONCLUSIONS:
About 92 per cent of the Negro, 78 per cent of the Mexican-American, and 71 per cent of the white children studied, clearly were aware of the rioting.

About half the riot-aware youngsters in each group indicated they felt fear, either by direct admission, or by describing fearful reaction, such as riot - related nightmares, or prayers for protection.

In all groups, many children advocated some kind of punishment for the rioters, "in keeping with the concept of retaliative response to aggression which is commonly accepted at this four to five years developmental age."

The report noted: "Fear and anger toward the rioters, simultaneous with sympathy and racial identification with them, combined to place many Negro children in conflict . . .

"A few Negro children showed only sympathy and identification with the rioters; a few, in contrast, showed only fear and anger."

THE PSYCHOLOGISTS found the Mexican-American children, as a group, quite reticent. "Those who did express feelings and opinions," the report stated, "were uniformly hostile or fearful toward the rioters and, often toward Negroes in general.

"The white children showed a variety of attitudes, including fearful and punitive feelings, but about one-fourth of the white children showed either some awareness of Negro motivation—poverty, discrimination —or of individual differences, or identified with the rioters—wishing to join them in rebellion."

Novato-La Paz Committees Announce Two Fund Projects

A committee of eight Novatans will spearhead the Novato-La Paz Project, which will work toward bringing children from La Paz, Mexico, to Novato during the summer session of school.

On the committee are Mrs. Claude Witzel, Mrs. William Bolton, John Novak, Mrs. Richard Prasil, Mrs. Louis Dorschkind, Mrs. Donald Mason, Mrs. Leslie Arnberger and Ralph Giovanniello.

At a meeting Friday the North Marin Council of Parent- Teacher Assn. voted to sponsor the project. Each of the 16 P-TA units have been requested to sponsor a child.

A community dinner is planned to help raise funds, and a popcorn day will be held before April at the various schools in the Novato Unified School District. The cost of bringing a child to Novato is $60 for children to the age of 12 and $120 for those 13 and older.

It is hoped that at least 10 children will be able to spend the summer session in Novato working in the schools in team teaching Spanish.

Mrs. Bolton said that with team teaching in the school, with four Spanish-speaking children and four English-speaking children and a bilingual teacher, within two hours the children will have a Spanish vocabulary of 50 words.

The project was started when Mrs. Claude Witzel, a teacher at Rancho School, visited La Paz last year. While there she met Charles C. Carmona, an American who established the John F. Kennedy bilingual public library in La Paz.

The library, started with 16,000 books and now containing 60,000 volumes donated by Americans, is now a school. Outstanding Spanish - speaking children formed a junior peace corps and have been trained to assist schools in the United States with Spanish language programs.

An account has been opened at the Crocker Citizens Bank in Novato for Novatans wishing to support the project to make donations to the Novato-La Paz Project.

Eight families have made requests for a child to live with them during the summer. Two teachers will also accompany the children at their own expense.

Applications must be filled out and the families will be screened before the children will be placed in any home, Mrs. Bolton said.

WHO'S AFRAID . . .

Giant Water District Annexation May Shrink At Owners' Pleas

By FRANK FARRARA

The largest proposed land annexation in Marin's history, 44 square miles along the east shore of Tomales Bay to the North Marin County Water District, may be whittled down.

District directors indicated last night that areas where the majority of property owners protest can be sliced off the annexation map.

"If you don't want in, let us know, and the next step is to delete," board president Arnold E. Heise told about 75 West Marin residents at Tomales High School.

At the close of the meeting, directors agreed to send cards to property owners to find out who doesn't want to be annexed.

The area proposed for annexation extends from Millerton, south of Marshall, to Estero San Antonio and inland to "the first watershed divide."

It covers 28,480 acres extending inland in a jagged line, about six miles wide at its widest point along the northern boundary, and less than two miles at its southernmost point south of Marshall.

District Mgr. Jerome B. Gilbert said the district initiated the proposal after receiving requests from 40 residents in the coastal area.

When the proposal reached the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission in December, it was opposed by other property owners in the area and withdrawn for further study. As a result, the board scheduled an informal meeting with residents last night.

Gilbert said the board "wants to find out where the real sentiment is and whether you want to be in . . . and whether to re-submit the boundary or reduce the area."

The advantage of a large annexation would be that the district could plan long-range water development, Gilbert said. This could include a dam on Walker Creek, estimated to be a $3 million project, or possibly transporting Russian River water either through Two Rock or Bodega.

The district does not intend to build on Walker Creek "tomorrow or five years from now," Gilbert said. "We're just trying to plan ahead."

Until the long-range program is developed, the area possibly could be served from wells in the Walker Creek gravel beds, possibly by surplus water piped across Tomales Bay from Inverness, or possibly from a small reservoir in a tributary of Walker Creek, Gilbert said.

He said it is hard to determine what development might be undertaken until the annexation is set and a study undertaken. "The bigger the annex, the broader the look," he said.

"Considering the areas of support, the logical strip is along the coast where there is an immediate problem."

Several residents wanted to know why those seeking annexation could not form their own district and leave out the rest of the area.

Gilbert said the Local Agency Formation Commission's policy is that the North Marin and Marin Municipal Water Districts should expand to serve the entire county, rather than have additional small districts in West Marin.

Others asked why the district did not annex just a small area where there was a demand for annexation.

"You cannot properly develop a program if you annex a piece here and a piece there," Gilbert said.

Residents who want to develop projects could form improvement districts within the water district and they alone would pay for these projects, he said.

The district will not undertake any project or establish any project tax rate without approval of the people in the area, he said.

During the question session, James Thacher said, "The only ones we hear in favor are the subdivisions."

"The value depends on improvements," Gilbert said. "If you're in the district only, it wouldn't make taxes go up."

One rancher wanted to know whether the district would take any of the present well supply. Gilbert said the district could take "any excess water," but could not take any water being used by a rancher.

Walter Lawson of Dillon Beach said the "open acreage" on Dillon Beach is opposed to annexation. Gilbert noted that the Oceana Marin subdivisioin north of Dillon Beach is interested in annexing.

If a proposed annexation is approved by the Local Agency Formation Commission, the district board will hold a public hearing in Northwest Marin, Gilbert said.

If 10 per cent of the property owners representing 10 per cent of the acreage and 10 per cent of the registered voters protest, they can force an election, he said. If 50 per cent protest, the proposal is dead.

Among those attending was County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who represents the area and also serves on the Local Agency Formation Commission.

Budget Approved

LOS ANGELES — The Union Oil Co. of California board of directors has approved a capital expenditure budget of approximately $260 million for 1966, up 27 per cent from the $250 million for 1965, Fred L. Hartley, president, announced today.

Supervisors Deny Three Public Claims

The owner of a house at 200 Shoreline Highway, near Mill Valley, has filed a claim for $50,000 in flood damages suffered since Jan. 27, 1965.

Harry Johnson, owner of the home, said that "negligently installed drainage facilities" cause cracks in the floor and undermining and weakening of the foundations.

Marin County supervisors today denied the claim.

The board also denied the claim of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Williams of 320 Crown Road, Kentfield, asking $2,100 for seven acacia trees chopped down by the county public works department in front of their home. Donald R. Frost, directo rof public works, said the trees were in county right-of-way and were obstructing the view on a sharp curve.

Supervisors denied the claim of Raymond P. Foster Jr. of 351 Redwood Road, Woodacre, for $1,200 damages to him and his car Nov. 9 when his car struck a protruding man-hole ring on Midvale Lane in Tamalpais Valley.

Downtown Plan Aired In Tiburon

A 10-page report on the Tiburon downtown plan, prepared by the planning consultant firm of Callister and Payne, was presented last night to a study session of the Tiburon Planning Commission.

Leslie Gross, city planning administrator, said the report covered background influences and structure of the plan, as well as how it will relate to master planning for the whole city.

Sydney H. Williams of the planning firm of Williams, Cook and Mocien also gave a short report on how the plan can relate to over-all planning for the city.

Next study session on the plan was set for Feb. 23. There were about 15 persons in the audience, Gross reported.

The second event in the festival series will be a lecture and piano program on Feb. 17 by Dr. W. Thomas Marrocco, music professor at University of California at Los Angeles, and Dominican College artist-faculty member Sister Mary Dominic, O. P.

The third program on Feb. 28 will feature the festival orchestra, chorus and soloists in New England, California Mission, and American Moravian music, and a West Coast premiere of Lou Harrison's "Strict Songs."

The full-length color film will be narrated in person by its photographer, Mildred Capron.

The film, the first in the 1966 "Explorerama-Marin" series, is sponsored by the Explorers Club of San Francisco and the Associated Students of the College of Marin. Proceeds are used for scholarships at the college.

American Music Concert Planned

Sister Mary Dominic of the Dominican College music department is in charge of arrangements for the Parade of American Music, a concert to be given Sunday by the Northern District of the California Federation of Music Clubs.

The program, to be played starting at 3 p.m. at Ralston Hall, College of Notre Dame, Belmont, features the music of Serge de Gastyne, including a first performance of "La Tombeau de Villon, Opus 22."

Jobless Teamster Taken From Bridge

John J. Kenneback, 33, an unemployed teamster, was taken into custody at 12:15 a.m. today on the Golden Gate Bridge by California highway patrolmen when he reportedly said he was thinking of suicide.

The patrol reported Kenneback, on foot near the south tower on the east side of the bridge, said he was despondent because he was unable to find work. He was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

In Fair Condition

Kathleen Gertrude Hall, 17, of Fifth Street, San Rafael, continued in fair condition at San Rafael General Hospital today after being thrown from a car Saturday in an accident on Miracle Mile.

Eleanor Bender Works On Display

Prowler Beats Up Sausalito Artist

Sausalito artist Serge Trubach was beaten early today in his home at 631 Bridgeway, and his alleged assailant was arrested by police three minutes after Trubach called for help.

Booked in Marin County Jail was William Richard Lowe, 23, of Benicia, who gave his occupation to police as "college drop-out."

Lowe, who was found to have a bud resembling peyote in his pants pocket, was charged with burglary, felony assault and possession of narcotics. Bail was set at $7,500.

Trubach, 52, who resides alone, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple cuts.

Trubach, a candidate for the Sausalito city council in the April 12 election, told police he awoke about 2:40 a.m. to see a figure standing over his bed.

He sat up and asked, "What are you doing in my apartment?"

At this point the man began striking Trubach on the face and head with his fists, the artist said.

Trubach sprang out of bed, but his assailant continued to strike him about the head with his fists and knocked the artist to the floor. Then he kicked him in the ribs and back, Trubach said.

Finally Trubach was allowed to rise, he said, his assailant telling him, "Remember what happened in Germany."

The man, taking nothing from the apartment, left. Trubach telephoned police at 2:50 a.m.

Sgt. John Coady responded immediately. Learning what had happened, he ran into an alley alongside the building, three minutes from the time he had been called. Coady said he saw a man crouching, apparently hiding, in a small alcove.

Coady told him to stand up and stay where he was and, Trubach, coming on the scene, then identified "positively" the man as the one who assaulted him.

Searching Lowe, Sergeant Coady found a small brownish-green bud in the man's right front trouser pocket, which police said appeared to be peyote. The bud was sent to a state chemist for analysis.

Trubach was first given first aid by Sausalito firemen, then taken to the hospital by United Ambulance. Police said Trubach's door had been forced by breaking a window in the door, then breaking the door jamb itself.

Purse Stolen From Theater

Mrs. Marjorie Casebier of 134 Bolinas Road, San Anselmo, told police yesterday that someone stole her purse, containing $20, from the Festival Theater at 2 Kensington Road, San Anselmo.

Theater director Elizabeth Berryhill told police she had seen four boys prowling around the theater.

Third Arrest In Hub Theft Of Motorcycle

San Anselmo police yesterday arrested Daniel Warren Foley, 21, of San Francisco on a charge of vehicle theft. Foley, along with two other San Francisco men, is suspected of stealing a motorcycle from the Sir Francis Drake High School parking lot Jan. 19.

An informant who identified the alleged thieves shortly after the crime originally told police that tone of them was Danny R. Foley of 1380 Redwood Highway, Novato. He mixed up the names, Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani reported. Danny Foley is not wanted by police.

Arrested earlier in connection with the theft were David Ray Sterio, 22, and Louis Leo Sterio, 20, both of San Francisco. Buchignani said Foley yesterday admitted taking the cycle, but said it was subsequently stolen from him in San Francisco. He was booked in county jail with bail set at $1,100.

Air Police Drag Negro Squatters Out Of Empty Air Base Building

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP)—Air Force troops today forciby evicted a band of 60 Negro squatters from the deactivated Greenville Ai rForce Base. The Negroes put up a struggle an dwere carried out bodily by air police.

The Air Force had flown a major general and 150 air police into its deactivated Greenville base today to deal with an invasion by Negro squatters who demand food, land and jobs.

Maj. Gen. R. W. Puryear, commanding general of the Technical Training Center, Keesler AFB, Miss., brushed aside newsmen when he arrived.

The Negroes, along with a few white civil rights workers, camped around two pot-bellied stoves through the night in a T-shaped building which once was headquarters for the base air police.

In Washington, the White House had no immediate comment on the Greenville sit-in.

Officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity in the capital, told the squatters' demands for food, pointed out that in cooperation with Mississippi authorities it has launched an experimental program designed to improve the distribution of food to the needy in Mississippi.

The Negroes had earlier said they would leave the base if a special antipoverty program with $24 million in funds was turned over to their "poor people's conference" and other civil rights groups for control.

The band, chiefly Negroes, forced their way onto deactivated Greenville Air Force Base yesterday despite the objections of civilian guards, who said later they were caught by surprise.

Once gathered in an unheated, one-story building near the main gate, the group issued a manifesto of complaints and demands.

"We are asking President Johnson whose side he is on — the poor people or the millionaires."

"We are here because we are hungry and cold and we have no jobs or land," the squatters said. "We don't want charity. We are willing to work for ourselves if given a chance."

Some of the Negroes claimed they were evicted from their homes by plantation owners but declined to give the names of the landowners.

During the cold night, the group huddled on the floor around coal-burning stoves. They had smashed out two windows and stuck stovepipes through them. A paper sign on one door said: "This is our home. Please knock before entering."

The first group to invade the base numbered about 35. They carried blankets and clothing. Later in the day about 15 others, including old women and small children, joined them.

They identified themselves as the "Poor People's Conference."

Ida Mae Lawrence, identified as their spokesman, said they wanted a government program to provide emergency food for the poor. She said antipoverty funds should be administered by the Freedom Democratic party, the Poor People's Conference, the Mississippi Freedom Labor Union and the Delta ministry — not by state officials.

Silverthorne Tax Adjustment Due, He Tells Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "There's a lot of adjustment to be made," Don C. Silverthorne testified yesterday when asked if his 1964 income tax returns were correct.

Silverthorne, once president of the now defunct San Francisco National Bank, is on trial charged with bank fraud conspiracy—misapplication of bank funds.

The adjustment, he continued, "will be in my favor, too."

James J. Brosnahan, assistant U.S. attorney, asked: "Is this contribution of $1,000 to Mary's Help Hospital that is listed on your tax return the same contribution you told the jury was made for the bank?"

"I'm not going to answer the question when it is like that," Silverthorne replied.

Margaret Azevedo Gets Gavel

Mrs. Margaret Azevedo of Tiburon was elected chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday, replacing Felix M. Warburg, who resigned from the commission.

Mrs. Azevedo had served as vice chairman. Commissioner Eugene R. Trombley, who had been secretary, was named vice chairman, and Commissioner Hugh Dougherty was named secretary.

Ascherman Hearing Hit By New Delay

Hearing on Dr. Stanford W. Ascherman's lengthy effort to gain staff privileges at Marin General Hospital has halted pending a Marin Superior Court ruling on an effort to get confidential records from St. Joseph's Hospital, San Francisco.

Presiding Judge Thomas F. Keating scheduled for Feb. 7 hearing on a motion by the hospital to quash a subpoena served by the hospital district's hearing officer, Thomas C. Nelson.

The subpoena, served Jan. 24, directed St. Joseph Hospital's custodian of records to produce on the following day charts of surgical patients of Dr. Ascherman while he was on that hospital's surgical staff from 1959 through 1961.

It also asked correspondence and minutes of meetings by various committees of the medical staff about the doctor.

St. Joseph's Hospital promptly filed the motion to quash the subpoena on grounds that materials wanted are privileged and confidential, that it would disclose investigations made by the medical staff and reveal "possible discipline taken by the medical staff and hospital against certain doctors involved.

The motion added that production of the records might also subject the hospital and medical staff to annoyance and embarrassment. It declared none of Dr. Ascherman's patients there had given permission to disclose this material.

Judge Keating granted a stay of execution of the subpoena until the Feb. 7 hearing before Judge Samuel W. Gardiner.

Dr. Ascherman has been seeking staff privileges at Marin General Hospital since January, 1964. The current hearing started Dec. 6.

Recruits Graduate

Marine Privates Lauritz R. Hansen, son of Mrs. Jack Woods of 233 Glen Drive, Sausalito, and Michael P. Hays, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse P. Hays of 825 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael, have graduated from Marine Corps recruit training at San Diego.

School Album

The San Rafael High School chapter of the American Junior Red Cross is preparing a picture album of its school. The album will be mailed to a school in Thailand as "a gesture of friendship to help increase understanding," according to representative Jonathan Marlowe.

Part of China's Grand Canal was built in the 7th century.

Agricultural Preserves Area Drawn

Agricultural preserves could cover most of West Marin and extend from an area north of Novato around the urban area of the county and south to the proposed headland state park, according to a map shown the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

The commission adopted the map as a starting point for a hearing on the preserve area slated for 2 p.m. on Feb. 14.

The map excludes parks, incorporated cities, and urban areas adjacent to cities. Operating dairy and cattle ranches next to urban areas were designated for "possible exclusion" in the map, prepared by Rowland J. Darnell of the county planning staff and Richard T. Straw, county agricultural commissioner.

The county has to fix the area of preserves before ranchers can enter a 10-year contractural agreement with the county that would keep their lands in agricultural use and provide a tax assessment break for owners.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wheelwright, owners of the Green Gulch Ranch in Southern Marin, were the first to enter the contract. Their land was designated for preserve in an earlier special hearing by planning commission and supervisors.

Marin Newsman Suspended In Viet Reporting

The United States Military Command in South Viet Nam yesterday imposed a 30-day suspension on war correspondent Jack Foisie of Tamalpais Valley, because he filed a story on a Marine landing before details were released through official channels.

Foisie, who heads the Los Angeles Times' two-man Saigon bureau, said he was confirming with all precedents under the basic rules of voluntary news censorship in Viet Nam, and said the military command apparently changes the rules by edict without consulting newsmen.

His story dealt with an amphibious landing by Marines in Quang Ngai province.

The Times said Foisie waited two days before filing his dispatch on the landing, which took place in view of the enemy. Up to now, voluntary censorship has permitted correspondents to file stories 36 hours after an operation, the Times said.

Foisie whose home is at 342 Jean Street, Tamalpais Valley, covered military affairs for the San Francisco Chronicle before joining the Times.

Wife Divorces Actor Lawford

SUN VALLEY, Ida. (AP) — Patricia Lawford, sister of the late President John F. Kennedy, was granted a divorce today from actor Peter Lawford on grounds of mental cruelty.

The divorce was entered at the District Court of Judge Charles Scoggins in nearby Goodings, Idaho.

Mrs. Lawford, who established Idaho residence at the Sun Valley resort last Dec. 29, went to court with her attorney, but was unavailable for comment afterward.

She was given custody of their four children. He was given visitation rights. The Lawfords were married 11 years ago.

Low, High Mercury

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lowes temperature reported this morning to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 16 below zero at Philip, S.D., and Lone Rock, Wis. The highest reported yesterday was 76 degrees at McAllen, Tex.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

A woman writes: "Have you heard about the use of brick lifting as an aid in rheumatoid arthritis? My sister's friend told her this remedy was beneficial. It consists of having one brick tied to the foot. The person is sitting and lifts the leg to a straight position a number of times. Other bricks are added, one at a time, until the person is lifting five bricks. This process is supposed to break down calcium deposits and alleviate the cause of the disease. Do you have any knowledge of this procedure, and could it cause further damage?"

Yes. Exercise is helpful in the treatment of arthritis provided it does not aggravate the distress.

IT IS MOST IMPORTANT in the prevention and correction of deformities. In addition, it strengthens the muscles so that the joints will be held in a good position. It does not break down calcium deposits.

Bricks are heavy and cumbersome. Sandbags are better. As an alternative, ask someone to hold back the feet while the arthritic attempts to raise the extremities. Most physiotherapy departments have weights and pulleys for this purpose.

These resistive exercises should be done twice a day. They are best done by sitting on the edge of the bed with the legs dangling. Slowly raise the feet to straighten the leg and then reverse the process.

PASSIVE EXERCISES are done with the assistance of someone else. The individual may be unable to straighten or bend the knee but can do so with help. Pain during the maneuvers is not significant but when it persists for hours the amount of exercise should be decreased, but not stopped.

Many persons exercise following the application of heat because the joints and muscles are more relaxed at this time.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

INFLAMED VESSELS

T. R. E. writes: Could a person develop blood poisoning without an open wound?

REPLY

Yes, and most bona fide cases of blood poisoning stem from tonsilitis, a strep sore throat, or abscess of a tooth and other structure. The red streaks that appear on an arm or leg after a wound indicate spread of infection thru the lymphatic passageways and represent lymphangitis rather than blood poisoning. When lymphangitis is not treated, however, the infection may reach the bloodstream eventually.

OVERPRODUCTION

Mrs. A. E. writes: When I am pregnant I have a saliva problem. My mouth is continually filled with water. Why does this happen?

REPLY

Pregnancy is one of the conditions associated with excess salivation. There are many other causes, as described in our leaflet. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on salvia production.

WHAT'S LEFT

S. S. writes: What is residual disease?

REPLY

This is what is left after the original condition subsides. For example, after an attack of pneumonia, the lung may not heal completely or fluid may develop in the pleural space — as residual disease.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Insurance Policy Limits

Charles was following Dan Devine's car at 65 miles per hour on the freeway. When Dan slammed on his brakes to avoid a car in front, Charles rammed into his car throwing Dan and his family into a ditch, seriously injuring them.

Dan sued Charles at once. Charles turned his case over to his insurance company. Its claims manager first denied liability because Dan had stopped or slowed down without warning.

Dan's lawyer offered to settle the case for less than Charles' policy limits of $20,000 but the insurance company said no. With the case set for trial, Dan's attorney renewed the offer. But still the company refused to settle.

Imagine how they felt when the jury awarded Dan $40,000, twice Charles' coverage. Charles could not pay the extra $20,000. He demanded it of the insurance company though the judgment exceeded the policy. Why? Dan could show that the company had not acted in good faith to settle the case.

The company had many chances to settle for less than the policy limits. Its own lawyers had estimated the case might go $10,000 or $20,000 over the policy limits.

Had the company acted in good faith, it could have settled within the policy limits. Since it had not, it must pay off the whole judgment.

When one is being sued, he should look out for his own interest although he may think insurance covers his liability. In turn the company has a legal duty to inform the insured of settlement offers.

When a person's financial position improves with more assets, or he earns more income, he needs protection by increasing his liability insurance.

As a rule, one of the most valuable parts of such an insurance policy is the legal representation it promises when one is sued.

Air Base Limits Gate Picketing

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—The commander of this sprawling desert flight test center has designated one of five gates as the entrance for Rocketdyne Division employees in an attempt to limit the effect of a strike.

The firm, a division of North American Aviation, was struck yesterday by the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers.

Employees of Rocketdyne were expected to go through only the one gate—if they chose to cross the picket line—while the rest of the base's operations continued undisturbed, said the commander, Col. Donald Ewing.

Officials said base operations were not impeded by the strike.

A union spokesman said the dispute arose because the company was allegedly trying to penalize workers "for joining our union."

TELEVISION REVIEW

What Does Video Do To American History?

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Jesse James? Oh, he was really a good guy and the only reason he went aoound robbing banks and killing people was because people shoved him around and didn't understand him.

Besides, according to the current ABC version, he was "cursed with a quick and restless gun," it is explained in the ballad that opens the show each Monday night. Just last night he was sweet enough to take a lot of money he and his pals stole in a bank robbery and give it to the widow of a gang member who got killed in the exploit.

Daniel Boone? Oh, he's a tall, G-dropping, fellow who lives in a stockade and carries a gun and fights Injuns—except his best friend who is a feather-wearing Injun who went to Harvard and speaks much better English than Dan'l.

Ulysses S. Grant? Oh, he was President of the United States or something a long time ago and spent most of his time hiring secret agents. He had one secret agent named James West, according to CBS, and he rode around in a private railroad car, keeping crazy inventors from destroying the nation and keeping important visitors from being killed and kissing pretty girls.

Then this Grant, according to NBC, had another agent, a man who had been kicked out of the cavalry for cowardice. Grant knew this fellow was no coward but he didn't do anything about it because he had lots of secret missions he wanted him to perform.

A youngster in the impressionable years could certainly get a strange version of American history — particularly as it applied to the Old West — if his exposure to it were confined to television series.

CBS' dinner-hours news show became a colorcast last night. At least most of the news film and reporter Walter Cronkite blossomed forth in color. NBC's Huntley-Brinkley show has been in color for some time now.

Color film of action in Viet Nam shows forcefully the ugly face of war, but it also underscores its drama. Some of CBS' film of Washington after the big snow looked like a delicate Christmas card.

Bomb Call Stalls Royal Journey

LONDON (AP) — After a 29-minute delay due to a false bomb alarm, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip took off today for a five-week tour of Commonwealth territories in the sunny Caribbean.

Philip will go on to the United States to seek a million dollars for charity and more trade for Britain.

The tour will take the royal couple to Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago and 12 British territories in the area, including restless British Guiana.

Beatnik Novel Not Banned, Just Not Assigned, Official Stresses

The question of what happened to Jack Kerouac's book, "On the Road," at a San Rafael Board of Education meeting last Tuesday was raised today by Lawrence B. Thomas of 163 Oak Drive, who was a candidate for the board of education last year.

Thomas, in a letter to Supt. Bert C. Corona of San Rafael city schools, reported confusion over the board's handling of a report by Asst. Supt. Mitchell Voydat that the book had been removed from the required reading list of a senior English class.

"Has the book been banned or taken off the shelves?" he asked. If it has, he went on, "will there be any point of an open discussion at the Feb. 8 meeting (of the board of education) . . . ?"

Superintendent Corona pointed out there had never been any suggestion that the Kerouac book be banned or taken off school library shelves. The point at issue, he noted, was whether it should be assigned reading for an English class. It had been assigned to a senior honors class at Terra Linda High School.

"There was no suggestion that it be taken off the shelves," Corona said. "Absolutely not!"

The superintendent said the matter was put on the agenda for next Tuesday night's board meeting at his suggestion, because it had not been on the advance agenda last Tuesday and he felt "to close the thing out . . . would not be a good policy."

"There will be an opportunity to speak" at next Tuesday's meeting, the superintendent said. Whether the board of education might consider overruling Voydat's action would be up to the board.

Corona explained the situation as regards the book as follows:

It was assigned by a Terra Linda High teacher for reading by a senior honors English class, with approval of the department head at the school. It has already been read by that class.

It was not assigned for any other class in San Rafael High School District this year.

Its removal from the list means simply that some other book will be assigned in its place next year by the teacher who used it this year.

In his letter to the superintendent, Thomas said:

"On Wednesday the Chronicle, Examiner, and Independent-Journal carried stories that the book had been banned (or taken off the shelves). . . . Subsequently there have been other newspaper items—and all I have seen indicate the book has been taken off the shelves and banned. . . .

". . . I would appreciate a prompt reply from your office so I may proceed with other steps in an effort to halt further book banning and erosion of academic freedom in our community."

The Independent-Journal, however, at no time reported "On the Road" had been banned or taken off the shelves at the school. All stories regarding it, prior and subsequent to last Tuesday night's board meeting, referred to its inclusion in an assigned reading list.

Four-Car Chain-Reaction Collision Brings Injuries

A Petaluma woman and a Santa Rosa man both complained of pains after a four-car chain-reaction crash on Highway 101 just north of the Linden Lane undercrossing, San Rafael, at 5:10 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Frederick C. Corsen, 27, of Petaluma, driving north in the slow lane with a passenger, Julia Valdespino, 50, also of Petaluma, slowed his car for traffic.

Three cars back, an auto driven by Edward J. Keister, 22, of Santa Rosa hit the rear of one driven by Richard F. Laws, 57, of 2 Celeste Court, Novato. It in turn hit a car driven by Roy T. Yamashita, 32, of 227 Calle de la Selva, Ignacio, which was forced into the Corsen car. Mrs. Valdespino and Keister were to see their own doctors. The other drivers were unhurt.

Youth Pleads On Two Charges

George D. Beauchamp Jr., 22, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to petty theft and to misdemeanor passing of worthless checks totaling $50. He will be sentenced Feb. 15.

Beauchamp, of 865 Francisco Boulevard, took a coin and stamp collection from his father, CM/Sgt. George D. Beauchamp Sr., 48, of 542 Bolling Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, while the latter was in Arizona last December. He was originally charged with burglary.

Charge Heard In Gun-Waving

Alfred T. Domergue, 49, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a misdemeanor charge of displaying a firearm in rude and threatening manner. His case was continued until 1:30 p.m. next Monday for plea entry.

Domergue, of 323 Pine Street, Sausalito, was arrested Saturday after allegedly holding a gun on Sausalito Patrolman Brian Newlon. He was originally booked for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon.

Class Elects

DRAMATIC COMEBACK VICTORY IN LUCKY

Venturi Eyes Nat'l Open, Retirement

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ken Venturi, the golfer who refuses to say quit, won the $57,000 Lucky International Open Golf Tournament with his heart across a lake.

His 66 over the Harding Park municipal course yesterday brought him the $8,500 first prize, his first victory since a circulatory ailment threatened his career late in 1964 after he had won the U.S. Open title.

This was the course where Venturi had grown up, where his friends cheered him on and where his dad operates the pro shop.

Yet across Lake Merced is the Olympic club where the 1966 United States Open will be played in June, and Ken said, "I'm going to play a lot of rounds there, and I'm shooting for it. If I win it, I might just retire. That's my aim."

Venturi came back from a prolonged and agonizing slump to win the national title in 1964, but after the circulatory ailment attacked he collected just $295 in official money last year.

Before the Lucky, he skipped the Bing Crosby tournament, fearing cold weather, but told friends, "I wanted to play in the Lucky because it's the tournament in my home town."

Carrying hand warmers to give him feeling when he swung the clubs, Venturi started four strokes off the pace and even with his 33 on the first nine was still four back of leader Frank Beard.

Then Beard faltered with three bogeys on the first four holes while Venturi shot even par to move within a stroke of the leader. Beard parred the 14th, but Venturi found the putting secret of the day to sink a 25-footer, and they were even. When Kenney sank a 10-foot birdie putt on the 16th he had the winning stroke.

Archer, a former San Francisco city champion, carded the best individual 18-hole round of the tournament with a 65.

Beard's 274 brought him the $4,600 second prize, yet he missed becoming the first golfer ever to score a wire-to-wire victory.

Venturi's 273 was just one stroke off the Lucky tournament record of 272 set by current U.S. open champion Gary Player in 1961. Now he heads for the Bob Hope tournament starting tomorrow in Palm Springs.

In his final round over the course he knows as well as any school book, Venturi hit all 18 greens and took only 31 putts.

"I'm not able to practice as much as I used to because of my hands," said Venturi. "They just won't take it, and I have to stop frequently to restore circulation."

He plans to miss the cold tournaments and concentrate on summer play. Despite the fact San Francisco usually is chilly this time of year, Venturi said he wanted to play in the Lucky.

"This is my home town, and I wanted to prove I can still play a good game," he declared.

MAYS IS SNOWBOUND, MISSES AWARD FETE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The snow threw Willie Mays a curve too slippery to handle, but everyone else arrived in time for the St. Louis baseball writers dinner last night.

The San Francisco Giants' star, last season's Most Valuable Player in the National League, was snowed in somewhere in the East. He was scheduled to receive an award for outstanding achievement.

But Charlie Grimm was present to receive a nostalgia award, retired Baseball Commission Ford Frick got award for meritorious service and Vern Law, Pittsburgh Pirates' right-hander, received an award for physical comeback.

SPORTS TRAIL ALONG MARIN'S

WHEN I FIRST heard that Jim Bond was going to appear at the Marin Rod and Gun Club Thursday night my first thoughts were of secret agents and beautiful dames. Farms in Berkeley? Pussy Galore at the Marin Rod and Gun Club????

Well, my dreams were shattered. Old double ought seven isn't coming to Marin after all. THIS Jim Bond is a real life adventurer who deals in outdoor sports like hunting and fishing (boo), records the action on film, and then travels the country showing them to sportsmen's groups who think Pussy Galore is a mess of catfish. Hence, his appearance at the MRGC clubhouse Thursday at 8 p.m.

Scenes from Bond's latest flicker range from a 3,000-pound jet boat being tossed around like a match stick in the dangerous Snake River rapids of Hell's Canyon to the fanciest pheasant shooting in the U.S.; from shooting a bull elk with a tranquillizer gun to that of the hunter going after the majestic old bulls with a rifle; from big mule deer bucks in the sage-aspen cover of southeastern Idaho ot the sure-footed, agile goats of northern Idaho.

DID YOU ever wonder about those orange spots on the pucks at Seals hockey games? You did? Goodie! Ol' Super-Duper Scooper Gilly can tell you that one side has a Seals emblem and the other side informs anyone who goes around reading pucks that it is an official Western Hockey League puck, made in the U.S.A. by Converse Rubber Co., and distributed by C.C.M.

I know because the Seals sent me one either to use as a paper weight or to stick in my mouth. Which is about the size of it.

DICK CREIGHTON, former Marin Catholic and Santa Clara star pitcher, is now coaching at St. Helena High. Dick was a visitor to the Knights of Columbus Hotstove Session in Mill Valley last Friday.

So was ex-Boston Red Sox hurler Jack Wilson, the local Lucky Lager distributer.

One of the local favorites who missed the Hotstove bullfest was Sam Chapman, still mending from an auto mishap last week.

I TELL YOU, this column really gets around. Today I can report that retired Tam High teacher Mrs. Katherine Flanagan is teaching for the Peace Corps in East Africa—about 50 miles from Kilimanjaro. Old timers will remember Mrs. Flanagan had a swim team at Tam, later joining the Western Women's Swim Club.

DICK BASS, the former Vallejo High flash who has gone to greater things with the Los Angeles Rams, doesn't just sit around and read his press clippings during the off-season. Dandy Dick has been named manager of the L.A. nightspot, The Locker Room. First act booked there is one called "The Fearsome Foursome" composed of Ram stalwarts Dave Jones, Merlin Olsen, Charley Cowan and Lamar Lunday. They sing. And a solo vocal job is done by still another Ram, Roosevelt Grier.

11 Marin Boxers Open Fire In Golden Gloves

Marin County boxing fans will have plenty of local talent to watch tonight at San Francisco's Kezar Pavilion in the opening card of the three-night Golden Gloves program.

Coach Bill Ross of the always-strong Hamilton Air Force Base boxing team has a squad of 11 men entered, while Coach Jack MacPhee of the MarVel Athletic Club of San Rafael has five gladiators registered.

Representing MarVel are Dave Townsel, a 139-pounder; Bill Goelz, 112 pounds; Homer Hall, 119; Morlin Smith, 147, and Norm Kreuter, heavyweight. Townsel will fight in the senior division, the others in the novice group.

Tickets are on sale at Taveggia-Brusati Sports Show, 1340 Fourth Street, San Rafael. The Golden Gloves bouts will continue Friday and conclude on Feb. 10. All action will take place at Kezar Pavilion.

Keino To Compete In L.A. On Feb. 12

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Kipchoge Keino, Kenya's 3,000 and 5,000-meter world record holder, said today he had accepted an invitation to run against Ron Clarke of Australia in an indoor-meet at Los Angeles on Feb. 12.

The 25-year old policeman-athlete only returned Sunday from an invasion of the United States during which he won the Wanamaker Mile in New York and a two-mile event in Los Angeles).

Fire Toll Rises At Bowie Track

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — Workmen trying to get Bowie Race Course into shape for tomorrow's scheduled reopening struggled today with fire-leveled ruins of five barns, snow-choked approach roads and runaway horses.

Martin Meyer, track superintendent, said at least 43 horses perished in the flames which early yesterday swept through the barn area known as Blueberry Hills just after a blizzard dumped 18 inches of snow on the area.

Grooms and other stable employees, many barely escaping being trampled by the frenzied animals, raced through the crackling barn area to release another 140 horses.

Officials said all but eight or nine had been recaptured by today, some up to 10 miles away.

The figure was expected to rise as veterinarians worked through the day, examining injured and bleeding thoroughbreds and advising the humane destruction of those beyond recovery.

Yesterday's fire was discovered about 1:30 a.m., in a group of barns far from the clubhouse and grandstand. These were not threatened by the flames, but two large glass sections were smashed by 45-mile-an-hour winds accompanying the snowstorm.

Winds through the day piled the snow into drifts 3½ feet, causing track officials to call off attempts to clear the track and parking areas. These and roads leading to the track must be opened before racing is resumed at the southern Maryland track plagued by fire and snow in recent years.

Yesterday's fire was the 15th since Bowie opened in 1914. Two years ago 12 horses were lost in a barn fire. In 1961, six persons were killed and more than 100 were hurt in the wreck of a special train for racegoers near the track and fire destroyed a betting area in the grandstand the same day.

In 1958 a weekend blizzard marooned about 5,000 fans at Bowie. In 1952, the meet was interrupted by fog, rain and sleet.

"We're not discouraged," said General Manager Jack Loome after the latest misfortune. "It's just nature and we'll keep running."

A Profitable Season For Minnesota Twins

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Minnesota Twins reported yesterday net income of $762,000 for 1965, up $169,000 from the previous year.

Gross income was $5.3 million, compared with $3.9 million in 1964.

Serena 3rd In Acapulco Yacht Race

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Kialoa 11, Jim Kilroy's 73-foot aluminum sloop from Newport Harbor, held a narrow lead today in the 1,430-mile San Diego-to-Acapulco yacht race.

Trailing by two miles was Serena, scratch yacht of the 25-boat fleet.

Radio reports from the escort vessel Qualifier 85 reported Bob Johnson's Ticonderoga, famed 73-foot ketch representing Portland, Ore., Yacht Club, about three miles behind Serena, in third position.

All three class A boats were making about eight knots in the 8-to-15 mile-an-hour winds that shifted to north-northwest.

Leader on a corrected time basis was Bob Foster's 40-Aegaen with Russ Lamoureaux at the helm. The class B boat is out of San Diego Yacht Club.

As Mueller Goes, So Goes USF

Erwin Mueller,, the University of San Francisco's 6-8, 220-pound center, was acclaimed yesterday as player of the week by the Northern California Basketball Writers Assn.

Mueller scored 25 points in leading the Dons to a 81-73 triumph over Southern California last Friday night. USC also fell before Santa Clara 79-76 Saturday night.

Pete Peletta, Don coach, said USF's success depends in great measure on Mueller. "If he goes well the team does well," Peletta said.

The Dons play at U.C. Santa Barbara Thursday and at San Jose State Saturday in West Coast Athletic Conference games. San Jose State and Santa Clara meet in a traditional game Thursday and Santa Clara goes to Santa Barbara Saturday.

Stanford and California will encounter tough opposition in weekend series with Oregon and Oregon State as Pacific Eight play resumes after a break for examinations.

"It's a must weekend for us," said Rene Herrer.as, California coach. With a 1-3 league record, Cal hosts Oregon State Friday and Oregon Saturday.

"We expect Oregon to be real tough now that guard Jim Barnett is in good shape again," said Howie Dallmar, Stanford coach. The Indians play Oregon Friday and OSC Saturday.

McKeever Still In Coma; 9 Weeks

LONG BEACH (AP)—Former football star Mike McKeever was in his ninth week in a coma today, with no indication when he might regain consciousness.

Doctors at Long Beach Memorial Hospital said McKeever, who suffered head injuries in an auto accident, remains in unchanged condition.

Doctors, in an attempt to help the 25-year-old athlete's general condition, have taken him from his bed and kept him standing for several minutes at a time.

I Knew I Was Ready, Says Ken After Great Comeback

By P. D. ELDRED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The stage was set and Ken Venturi was ready for his come-from-behind victory yesterday in the Lucky International Golf Tournament, the San Franciscan said after edging Frank Beard by one stroke.

"I could feel my game shaping up for the past month," said the 34-year-old Venturi, who now has to battle bad circulation in his hands as well as the course when he golfs.

"I didn't know whether I would win this tournament. But, from the way my game was coming along, I knew I was ready to win," Venturi said.

Ken called this $8,500 first money win over the 6,692-yard Harding Park course one of his most satisfying, particularly because of the perfection of his play. In the final decisive round, he hit 18 greens, only took 31 putts and one-putted five greens.

"When I started this crucial last round, I figured I would have to shoot a six-under 65 to win," Ken said. "But Frank Beard, who teed off leading me by four strokes, got bogey trouble on the back side and that made the difference."

11 UNDER

Actually, Ken finished with 66, which left him 11 under for four rounds of the tournament. Beard slipped to a last round par 71, leaving him at 10 under.

Because of his circulation problem, Ken uses chemical hand warmers. Part of the time he puts black leather gloves on both hands, the left one over a yellow golf glove. He had an operation on his hands last June but says he must live with his ailment permanently.

"I never knew I was leading Beard until the 17th," Venturi said. "And even then, I wasn't sure. I thought I was in front by a stroke as I had heard about Frank's bogey trouble on the back nine.

NO TROUBLE

"But I never was concerned. As hole after hole started grinding out with no trouble at all, I felt I could win."

Ken said he had his momentum going strong in the third round and "the biggest key to my final win was the eight-foot putt I had to get down on the 18th Sunday.

"If I hadn't made that putt, I could have lost my momentum."

Ken has played Harding Park more than any other course. He has scored as low as 62 on the tree lined layout, many of its tricky holes flanked by Lake Merced.

"I had a definite pattern when I went out Monday morning for the final round," Ken said, adding with a laugh that his caddy, Jim Allio of adjacent Daly City "was more worried than I was as we came into the last holes."

WARRIORS DRUB BALTIMORE

Hey, Look Who's In Second

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors have just landed in second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn.

But it's lucky for them they aren't in the same division as the East's second-place Cincinnati Royals who test the West's new runners-up tonight in San Francisco.

If they were in the same division, the Warriors would be 11 games behind the Royals.

San Francisco moved past Baltimore into second place last night by thrashing the Bullets 131-118. Paul Neumann scored 16 points for the Warriors in the first six minutes of the fourth quarter and the Bullets fell 16 points behind, never to recover.

The victory, the Warriors' third straight, gave them a 25-30 season mark and moved them to 5½ games behind the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Royals, at 34-17, would be 5½ games ahead of the Lakers, if they were in the same division, in case you want more comparisons.

Baltimore played without high scorer Don Ohl, who remained in a Los Angeles hospital after being injured Sunday against the Lakers. The Bullets took off for New York where they play the Knicks tonight in a Madison Square Garden doubleheader preceded by Detroit against Boston.

Neumann finished with 27 points, while rookie flash Rick Barry chipped in 29 for the Warriors. Kevin Loughrey took game honors with 31 points for the Bullets.

HANLEY

Seldom has the annual visit of touring golf pros been more serene. Usually one or more of them sound sour notes. Not this time. The Crosby weather was so benign nobody could find fault with it. Harding Park's greens were so smooth they defied criticism although the Lucky weather was mixed.

Above all, the tournament sponmooners. Everybody loved everybody. It was quite a contrast from two years ago when TV came between the happy couples. TV riches now has brought them together again.

WHOEVER HEARD of the PGA paying a sponsor? Sponsors are supposed to put up money and make up deficits. So naturally John Keane beamed when the PGA presented him with a $7,000 check even though 75 per cent was earmarked for Lucky prize money. The chairman of the Lucky was so delighted he chunked the entire $7,000 into the tournament's pot.

THE $7,000 represented the Lucky's cut from the PGA's first TV package contract even though the Lucky wasn't televised. To prevent overexposure the PGA permits only 13 or 14 of its 43 official tournaments to be televised. But all tournament sponsors share in the TV take which was $750,000 under last year's initial PGA package deal. In 1964 the same tournaments netted only $50,000 with individual sponsors negotiating separate TV contracts.

THE PGA told the sponsors in 1964 that it was taking over TV rights and furthermore was going to allot 75 per cent of them to its golfers in added prize money. The sponsors screamed. Keane, the same fellow now happy, was a loud screamer. "I don't see how they can expect to get something ont rightfully theirs," he said.

WHEN SPONSORS of the Phoenix Open balked at the PGA demand, the PGA in effect called a strike. For a time it looked like the Phoenix Open wouldn't be played in 1964. But Lionel Hebert's diplomatic handling of that squabble convinced the Thunderbirds, sponsors of the Phoenix Open, pro golfers weren't trying to act like muscle men.

"I think the day will come," Hebert told the Thunderbirds, "when sponsors will be able to keep all their receipts and not even put up any purses if they will go along with us on our TV package plan."

JAY HEBERT, Lionel's brother, was PGA tournament chairman at the time and he told sponsors: "Several years ago, the PGA assigned television rights to you but, with few exceptions, you haven't done much with them. Now we intend to see what we can do. The PGA is a strong, national organization well equipped to market TV rights."

Obviously, the PGA has done a better job of selling than individual tournament sponsors but the day is still far off when sponsors "will be able to keep all their receipts and not even put up any purses."

Burns To Coach At Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Jerry Burns, dismissed as head football coach at Iowa after five dismal seasons, has stepped up instead of down.

Burns was added yesterday to the coaching staff of the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Football League three of the last five seasons.

It was a prestigous appointment to a staff that has produced two new head football coaches in the NFL within the last month.

Vince Lombardi, head coach, general manager and taciturn taskmaster of the Packers, didn't specify what Burns would do, although it was expected he would take over defensive backfield duties.

Burns replaces Norb Hecker, who welded the stingiest pass defense unit in the NFL last season and was named last week as head coach of the new Atlanta Falcons.

Burns has stayed largely in seclusion at his home in Iowa City since he was fired in mid-November. He had no immediate comment.

Lombardi has a reputation for driving his staff even harder than he drives his players. Taking over at Green Bay in 1959 after the Packers' worst season in history, he put together a hand-picked staff and a team that has carved the best winning record in the NFL over the last six seasons.

Bill Austin, a graduate of Lombardi's staff who moved on to Los Angeles last year, was named recently as new head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers. Lombardi's ace defensive line coach, Phil Bengtson, reportedly had other offers dangled before him in the reshuffling of the NFL coaching lineup since the season ended.

Burns, a surprise choice, left Iowa after 12 years on the Hawkeye staff and five as head coach. His 1965 squad, a favorits for the Big Ten title, slumped to a 1-8 record and extended Iowa's conference losing string to 12 games.

Burns was dismissed four days before the season ended.

WELL, THERE IT GOES, KEN . . . Getting a firm grip on the $8,500 check won by her husband yesterday when the ink was still wet was Mrs. Ken Venturi. Hubby didn't seem to mind, though, as he had his hand raised in triumph by Lucky International Golf Tournament general chairman John Keane (right). Stories on page 33. (AP Wirephoto)

Antitrust Trial Is Advanced To Feb. 28

By KEN HARTNETT

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Baseball lawyers say the National League isn't ignoring a Wisconsin court order. In fact, they say, they'll be trying to knock it out of the box later this week.

Bowie Kuhn, attorney for the National League, told Circuit Court Judge Elmer Roller yesterday that his order was unjustified, was issued without a proper hearing and did not have "sufficient certainty and specificity for us to comply with it."

But, Kuhn said, the National League wasn't ignoring the order which directs it to prepare to field a baseball team in Milwaukee this spring, either the Atlanta-bound Braves or a still unborn expansion club.

Kuhn said the league will move later this week if possible, to have the order vacated.

But his remarks didn't stop the state from having a rhetorical field day at baseball's expense as it pressed for and won an advance in the trial date of its antitrust action against the game.

The trial, moved back last week to March 7, is now scheduled to begin Feb. 28 before Roller.

"The state finds it hard to believe," thundered William S. Stafford, special counsel, "that the National League, which takes such pains to present an Eagle Scout image of its ball players, would be so irresponsible as to flout a court order . . . truly it is in the character of the monopolistic men we are dealing with."

Mantle, Maris To Bunt More: Keane

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — The mighty Yankees are going to substitute the jab for the haymaker.

Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle are going to do more bunting this year in Manager Johnny Keane's new plan of attack.

"We're not going to sit back and wait for the home run," said Keane, who was bitterly disappointed last year when the injured Yanks floundered and finished sixth.

"We are going to do more bunting," said Keane. "What's wrong with having Mantle bunt? With men on first and second and nobody out, Mr. Maris is going to bunt."

Keane made his remarks at a news conference yesterday, called to announce the signing of pitcher Bob Friend and shortstop Ruben Amaro. Friend reportedly got $42,000 from the Yanks. There were no estimates of Amaro's salary.

Asked if the new bunting attack resulted from the Los Angeles Dodgers' success, Keane said:

"The Dodgers had something to do with it. You notice Boston led the league in home runs last year and finished ninth. When I was with St. Louis we used to go for the bunt when we played at Chavez Ravine. We're going to be doing more of it at Yankee Stadium, Boston and Baltimore.

"You don't see anybody charging Maris and Mantle when they're at the plate. I want to make all our players more adept bunters.

"No longer will I hesitate about having Maris or Mantle bunt. When I was at St. Louis, we never did have Stan Musial bunt. It just wasn't supposed to be done. Yes, that's right. Maybe I was overwhelmed by the glamor of Musial like I was by the glamor of Mantle.

"I've come to realize there are times when it is the best thing to do. Why shouldn't the big men bunt?"

Ralph Houk, Yankee general manager, said the latest report from Rochester, Minn., was that Mantle would be in full swing in mid-March and ready for opening day. He said he expected Mantle to start working out March 1 when the club reports at Fort Laudderdale, Fal. Mickey recently underwent an operation at the Mayo Clinic for the removal of a bone particle from his right shoulder.

Keane said the success of the operation eliminated any possibility that Mickey might be moved to first base.

"If he hadn't had the operation and if his shoulder still bothered him, we might have tried first base," said Keane. "I was hesitant about it because you are taking a chance on his legs at first base and his legs held up pretty good last year."

End Advance.

Best-Kept Secret At UCLA Is 7 Feet Tall

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The best-kept secret at UCLA is 7 feet 1½ inches tall, which is pretty tall to keep a secret.

School authorities, from Athletic Director J. D. Morgan down, have thrown a protective screen around the young man from Power High school in New York.

A spokesman said Lew's parents asked that he be shielded from excess publicity.

Non-school sources whisper that the unique request came also from, of all places, members of the UCLA varsity team.

The upperclassmen, who started as the nation's No. One ranked team and then dropped out of the top 10, are still irked by the defeat they absorbed from the school's sensational freshman team in a pre-season game.

Whatever the ease, the frosh are still undefeated in nine games and Alcindor and his mates have averaged an amazing 115 points a game.

Alcindor, the center, has averaged 33.5 points per contest and broke the Brubabe one-game scoring record with 48 points against San Diego City College last month.

He made 21 of 23 field goal attempts and got six more points on free throws. It erased a 40-point game record set in 1959 by Ron Lawson.

Alcindor is surrounded by talent, doubtless the finest ever in the history of UCLA's bright history in basketball.

Kent Taylor, with a 6.7 scoring average, and Lynn Shackleford, 22.5, are at forward; Lucius Allen, 23.4, and Kenny Heitz, 13.3, make up the fabulous five.

Undoubtedly the understatement of the year at UCLA was the line in the press book describing Alcindor.

"Rated as a top prospect," it read.

Seals To Apply For Big League Franchise Monday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Fleharty, acting president of the San Francisco Seals of the Western Hockey League, said yesterday that formal application for a National Hockey League franchise will be made at an NHL directors meeting in New York next Monday.

Fleharty, 41, and head of the Shasta Corp., said he plans to arrive in New York Sunday with Frank Tatum, attorney and legal adviser for the Seals.

Fleharty became acting president following the sale of his stock interest last week by Mel Swig, hotel executive.

SEATTLE (AP) — San Francisco's Seals, trying for a playoff berth in the Western Hockey League, open an eight-game trip tonight against the Seattle Totems. The Seals are in fifth place.

Wilt Gains On West In NBA Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers are on the move in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn., and it is reflected in the statistics where 76er star Wilt Chamberlain has gained ground on scoring leader Jerry West of Los Angeles.

Chamberlain scored 156 points in four games last week, including 53 against Los Angeles, for a total of 1,743 to 1,792 for West.

His 65 for 114 from the floor also moved Chamberlain into a first-place tie in field goal percentage, at .522, with Baltimore's Johnny Green, the statistics released today showed.

Chamberlain continues to lead in rebounds with 1,243, Guy Rodgers of San Francisco is first in assists with 572, and Boston's Larry Siegfried tops the free throw percentage leaders with .882.

Hurtubise Receives Award For Courage

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Auto racing driver Jim Hurtubise of North Tonawanda, N.Y., was named the most courageous athlete of 1965 last night by the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association.

Hurtubise, 3, who returned to racing last March after recovering from a serious 1964 racing accident, was honored at the association's 62nd annual banquet.

Sloppy Bruins Scolded, But Turn Back Arizona

LOS ANGELES (AP)—UCLA coach Johnny Wooden, scolding the Bruins for committing too many ball control errors, says he was still pleased with their 84-67 basketball victory over Arizona.

The Bruins forced the Wildcats into the same sort of ball control errors last night in a non-conference game at Pauley Pavilion. And UCLA turned all the errors into points.

Wooden said he was particularly pleased with the victory since UCLA was without starter Edgar Lacey, ill with the flu.

The trouble with the Bruins this year, said Wooden afterwards, is "they don't have good hands," don't handle the ball well and miss passes. Wooden said the problem particularly damaged the Bruins' offense.

The Bruins had a good outside game, however, said Wooden, with the shooting of Mike Lynn. Lynn paced the victors with 23 points.

Longshooting Harvey Fox was high man for Arizona with 17.

The play-making of Mike Warren set up the Bruin offense and kept them out of trouble.

"Our full court press hurt them," said Wooden.

The score was 14-11 in UCLA's favor when the Wildcats suddenly buckled under the pressure of the Bruin press. UCLA scored 11 in a row to take a 25-13 advantage. It was easy sailing for the Bruins after that.

100 Pct. Pay Hike For Yankee Ace Mel Stottlemyer

Completing his first full season with the Yankees, the slender native of Mabton, Wash., won 20, lost 9 and led the regular Yankee pitchers with a 2.63 earned run average.

Stottlemyre, 6-foot-2 and 175 pounds, joined the Yankees in August of 1964, after posting a 13-3 record at Richmond, and proceeded to win six of 12 decisions in the remaining six weeks of the American League season. His brilliant pitching enabled the Yankees to overhaul both Chicago and Baltimore to capture the American League pennant by one game over the White Sox.

Spring Weather May Ruin World Bobsled Races

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP) — A second successive day of warm weather threatened today to wreck the world four-man bobsledding championship.

Unseasonable heat, with temperatures rising well above freezing, was eating away at the icy walls of the 1,720-meter chute where the event is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Lowest temperature last night was four below zero but by this morning the mercury had risen to three above zero and was still going up.

Spring-like temperatures descended on this Alpine resort yesterday, and by noontime it was so warm skiers in shirt sleeves and girls sun bathing in bikinis were a common sight.

"One more warm day like that and the track could be ruined beyond repair for the weekend competition," said Renato Manaigo, member of the chute supervising committee.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

STEVENS

Even in fishing, styles change from year to year. Today the angling addicts in this area, particularly in the upper San Pablo Bay and the lower Suisun Bay, arm themselves with a supply of grass shrimps and go out to do battle with sturgeon rather than with striped bass. It was not so long ago that the hooking of a sturgeon was an accident while fishing for stripers. Today that order is reversed.

In talking with Harbor Master Charlie Schmelz, Dowrelio's Harbor at Crockett, I learned that: "Every boat out on Thursday and Friday came in with limits. Nothing like it has ever been known."

CHARLIE ALSO reported flounders in copious quantity have been taken this past week, most by those actually fishing for flounders but almost as many by accident. (The grass shrimp used for the taking of sturgeon is also a tempting tidbit for flounders.)

On Saturday and Sunday, the ocean was too rough and the wind too strong for even the rockfishing boats to do more than drive to the G. G. Bridge and return to port.

IN TALKING WITH Tony Caruso of Caruso's Harbor at Sausalito, I learned that last Wednesday a teeming school of herring was spotted just outside his harbor. Men, women and boys reaped a harvest of the little fish. Buckets, pans and other utensils were filled with herring.

It seems that for some unknown reason the spawning herring have not shown in the Richmond area.

IT IS A MISTAKE to believe that the pressure on sturgeon fishing is made because of no striped bass around. There are bass, some real lunkers, too, just waiting a chance to grab one's bait. Hal Boenner of Lee Anderson's Shop in Oakland reported the boat, E.O.11, with four rods working near Buoy No. 5, coming in with 11 stripers to 17 pounds.

THE REPORT from the Fruitvale Bait and Tackle informed that while striper fishing is very slow, a goodly number of perch have been taken from shore between Fruitvale Bridge and the train bridge, also some at or near High Street have been caught by anglers using grass shrimp, both live and frozen, under the Bay Farm Island Bridge.

No reports of steelhead or salmon catches in the Sacramento River, which was scheduled to become prime in the Anderson Valley-Redding area. Probably delayed again account of badly colored waters.

Near-Expert Skier In Just One Winter?

By JACK PERRON

PARK CITY, Utah (AP) — The story probably will be told some day about the icelandic caveman who sat down to carve out the winter world's answer to the wheel — skis.

No doubt it will tell how he completed his task, strapped on the worlds' first pair of skis and set off down a snowy hillside — only to fall and break a leg.

Man hasn't changed much since those days. His tendency to grab a pair of skis and set off down a slope is still there — as is his tendency to break a leg.

But even though such an injury will always be a hazard in the sport, they say it can be avoided during the learning stages with proper instruction.

The result of years of study, the "Official American Ski Technique" was published in 1964 by the Professional Ski Instructors of America.

Not meant to be a new style of skiing, the technique is a conglomeration of the best skiing forms from foreign countries.

And today it's the guide for nearly all ski instruction in the United States.

The American technique is based on seven principles: forward lean, total motion, unweighting by an up-motion, counter rotation, weight transfer, natural position and angulation. These are some of the terms with which a novice has to become familiar on his way to the expert level.

And it's possible to become a near-expert in one winter through the American system, says Dave Larsen, one of 45 men and women instructors at the Treasure Mountain ski resort here.

Located 30 minutes away, Park City is one of the reasons Salt Lake City believes it will be chosen as host for the 1972 international Winter Olympics.

"The American Ski Technique is the quickest, safest and most enjoyable way of taking a novice out of his office chair and placing him on the slopes," says Larsen.

When a beginner starts his instruction with Larsen he gets an introduction to the ski equipment — and how to wear it. He learns how to walk, fall and stand. And before the first lesson ends, the student has gained a feeling of control.

The American Ski Technique takes the novice through all phases with his individual talents in mind. And, slow or fast, everyone enjoys the ability to progress, Larsen says.

President Johnson said in proclaiming Jan. 20-31 National Ski Week: "Skiing in the United States has now become one of our most popular sports."

Marin PAL To Buy Boxing Equipment

Marin Police Athletic League (PAL) directors Friday voted to purchase boxing equipment for matches to be held starting in two or three weeks at the Mill Valley Community and Youth Center, William Porter, president, said today. The board also decided to attempt to establish a similar program for teenagers in Central Marin, possibly in San Rafael.

New Planning Director Gives Some Opinions

Paul Zucker, the county's new planning director attending his first commission session yesterday, gave his views on a general plan for Marin and a design review board.

He told the commission that his preliminary thoughts on a general plan are that preparation would take at least two years, that it should be a study of the entire county, including cities and areas that are already covered by general plans, and that federal funds probably should be requested.

WITH OWN STAFF

Zucker said he believes the study should be done by the county staff, with consultants brought in only for special matters such as "transportation and visual effects."

The commission adopted in principle the need for a general plan as a high priority item in the county program, regardless of the availability of federal funds.

The federal "701" program provides partial funding of general plan studies. Zucker said he hoped to develop more detailed recommendations prior to preparation of budget requests for next fiscal year.

Zucker said the planning staff would probably have to be increased.

"It will be a large undertaking," he said. "I don't feel that we're staffed up to do the job at this moment."

On a proposed design board, which has been under study for several months, Zucker had some reservations. He said the commission must be very clear on what the design board is to do and what the staff's relation with it should be.

CITES PROBLEMS

"It may be a good idea," he said, but warned there have been big problems with the design board concept all across the country.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty said he envisioned a panel of architects and design specialists that the commission could draw on to study major problems, maybe using only one or two specialists. Use of the design board would be discretionary with the commission.

Commissioner Margaret Azevedo said she favored a design board because she has seen "timidity among commissioners to stand on their subjective reactions. I've felt the need for professionals."

Zucker said he would present a detailed recommendation soon.

The new planner also told the commission that his preliminary opinion is that the county zoning ordinance will have to have an overall revision, rather than piece-meal changes.

Drunken Driver Fined

Bernhardt Crane Rosen, 29, San Francisco, was fined $300 and placed on six months probation in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving. He was arrested on Highway 101 last Thursday by California Highway Patrol.

West Marin Plan Density Hike Voted

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday adopted an addendum to the West Marin master plan necessitated by a density increase over the original plan approved by the commission on Jan. 17.

Instead of a proposed density of 86 of one housing unit per acre, the commission approved 86. This would permit ultimate population of the area to be 87,500 rather than 66,000.

This means that 21 rather than 15 elementary schools will be needed, five rather than four junior high schools, and three rather than two high schools.

The commission also approved addition of three acres to the proposed Millerton shopping Center, 11 acres to the Point Reyes Station shopping center, and three acres to the Olema shopping center.

The increase in maximum population will also call for two additional fire stations, one at Bivalve and another at Five Brooks, according to estimates presented by Rowland J. Darnell of the county planning staff.

Commissioners voted 4-0 in favor of the changes. Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. abstained because of an interest he has in land at Olema, and Commissioner Harry H. Heifetz had to leave the session early to keep a dental appointment. Felix M. Warburg resigned from the commission yesterday.

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday also:

1. Approved a use permit for Darnell to operate a dog kennel on his home site at 45 Crest Road, Black Point.
2. Denied appeal of Alice Garrison who wanted frontage of her land at 11 Greenwood Way in Kentfield on a 20-foot rather than 40-foot easement. Neighbors complained the property was subject to sliding and the applicant never should have been granted a lot split, approved several months ago.
3. Set hearing Feb. 14 on commercial zoning for Kentfield Corners that would encourage coordination of development among several property owners.
4. Set hearing Feb. 14 on revisions in Las Gallinas general plan that would include possible revision in the alignment of Merrydale Roads extension.
5. Agreed to give the Homestead Valley Improvement Club a hearing on its protest against a land division approved for Robert M. Maguire's land on Linden Lane. Commissioners agreed they would reconsider the matter if the club should show proper grounds for appeal.
6. Adjourned at 6:45 p.m.

'Copters To Change Building Methods

NEW YORK (AP)—The construction industry predicts that commercial helicopters of the future will revolutionize the building of dams, bridges and other vast projects in hard-to-reach areas.

Modified versions of the giant-size "flying crane" helicopters which are being used by the U.S. Army, are capable of moving trucks, bridge sections and even bulldozers over roadless terrain.

New Notary Public

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today announced issuance of a notary public commission to Frank J. Mee, Santa Venetia.

"Any average family can now amass cash—perhaps even become rich—because of the methods banks use in compounding your interest."

"Yes, there is a way to double your money without speculating."

Dr. Leslie C. Peacock, Vice President and Economist for Crocker-Citizens National Bank, suggests how to get ahead financially.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: In this day and age, is there still a way to double your money without speculating?

DR. PEACOCK: Absolutely. Based on our current interest rate and method of computation, money you deposit now with our bank in a savings account will double in about 17½ years. And every dollar you deposit will amount to about four dollars in 35 years at today's 4% rate. The secret lies in the way your interest compounds.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: How does this differ from other forms of investment?

DR. PEACOCK: The market value of real estate, mutual funds, stocks and bonds can go up or down, of course, but dollars compounding interest can go in only one direction—up. You know your money is growing when it's in the bank, and you can count on it for retirement.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: True, but most families don't have large lump sums to deposit right now. How can they plan for a comfortable retirement?

DR. PEACOCK: Social Security is a mainstay, but even supplemented by income from a company pension plan, it may be hardly enough for more than minimum comforts, not to mention emergencies or extra luxuries such as travel. But there is a way the average family can amass cash without taking speculative risks. It requires laying away a few dollars every month in a savings account with the bank, and letting compound interest go to work over a long period. The arithmetic may startle you.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Can you give an example?

DR. PEACOCK: Say you're a 25-year-old just out of college and starting your first job. If you save just $10 a month, you will have deposited $4,800 by the time you're 65. But you would actually have $11,819 cash in your account—provided, of course, the current 4% compound interest rate is in effect throughout the entire period. Your $10 deposits would earn $7,019 interest at that rate. And certainly most working people should be able to save at least $10 a month.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Will interest rates change?

DR. PEACOCK: We can't predict that. Of course, the rate can go either up or down, and over the periods of time we're talking about it could change several times.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Assuming that the current rate applied, at age 65 would you draw out that $11,819 nest egg?

DR. PEACOCK: Well, you could draw it out at the rate of $70 a month—and it would last you 20 years and 7½ months. That's a total payout during that time of $17,325, all from a total investment of $4,800. That's a pretty handsome return, I'd say.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Say you were 35 years old and deposited $50 a month until you were 65. How much cash would you have?

DR. PEACOCK: Using today's rate and method of computation, $34,735. You would have deposited only $18,000 in an investment which doesn't fluctuate in market value.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Stocks and bonds fluctuate in value. Does this mean you advise against them as investments?

DR. PEACOCK: No, quite to the contrary. Other investments have their advantages, too. They're fine—but only after you've covered all the other bases, such as life, health and other insurance, a cash reserve for emergencies, and perhaps a home of your own.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Some of our neighbors are saving $100 a month by using your "Layaway Plan" service. Isn't this stretching things a bit?

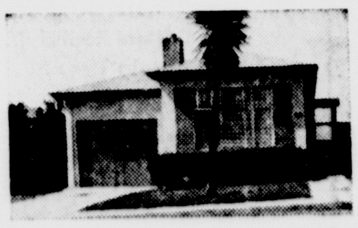
DR. PEACOCK: Maybe or maybe not, but these families will be well off. For example, if a breadwinner at age 25 could save $100 a month until he reaches 65, he would have $118,197 cash in the bank. His deposits would have earned $70,197 interest at the current rate. For the average family, saving as much as $100 each month might be fairly hard. It could mean making some sacrifices now—but it's worth it in the long run if you want true financial security and a rich, full life at retirement age.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: What's the best age to start saving?

DR. PEACOCK: The earlier the better, but the rewards are great at any age. The secret, of course, is to get started now and to stick with it. One couple our bank serves started just last week to save $100 a month. He's 45 years old. When he reaches 65, our figures show they'll have $36,744—in cash. Then they plan to buy some income property and live happily ever after. We think they'll do it, too.

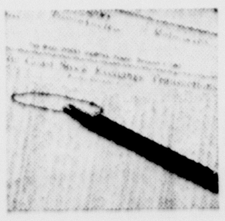
"1. INSURANCE is essential and should be provided to protect your wife and children.

2. A CASH RESERVE is next, for a comfortable retirement, emergencies, a possible down payment on a house, or perhaps a college education for your children. This should be in a bank savings account, too.



3. BUYING A HOUSE is often better than paying rent.

4. PENSIONS AND SOCIAL SECURITY will help give you security—but not luxuries—in your later years.



5. OTHER INVESTMENTS have their advantages, too, but only after you've covered all the other bases."

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Bankers say that too many families are missing a golden opportunity to achieve financial security. Is it really a good time to save?

DR. PEACOCK: Decidedly—especially here in California, where incomes are higher than ever before and also higher than in other parts of the country. If a family can't save now, it may be that it never will.

NOTE: The amounts quoted are subject to any change in the Bank's savings interest rate or method of interest computation and are before income taxes, which of course will vary according to individual circumstances.

Book Furor Was Handled With Frankness, Dispatch

Two things are noteworthy in the sequence of events which led to the removal of Jack Kerouac's "On The Road" from the recommended reading list for a special class at Terra Linda High School.

One is the refreshing frankness with which Mitchell L. Voydat, assistant superintendent of San Rafael schools, appraised the novel. The other is the dispatch with which Voydat and his committee submitted their report to the San Rafael Board of Education. Both are commendable.

The Voydat report was completed and submitted to the board while the issue was still hot. There was no stalling and no attempt to "study it to death" in the hope that the problem would go away.

Dr. Voydat's appraisal was straight and to the point. He found, in effect, that what literary merit the book has is not sufficient to counterbalance the objectionable qualities of many of the passages.

He found "an excessive preoccupation with sex" and "sensational" treatment of sex, and termed the book "generally offensive" to good taste. His conclusion: As literature for 16 and 17 year olds, the book fails.

All too often, educators seem to defend the decisions or recommendations of other educators, more out of loyalty to members of their profession, than on the merits of the issue at hand (a book, in this case).

Dr. Voydat did not say so in so many words. But we detect in his report the reasoning of an educator who can see the practical side of this particular controversy; to wit:

Why spend time and energy and, at the expense of frayed nerves, defend a book which has been criticized by many parents and which admittedly has little literary value when countless other volumes of equal or higher merit are available to students. So let's wind up this bickering and get on with the main job — basic education of youngsters.

And if that basic education were to suffer from the removal of that one volume, then we would undoubtedly find educators like Dr. Voydat fighting for its retention.

It is a rarity for an educator to take a public position in a controversy which tends to admit to a questionable choice of reading matter by another educator. As such, Dr. Voydat's comments were most refreshing.

Teachers, like members of other professions, should be able to accept, at least tolerate, criticism from the public and from each other. If all professions were to rigidly reject any and all criticisms, there would be little advancement or improvement.

The San Rafael Board of Education has set a future date, at which time the Voydat report will be on the agenda "officially." A fitting climax to this episode would be for the board of education to give Dr. Voydat a firm vote of confidence by heartily approving his report and recommendation.

Forget-Me-Nots

What a sentimental name these tiny blue flowers are endowed with! As small as one's little fingernail, they express one of mankind's deepest longings. Who does not wish to be remembered with a kind word or a pleasant thought?

These uniquely blue flowers with the contrasting yellow centers are just starting to bloom in Marin County. They are self propagating and volunteer year after year here.

Plans For Added Paper Work By Taxpayer Cut By Cranston

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — Some of the enthusiasm shown by state civil service employees for the creation of more paper work for government, with resultant impositions on business, was nipped in the bud recently by Alan Cranston, state controller.

Cranston found that the staff of the franchise board had advised individual businessmen on the 1965 state income tax forms, that statements of net worth were necessary for persons showing more than $50,000 annual income. These were to be filed with the tax returns due by April 15.

CRANSTON SAID the requirement, imposed on individuals for the first time, would be "a troublesome and expensive burden on persons who do not use rather sophisticated accounting methods."

The controller conferred with George Reilly and Hale Champion, the other two members of the franchise tax board, and agreement was reached to cancel the requirements for the net worth information on the 1965 income tax forms.

"The questions appeared on the tax forms for the first time this year as a result of a staff decision," Cranston said, "without having been submitted to the Franchise Tax Board for approval."

Cranston pointed out that partnerships and corporations have long been, and still are, required to furnish balance sheet information with their income tax reports. However, he said that requiring individuals to furnish such information would need more study.

"IF THE PROPOSAL arises again in the future," he said, "the public will of course be given ample opportunity to be heard.

Cranston said he wants to make certain that the board is fully apprised of changes in the future, and that it be advised of all major new steps before they are taken.

ALTHOUGH BOTH state and federal income tax returns are supposed to be private business, and in fact, disclosure of returns is prohibited by law, practices are much different and no privacy at all exists between the individual, the state and the federal governments.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has open access to state returns, and the state can and does secure information on federal returns. As a result, if a taxpayer is caught by one of the collection agencies and forced to pay an additional tax, it's not long before the other agency is on his back for more money.

This happens to be the time of year when people are more conscious of the paper requirements of government and resent these requirements for the most part. Cranston should be congratulated for saving some individuals a great deal of useless work.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Deletions Cited In Letter

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Deletions were made in my letter printed in yesterday's "Independent - Journal" (Jan. 27) which gave to the reader the impression that I had written, "There are . . . numerous 'No Dumping' signs" . . . on the county road leading to the Nike missile base.

I remember no such signs, and had simply cited the fact that signs in another area had had no effect.

I realize the need for deleting portions of a long letter for the purpose of publication, and I thank you for printing it. However, I had not intended it as a "Letter-to-the-Editor" at all, but rather, was attempting to call your paper's attention to a public matter needing its attention and coverage.

Theater Needed In County

Editor, Independent-Journal:

For the past 24 years, Junior Theater of Marin has brought professional theater to the children of this county. On Jan. 8, we opened our winter series with a sell-out performance of Lesselli Marionettes' production of "Hansel and Gretel."

Since San Rafael High School auditorium was not available this year, and this county does not have a suitable theater for our series, we are presenting our program in a new location, through the courtesy of Marin Country Day School.

Perhaps the people turned away at the door will recognize the need for a theater to be built in this county that will not only offer our children the opportunity to appreciate good theater, but a facility in which they may participate as they grow older.

Surely, other cultural groups must share our concern. We are anxiously awaiting the construction of the auditorium at the Civic Center in 1969 (?), and yet we might ask ourselves if this will be sufficient to meet our various needs.

Following our policy, season tickets will still be sold at the Feb. 5 production of "Aladdin" and holders will continue to be seated first. Individual tickets, when available, will be sold at the door.

Watch Out For Turned Worm

Editor, Independent-Journal:

So many people seem to assume that the only individuals voicing disapproval of some of the books used in the high schools are "fearful parents," anxious about the undermining of students' morals. 'Taint necessarily so! The enemies of God, including Lucifer, have been battling Him since He first conceived creatures, and He hasn't gone out of style, yet.

Many taxpayers in this district do not have children in these schools, some never have had, and some never will. This does not deprive them of their right to protest being forced, through taxation, to purchase what they consider pornography, and directly, to cause it to be distributed to minors . . .

There is no doubt that the great majority of our teachers are dedicated, indispensable members of the community, too often not sufficiently appreciated, or compensated, by those of us who would not, even if we could, tackle their job for all the tea in China. But to suppose that every teacher, everywhere, justifies the trust placed in him would be naive.

Many references have been made to "fear" . . . "fearful parents." If the truth were known, they often speak out in spite of, not because of, fear—fear of harrassment, fear of ridicule, fear of the classic "smear," (sometimes freely provided by an obliging writer), fear of having their reasonable, not Puritanical, or extreme, protests labeled as the product of lecherous minds.

Someone also mentioned an atmosphere of fear in the classroom. If the fear is there, it isn't generated by parents, and it isn't directed at teachers, and it isn't something that should be counted on too much for too long. It has been said that "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned," but I wonder if a really exhaustive study has been made of the potential in a "turned worm."

Treason Meaning Needs Defining

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mrs. Weymouth's suggestion (Jan. 24) for an essay contest on "What Is Treason" should be given serious consideration.

Definite guidelines should be established as to what constitues "aid and comfort" to enemies in a "cold" or "hot" war, declared or undeclared.

I say any American who donates his blood to an enemy who is at the moment killing his fellow Americans is a traitor and should be convicted as such. Our government obviously does not agree.

The question comes to mind as to just how many officials of the United States government had their fingers crossed when they had to take the following oath of office: "I do solemnly swear or affirm that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to same; that I take the obligation freely without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter, so help me God."

How can any thinking person doubt that decisions are being made every day by the policy makers in our government that are anything but in the best interest of our country? They accommodate Communists at home and collaborate with them on our foreign policy. Through trade we bolster our enemies' economy, and they arm themselves with our foreign aid.

Meanwhile, the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency of our government carries forward its incredible program for total (and, if needs be, unilateral) disarmament while a Russian-armed Cuba lies 90 miles off our shores!

We are sorely in need of guidelines for treason.

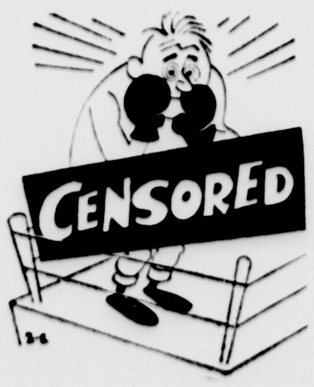
TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

ALLAN SHERMAN recalls in his salty autobiography, "A Gift of Laughter," that within a month after his TV production, "I've Got a Secret" went on the air, he was receiving over four thousand letters a week from would-be participants. A St. Louis gent wrote, "My freckles are green." An Air Force sergeant confided, "I parachuted into a nudist colony." There were people with hearts on the right side, livers on the left, and one benighted soul who swore he had four kidneys. And a professional boxer mailed in a news clipping to prove that one night he had walked into the ring, removed his bathrobe, and discovered, along with the audience, that he was stark naked underneath.



"DARLING," wailed a husband over the phone, "the boss is making me work late again tonight, so don't wait up for me." Back came Friend Wife's gentle voice, "Get out of that bar at once, you big bum, and come home. This is a recording."

Lindsay, Who Eschewed Party In Race, Shows GOP Interest

WASHINGTON—Two significant facts concerning the future of Mayor John Lindsay of New York are coming into focus:

1. He is showing himself actively concerned with what the Republican Party should be and do.

2. Republican leaders are convinced that he can and will play a positive role in the national affairs—and decisions—of the GOP.

Lindsay assigned his closest aide and chief poliltical adviser, Deputy Mayor Robert Price, to take part in the Republican conference in Washington last week on how the GOP can get back into business in the big cities.

Lindsay himself has decided that he is going to speak out on national affairs as a Republican.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS, except the most conservative, are delighted at these developments.

At the off-the-record session of the GOP big-city meeting here, where he was scheduled to appear for only a half-hour, Price held forth for nearly two hours at the insistence of his audience. He discussed at length how Lindsay won in a city 3-to-1 Democratic and how the Republicans can do the same elsewhere.

There was no visible hostility to the mayor's political representative because Lindsay shunned his party label in the New York campaign. In fact, Price made it adequately clear that Lindsay's experience shows that the GOP can break into the Democratic city strongholds only by playing down sharp partisanship and exhibiting a modern awareness of what the big cities require to free themselves from incompetence and neglect.

ANOTHER FACT which emerges from Lindsay's experience is that Republicans can make effective headway in the cities only when they win back a substantial portion of the Negro voters. Lindsay did it in New York by getting 40 per cent of the Negro vote. President Eisenhower won 39 per cent of the Negro vote in 1956; Richard Nixon, 21 per cent in 1960; Goldwater, only 6 per cent in 1964.

Price's appearance at the conference in Washington was gratifying to Republican national chairman Ray Bliss, not only because Price was saying persuasively many of the things Bliss himself believes, but because it marked the first open evidence of a partisan loyalty on the part of the Lindsay administration.

Republican leaders are also pleased by both the toughness and wisdom with which Lindsay handled the harassing transit strike in New York. To the extent that national politics entered the picture, by President Johnson's unwillingness to criticize the strike while it was in progress and eagerness to criticize the settlement after it was reached, they feel that Lindsay came off very well.

NONE OF THIS suggests that Lindsay is going to depart from his intention to conduct himself as a non-partisan mayor. He isn't.

And there is no sign he is going to make a move toward seeking any office other than the one he has. He was elected for four years—which goes to 1969—and few expect him to consider either a presidential or a vice-presidential bid in 1968.

But it is significant that Lindsay is not going to take a non-partisan attitude toward Republican party affairs. He is going to be a voice and a force in the party of considerable weight. He is going to speak out—and stand out—as a Republican.

Investigation Ends Without A Hearing

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—That much-touted House Labor Committee investigation of the $1.5 billion anti-poverty program is being "concluded"—without holding a single hearing or doing anything else of any apparent import.

Orders to drop the probe have been quietly issued by Rep. Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., committee chairman, who launched it last fall with the loudly-avowed intent of continuing through March and possibly longer. For that purpose, he wangled $230,000.

Powell's unannounced ditching edict directs the large staff of investigators to wind up their work forthwith and to submit final reports. That's a joke to Rep. William Ayres, Ohio, senior Republican on the committee.

"THERE IS NOTHING to report," he contends. "The investigation hasn't dug into anything nor uncovered anything. The staff investigators went to a number of cities, but all they brought back were clippings from local newspapers. The committee has quite a file of these, but no solid investigation reports."

According to committee insiders, less than $20,000 remains of the $230,000 voted for the investigation. Where and how the rest was spent awaits accounting.

THE HOUSE Judiciary Committee has decided to take a searching look at the cultural exchange agreement between the U.S. and Russia.

Behind this unannounced decision is word that Sol Hurok, prominent New York ballet and concert impresario, is strenuously pressuring the State Department for special permission to allow the Bolshoi Ballet to tour the U.S. in the spring.

Hurok has a contract for the tour—which would net him and the Soviet a lot of dollars.

The cultural exchange agreement between the U.S. and Russia expired Dec. 31. The Kremlin is dragging its feet on renewal because of Viet Nam, and the U.S. is demanding more latitude and control over artists and productions selected to go to Russia.

LAST YEAR the Soviet refused to accept the widely acclaimed musical comedy "Hello, Dolly" and a number of jazz musicians.

In pressuring the State Department, Hurok is arguing that ballet lovers should not be made to suffer because of the strains and stresses of foreign policy.

The Soviet intimates special permission should also be granted for a countrywide swing by the famed Moscow Circus. Both tours undoubtedly would net the Kremlin several or more million dollars.

THE JOHNSON administration's year-long loudly ballyhooed campaign to curb U.S. investments abroad to reduce the balance-of-payments deficit is taking a paradoxical turn.

With official approval, a Canadian "Business Opportunity Mission" is touring the U.S. soliciting businessmen to invest in Canada.

As inducements they are being offered "labor-wage levels 25-30 per cent lower than in the U.S., entrance into British Commonwealth markets with preferential tariffs, seven and one-half per cent premium on the American dollar, a stable economy."

Members of this mission are five top Ontario government officials. How and why they are being allowed to conduct this dollar-wooing drive is conjectural.

When Rains Come To Belvedere, Newell Family Moves Upstairs

"When the rains come, we start moving things upstairs."

This was Mrs. John H. Newell of 35 Cove Road, Belvedere, speaking about her home, which has been flooded three times since moving to Belvedere six years ago.

When the Newells moved to Belvedere from Los Angeles, they thought they had found a pleasant new home: Nice community, good neighbors and a substantial house.

Then the rains of February, 1961, came.

"We suddenly found we had five inches of water in the living room, the utility room, one of the bedrooms and the outside storage room.

"WE FELT SUNK but passed it off as one of those 'unusual years.' When it happened again in January of 1963, reality began to sink in: We were stuck and wanted some action.

"We began to work for the establishment of a flood control district for the area but after several months of effort the whole thing 'went down the drain.' As Tiburon Mayor Gordon Strawbridge said at the last council meeting, 'It's a shame people somehow stop thinking about flooding when July rolls around'."

The Newells have two children, Kyle, 5, and Jason, 3. Newell is an advertising man in San Francisco.

"WE HAD TO EVACUATE Jason from his room during the recent flooding," Mrs. Newell said. "He either sleeps upstairs with Kyle or with us when the water is on the floor.

"The house? We'd like to move out, but feel it has become a problem of ethics. We couldn't, with good conscience, sell this house and risk putting someone else through the troubles we've experienced.

"When the house flooded again on Jan. 6, we felt trapped. We can't sell the house and the situation is worsening. This time the water put out the pilot light in the furnace and we had to leave the house for two days because the gas and electricity had been turned off."

BUT THERE is some slight hope.

On Jan. 24 the Tiburon City Council instructed City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose to meet with Belvedere City Mgr. William L. Cavalli and George Bitter of the Belvedere Lagoon Property Owners Assn. to discuss the Cove Road flooding problem.

They met informally on Jan. 27 and agreed that all parties were responsible in part for solving the problem. The matter has been placed on the Feb. 7 agenda of the Belvedere City Council.

"This year is lost," said Rose, "but perhaps if we really get working on it, some solutions can be found before the next rainy season."

YOU CAN BE SURE the Newells will be in the audience when the Belvedere City Council next meets.

Let's hope for the Newells and others on Cove Road that we have a dry spell until then —and after.

ART BUCHWALD

It Was Just A Friendly, Little Non-Political Banquet In Boston

BOSTON—The one thing I have discovered about Boston is that people here have no interest in politics whatsoever. They are much more interested in social events, and almost every week they will throw a testimonel dinner for a Massachusetts personality to honor him for all the non-political things he has done.

FOR EXAMPLE, the friends of Kenneth O'Donnell gave a dinner in his honor and 1,400 of his dearest intimates, from every precinct in the state, came to Boston to do him homage and to say what a wonderful guy he is.

Seated on the dais with O'Donnell, who was the late President Kennedy's closest aide, were such non-political personalities as Sen. Mike Mansfield, former Gov. Mike DiSalle of Ohio, Speaker of the California Assembly Jesse Unruh, Sen. Robert Kennedy, Sen. Teddy Kennedy, and Joseph D. Keenan, international secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

WHILE CITIZENS all over the state were discussing who would be the Democratic nominee for governor, not one person at the dinner mentioned a word about it.

"We honor a guy here in Boston for himself," a friend of Kenny O'Donnell's said to me, "and I don't think one person would have shown up tonight if he thought this dinner was politically motivated."

"You don't see dinners like this anymore," I said, "where people just come out for fun."

"Kenny wanted it that way. He doesn't get to see his friends much anymore and he felt this would be a good way to get together."

AFTER DESSERT each speaker got up to give a non-political tribute to O'Donnell. Senators Robert Kennedy, Teddy Kennedy, and Mike Mansfield told how close Kenny had been to President Kennedy. Jesse Unruh told how close O'Donnell had been to California. Jack Conway of the AFL-CIO told how close O'Donnell had been to labor, former Gov. DiSalle told how close Kenny had been to Ohio, and Gov. John King of New Hampshire told how close Massachusetts was to New Hampshire.

EACH SPEAKER pointed out that Kenneth O'Donnell was a great administrator, a man who could get things done, a man in the tradition of other great Massachusetts leaders, and a man who would fight for the things he believed in.

Then, since it was a non-political dinner, the speakers all ended by saying they didn't know what O'Donnell had planned for the future, but they would be willing to support him in anything he wanted to do.

O'DONNELL GOT UP and made his non-political reply to the speeches. As a private citizen he said he was worried about the state of Massachusetts which had been drifting for so many years. He felt that more things had to be done on a state rather than a Federal level.

He spelled out his non-political philosophy about education, urban renewal, the war on poverty, air and water pollution, and honesty in government. He called for new aggressive leadership wherever Massachusetts could find it.

"You know," I said to the friend of Kenny O'Donnell's who was studying a map of the districts in the state, "Kenny ought to run for governor."

The friend looked at me horrified. "Perish the thought."

Bennett Blisters Delay In Reopening Rail Tunnel

California Public Utilities Commissioner William M. Bennett blistered "deliberate delaying tactics" of Northwestern Pacific Railroad in an opinion concurring with the PUC's order yesterday that the road reopen the Puerto Suello Tunnel in San Rafael by June 30.

Wrote Bennett:

"This applicant persists in a philosophy of ignoring its public responsibilities and takes no cognizance of the fact that it is endowed with fixed legal obligations towards the public. The entire north coastal area of California has long been denied proper rail service simply because this common carrier disregards its historic public utility obligation.

"It is to be hoped, although not expected, that this admonition and deliberately strong criticism of the instant carrier would have the effect of reminding it of its special place in our economy conferred by the public of the State of California and that this carrier might give heed to its public responsibilities . . .

"Northwestern Pacific should get on with it and allocate some of its surplus funds to employing such engineering resources and personnel as is required to open the Puerto Suello Tunnel and as promptly as possible."

The PUC yesterday reinstated its order of September, 1964, giving the railroad 150 days to reopen the tunnel, which has been closed — thereby cutting mail service of San Rafael — since a fire on July 22, 1961. It made yesterday the effective date of the order.

The previous order had been challenged by the railroad with a claim the PUC lacked jurisdiction. The U.S. Supreme Court threw out the challenge. However, Northwestern Pacific has another appeal winding through the federal courts, seeking to abandon either the San Rafael or Tiburon portion of its main line.

Casady Critical Of New Bombing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A telegram criticizing the decision to resume bombing in North Viet Nam has been sent to President Johnson by Simon Casady, the controversial president of the California Democratic Council.

Casady revealed contents of his telegram last night at a reception here for Julian Bond, the young Negro civil rights worker who was refused his seat in the Georgia legislature after his loyalty was challenged because he endorsed a protest of U.S. policy in Viet Nam and urged men to seek alternatives to the draft.

The reception was jointly sponsored by Casady's group and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

Youth Found Guilty Of Stealing Truck

Jones, of 251 Drake Avenue, Marin City, stole a vehicle owned by John Friend, 25 Rocklyn Court, Corte Madera, last Sept. 1. He was arrested in San Francisco.

VIET NAM'S LITTLE SOLDIER

Though only 12, Rmah Del is a seasoned veteran of the South Vietnamese Army and member of the elite "Red Cap" platoon of tough Montagnard mountain fighters at the embattled outpost of Plei Me in South Viet Nam.

He can use a machine gun or automatic rifle as expertly as the carbine he always carries. He's already killed at least one enemy soldier, perhaps more, during recent sieges of the special forces camp by Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regular troops.

Like his father, who is in the same heavy weapons platoon, Rmah Del is a regular Army private, one of the youngest in the South Vietnamese army. As such he's paid $20 a month.

The young Montagnard tribesman, who weighs only 60 pounds and stands four feet five inches tall, says he likes being a soldier. Asked why he became a soldier he answered that the Viet Cong kept coming to his village and "killed many people for no reason at all. They kept me from going to school and working." Upset by it all, he enlisted.

Rmah is a good soldier too, according to his fellow platoon mates. He goes on patrols, pulls guard duty and has fought side by side with men twice his age. During one recent siege he went for days with only a few hours sleep.

But when there is a lull in the fighting, Rmah reverts to boyhood again to fly a kite or play with his dog.

A sandbagged trench leads to the tip of a triangular-shaped defense position where Rmah Del sits on guard.

During one of the battles, Rmah helps out by passing ammunition in a mortar pit.

The 4 foot 5 inch Rmah Del walks with 6 foot 5 inch special forces Sergeant Everett Hamby of Fayetteville, N. C.

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 2, the 33rd day of 1966, with 332 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase; the morning star is Venus; the evening stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

In 1848, Mexico signed a treaty giving Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California to the U.S. for $15 million.

In 1876, eight baseball teams banded together to form the national league.

In 1943, Radio Berlin acknowledged the end of the Battle of Stalingrad, a siege in which the Russians claimed 503,000 Germans were killed or wounded.

In 1953, President Dwight D. Eisenhower announced the U.S. Seventh Fleet would no longer block Nationalist Chinese raids against the mainland.

A thought for the day—

American Poet Thomas Parsons said: "In order that people may be happy in their work, these three things are needed: They must be fit for it; they must not do too much of it; and they must have a sense of success in it."

Opening lead — ♣ 9

East took his two clubs and led a third club to dummy.

Declarer led to the ace of diamonds, ruffed his other diamond in dummy and then returned dummy's remaining trump.

South tried to reach his hand by ruffing a low spade, but West over-ruffed, defeating the contract.

If you think about it, you'll see that dummy made no mistakes in the play of the cards.

Can you see the mistake that each of the others made?

BETTER LEAD

West should open his singleton spade instead of the nine of clubs. West would get in with the ace of trumps and could then lead a club.

East would take his two club tricks and then lead a spade to give West a trump trick.

When West actually led the nine of clubs, East should win with the queen of clubs and return a spade. It was quite possible that West was void of spades.

UNLIKELY VOID

It was very unlikely that South was void of spades since, with such unfavorable distribution, he would either bid four hearts immediately or bid only three hearts at his second turn.

After the defenders muffed two chances to defeat the contract South gave them a third chance. South must cash one of dummy's top spades before leading trumps.

Then West cannot put declarer back in dummy. No matter what West returned South would be able to gain the lead and draw trumps.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:

♠ 5
♥ K Q J 9 8 5 2
♦ A 7
♣ 6 5 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one heart.

You should win six heart tricks and one diamond so that there cannot be anything wrong with opening the bidding. The hand is somewhat too strong for a shutout bid of three hearts.

Recovery Under Way After Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—A strong recovery drive was under way as the stock market closed today. Final trading was heavy.

Late gains ran from more than a point for U.S. Steel to 2 for Jones & Laughlin and 5 for Lukens. Industrials rose in the afternoon.

Here was the picture toward the close:

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.8 million shares compared with 9.09 million yesterday.

The market was lower in the morning but gathered support in the afternoon.

All leading motors showed plus signs; some of the airlines electronics and aerospace defense stocks snapped back from yesterday's sharp losses, and electrical equipments rose. Steels were steady to a shade higher. Chemicals, nonferrous metals and rails remained lower.

Sperry Rand, up a fraction, was leading the pack on volume. American Motors was up nearly a point in brisk dealings as its annual meeting was held. American Telephone, after touching a new low, was off only a shade.

Boeing and Fairchild Camera were ahead about 3 each. National Airlines, KLM, Northwest Airlines, Gulf and Western and Texas Gulf Sulphur about 2 each.

Ahead about a point were Anken Chemical, Delta Air-Airlines, Magnavox, Motorola, General Electric, Zenith and General Dynamics.

Down about a point were Eastman Kodak, McIntyre-Porcupine, American Smelting, International Nickel and Homestake. Off around 2 were American South African Investment, IBM, American Home Products.

General Motors erased an early loss and edged to the upside. Other leading motors were up slightly. Steels were steady to a shade higher.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Richard Godfrey Opens Office; Name To Be Don Collins Buick

There are a number of Godfreys in the directory, but I am sure many Marinites do not realize that among them Richard M. Godfrey of San Anselmo, who has been around here for something like five years, is the son of Arthur Godfrey of radio and television fame.

Godfrey—Richard, that is—has recently opened his own real estate office as Richard M. Godfrey Realtor at 801 D Street, San Rafael (Second and D Streets) — located in with William Brannan Realty. Except for the past year, during which time he has been on a leave of absence, he spent four years at William Timmer's real estate office learning the ropes.

Previously he was with the Columbia Broadcasting System as an account executive. He moved here from Massachusetts, and like his father has been a licensed airplane pilot.

MRS. S. I. HAYAKAWA of Miss Valley has been re-elected to a three-year term as a director of Consumers Cooperative of Berkeley, Inc., which expects to open a Corte Madera food market and shopping complex next fall. Mrs. Hayakawa was also elected vice president of the board. She drew the largest number of votes of any of the 12 candidates at the board of directors election.

CHINESE NEW YEAR is being celebrated at Strawberry Town and Country Village next Sunday. Village shops will be decked out with paper dragons, lamps and flying fish, and there will be a two-hour parade from 2 p.m. Consul General Yin-Shou Che from San Francisco will be grand marshal. Miss Chinatown, Lion Dancers, the St. Mary's Drum Corps and other entertainers will be on the program.

ABOUT THE FIRST OF MARCH, Stenstrom Buick Co., San Rafael will have the new name of Don Collins Buick. Since the death of Samuel A. Stenstrom three years ago, son-in-law Don Collins has been president of the automobile agency. Collins has delayed making a change in the name, but Buick Motors prefers to have all agencies identified with the names of the owners and has requested the alteration.

Charlat

MAURICE M. CHARLAT of Kentfield has been appointed director of brand management for California Canners and Growers. He moves up to this newly created position from brand manager in the marketing department, and will be responsible for planning, pricing, merchandising and advertising all of the company's brands of fruits and vegetables.

I'VE HEARD from Joel B. Goldfus, former manager of Strawberry Town and Country Village, that he has been appointed manager and promotion director of the 10-million dollar Mayfield Mall shopping center scheduled to open this fall at the Palo Alto-Mountain View dividing line.

EVERETT'S QUALITY MEATS and Casassa's Gourmet Foods in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael, are teaming up to give away a 19-inch television set and many other prizes in a drawing to be held March 5. Usual rules apply: It is not necessary to buy anything when picking up your entry blank, and it won't be necessary to be present at the drawing to win.

Steaks Scarcer, May Cost More

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Beef is going to be a little more scarce and more expensive, some cattlemen believe.

John H. Guthrie, Porterville, Calif., first vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Assn., said the demand is catching up with the supply.

Guthrie told the association's convention yesterday that five per cent more beef was slaughtered last year, reducing the herds and producing three per cent less meat because there was less fattening of the animals at feedlots.

THE WORLD'S A FUNNY LOOKING PLACE

A tiny new-born Koala or "Teddy bear" clings to its mother's fur recently at the San Diego Zoo, taking its first look at the world. San Diego and San Francisco zoos are the only places outside their native Australia where the fuzzy marsupials seem to thrive; their diet consists exclusively of certain types of eucalyptus leaves.

Britons Lack Much Heating For Homes

By PAUL R. ALLERUP

LONDON (UPI) — "Yep, it's back to the land of central heating and air conditioning for me."

This was a newsman talking in a Fleet Street pub, confirming to a group of colleagues that after half a dozen years on assignment in Europe.

It didn't strike anyone strange that central heating and air conditioning came first on the list of things the man was going back to. In Britain today, although most people now know what central heating is and more homes are getting it, central heating remains a relative rarity.

And air conditioning still is something foreign.

Of all Europe, Britain continues to be the firmest holdout against central heating. Almost everywhere on the continent central heating is as much a way of life as in the United States. But not here.

Exact figures are hard to come by but the best estimates are that in 1965 not more than one British home in 10—if that many—has central heating. Coal and wood burned in fire places, electric heaters toted from room to room, kitchen stoves and bed warmers provide the only heat in the great majority of British homes, even in some of the newer ones.

The Institute of Heating and Ventilating Engineers estimates that about 11 per cent of the nation's 18 million homes had central heating "of some kind" by the end of 1963. But this estimate includes homes equipped with what is laughingly known here as "part central heating."

This means, for example, that in a home or apartment of six or seven rooms, two or three rooms—and never the bedrooms—may have a radiator or two to give what is euphemistically designated as "background" heat.

Back Yard Chefs Help End Canners' Huge Problem

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (UPI) — Until Robert T. Collier came along, California peach canners had a terrific problem:

What could they do with their yearly output of 120 million pounds of peach pits?

They buried them, loaded them on barges and dumped them in the ocean. They tried feeding them to animals, and pulverizing them to flush into sewage systems.

But always there were more peach pits.

Collier, a Santa Clara manufacturer, took on the problem and decided they would make excellent charcoal briquets. Today his plant here converts more than 500 tons of pits into charcoal for outdoor chefs each day.

Upon death, in primitive times, bodies were dried by the sun or a stove.

LOOK, MA, ONLY ONE HAND

Electronic computers may become the biggest users of telephones. Some telephone officials believe that the exchange of computer information via electrical circuits may eventually exceed the volume of human conversations.

Tourist Handed Instant Retort

LEBANON, Ky. (AP)—Judge Joe Jarobe, noted for his dry humor, was riding a bus with a tourist who insisted upon belittling everything he saw in Kentucky.

Kentuckians, the man said, are slow; never get anything done.

About that time, the bus passed the 351-foot-high Jefferson David monument in Fairview.

"What's that?" the man asked.

"Beats me," replied the judge. "I was through here the other day, and it wasn't built then."

The capital, Nuku'alofa, of Tongatapu Island, Tonga, suggests a quiet American resort at the turn of the century. Neat, white frame houses stand amid palm-thatched cottages.

SHE WANTS CATNIP ON THE ROCKS

Chiquita, a 100-pound mountain lion, stands up to the kitchen counter in the Gordon Campbell home near Minneapolis, Minn., recently, to see what Mrs. Campbell plans for dinner. The pet, raised from a kitten, eats one and one-half pound steaks for snacks. The owners say they'll soon have to turn their pet over to a zoo, but then they want to try raising a wolf. Gas Flash Tubes Will Save Ships

BOSTON (UPI) — Lighthouses of the future will be equipped with beacons that are basically xenon flashtubes, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology scientist believes.

Dr. Harold E. Edgerton, professor of electrical measurements at MIT, made this prediction as plans were announced for installing the first such beacon in a U.S. Coast Guard lighthouse in territorial waters. The beacon is scheduled to be installed later this year in a new light tower at the mouth of Chesapeake Bay, off Cape Henry, Va.

He said the biggest advantage of the xenon flash beacon for ships at sea is its attention-getting aspect. It flashes in short, sharp, brilliant bursts of light, controlled by its automatic timing and energy system.

Gracer Has Faith In Clients Restored

CLAY, Ky. (AP)—W. W. Johnson, operator of a grocery here for nearly 50 years, has learned it's never too late for a customer to settle an account.

On Jan. 1, 1925, a customer gave him a $75 note to cover a charge account he was unable to pay. The note was worthless since the customer left the state and couldn't be traced.

Motel Caters To Horses

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Ever hear of a horse motel?

There is such a place on the New Mexico State Fair grounds in Albuquerque.

The facility provides quarters and a training and exercise area for owners and trainers of race horses who want to get their animals ready for future meets at tracks throughout New Mexico.

The facility offers housing for race horses in regular racing barns, along with use of the fair's one-mile track.

The horse motel also provides overnight quarters for animals being transported across the country, giving the trainers a chance to exercise them.

DANNY KAYE HIT NOW AN OPERA

German author Franz Werfel's popular play "Jacobowski and the Colonel," which later became a hit film starring Danny Kaye—has undergone another transformation. Now known simply as "Jacobowski," the work forms the libretto of an opera, the sixth and latest work by young composer Giselher Klebe. An interesting production requirement calls for a real car to rumble on stage at various times. The opera, musically a compromise between the 12-tone and Serielle schools, received a hearty ovation in its premier at Hamburg's State Opera House recently.

Mutation Mink Colored Pink

WADSWORTH, Ill. (AP)—The mink is pink at the Edward Slobe mink ranch.

He says he is one of the first in this area to successfully produce the latest in a long line of natural colored mutation minks.

The pink mink, officially known as Emba Rovalia, is pale rose in color and represents the result of a complicated series of cross-breeding and genetic control.

Hot Under Collar Over Formal Dress

Suffering state employees facing the long, hot summer are collecting signatures for a petition to the state governor asking him to dispense with the traditional coat and necktie for the summer months. Instead they want to wear open-necked sport shirts to work.

Night Shelters

NEW DELHI (AP) — The municipal government said it had completed "night shelters" which would accommodate 4,500 persons who otherwise would have to sleep in the streets. This is a small percentage of the number of homeless in the Indian capital.

London Bridge Isn't Falling Down Again

By MARIE ROSS
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — "London Bridge is falling down, falling down, falling down . . ."

Well, it hasn't, at least not in the last 950 years. But it certainly has changed, as has so much of London in the past centuries.

London Bridge in the old days used to display the heads of executed criminals on poles above the span over the River Thames. Houses, shops and even a chapel were built on the bridge — all supported on narrow arches that severely limited the size of river traffic that passed underneath.

Today it is all much changed. London Bridge, once the only overhead crossing of the Thames as it wound through London, was pulled down in 1832 after having served for 600 years, and was rebuilt much as it is now.

Nor is London Bridge any longer alone as a Thames crossing. Today London has 17 road and eight rail bridges across the Thames. They are a commonplace part of the city scene. Few natives bother much about them any more — but the wise tourist and the historian take a closer look.

The first bridge across the river probably was built by the Roman invaders around the first century, but the first mention of one in writing is not until 984 a.d. in that year it was recorded that a woman found sticking pins into the image of a man was taken to London's Bridge and drowned for witchcraft.

The old rhyme, "London Bridge is Falling Down," origidon, were under attack from nates from a battle in 1014 when the Danes, holding London the Saxons under King Ethelred the Unready and the Vikings under King Olav.

"Between the Castle and Suthwirki, (Southwark, on the Thames' south bank) there was a bridge, so broad that two wagons could pass each other upon it . . . now when the attack was made the (Danish) troops stood on the bridge everywhere and defended themselves . . . King Olav and the Norsmen's (Viking's) fleet with him, rowed quite under the bridge, laid their cables around the piles which supported it, and then rowed off with all the ships as hard as they could down the Stream."

So that first London Bridge fell down, or was pulled down, and the Danes lost.

The bridge was rebuilt in wood and then in stone. The stone one, started in 1176 and completed in 1209, was the famous London Bridge with the chapel dedicated to Thomas a Becket, the martyred Archbishop of Canterbury, who was murdered in 1170. A priest, Peter of St. Mary Cole Church, built the bridge at the order of King Henry II.

The houses on the bridge were constantly rebuilt but eventually knocked down when more passage space was needed. Finally the 18th century traffic jams became so bad that work started in 1730 on the city's second bridge, Westminster, a graceful stone structure which was replaced in 1862 by the present iron one in front of the Houses of Parliament.

In 1824 work started on the present, five-arch London Bridge. Nearly half the 1.5 million pound ($4.2 million) cost went for buying the land for it.

Tower Bridge, completed in 1894 for 830,000 pounds ($2.32 million) is now the most distinctive of London's bridges and the only movable one. The hydraulically-operated drawbridge between its massive Gothic towers is raised a dozen or more times a day to let ships through. It acts as the river's gateway to London.

A development company has put forward a futuristic project for another bridge at Vauxhall in concrete and glass, with a hotel, shops, a skating rink and an open air theater as part of the structure.

This may turn out to be London's next bridge — but no one is thinking of building it before the 21st century.

House Trailer Thief Lives Pretty High

CRAVAT, Ill. (AP)—Persons who broke into a house trailer paused long enough to take a frozen chicken out of the ice box, thaw it, cook it, fix coffee and eat dinner.

County officers said a .22 caliber rifle, a shotgun, a fishing reel, a quilt and two blankets were stolen by the uninvited guests.

Havana Youths Like Smuggled U.S. Discs

Such music, frowned on by Cuba's Communist government, sometimes costs as much as $40 per album, the youth said. Records are smuggled into Cuba, he added. The boy declined use of his name.

His Version

OSIJEK, Yugoslavia (AP) — Emil Suh wasn't even fishing when he caught the big one. He was just out rowing on the Danube when the eight-pound fish jumped out of the water — and landed in his boat.

Good Fishing Discovered In New Mexico's Deserts

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—The amazing thing about New Mexico's desert is that it's considered a fisherman's paradise by neighboring residents.

That's because the desert area which lies between Arizona and Texas contains two of the Southwest's largest rivers — the historic Rio Grande and the Pecos River.

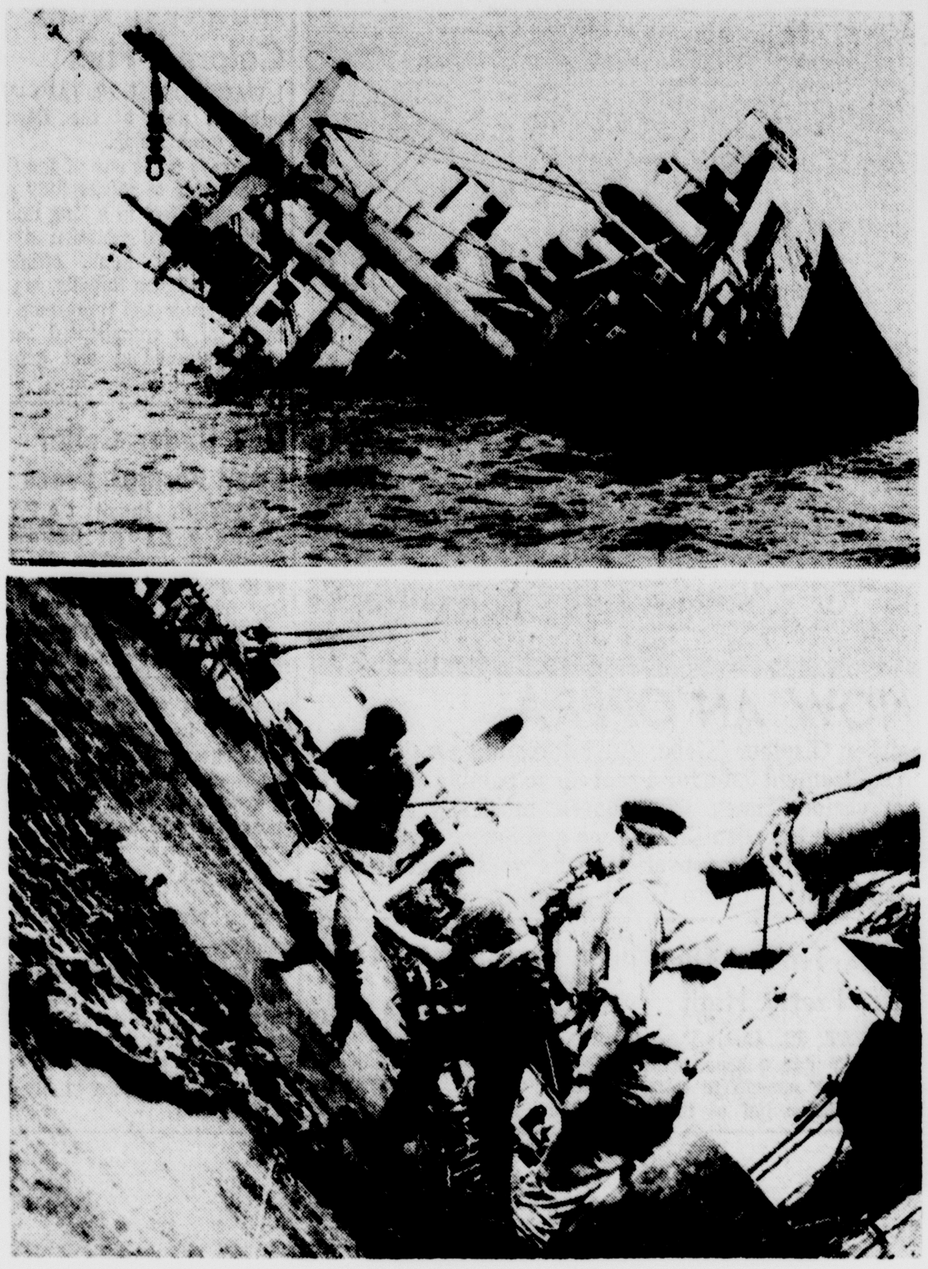
Along these rivers and their tributaries are numerous small dams built in recent years as irrigation or flood control projects. In northern New Mexico, where both rivers originate, the Rocky Mountains provide streams for trout anglers.

One of the big New Mexico lakes is Conchas Lake, 30 miles north of the cattle town of Tucumcari. Twenty-three miles of water is backed up behind Conchas dam — more water than the state's founders ever dreamed existed in this arid land.

Crappe, bass and catfish are the big catches at Conchas Lake, as in most of New Mexico's lakes. Water skiers also use Conchas as their eastern New Mexico headquarters.

About 50 miles south of Conchas is Alamogordo Reservoir, another lake backed up on the Pecos River. Alamogordo, which means fat cottonwood trees in Spanish, draws thouands of Texans over the line each year for boating and fishing.

In southern New Mexico, on the Rio Grande, are Elephant Butte Reservoir and Caballo Reservoir, twin lakes in a landscape of cactus and sand. Elephant Butte is about 30 miles long and offers record bass and lots of space. Caballo Reservoir, a few miles south of Elephant Butte on the Rio Grande, holds the same attraction.



SALVAGE CREW DEFIES DANGER

Three years ago, the stormy North Sea betrayed the British freighter "Ondo," sinking her near the mouth of the Elbe River. All salvage attempts failed, but 54-year-old expert Helmuth Wulf, head of a West German salvage firm, has bought the hulk for $12,500 and is living aboard the tilting vessel with a crew of seven helpers. They're patching leaks; hope to pump air into the compartments and float "Ondo" free to earn a fortune of up to $2.5 million. Meanwhile, they live on temporary wooden platforms serving as horizontal floors in the crazily-tilted ship

Southern Criminals Like Their Warmth

During one chilly weekend, he said, the city had only 13 major crimes during a 14-hour period. Usually Miami has 45 to 50 such crimes on a Saturday or Sunday.

Sentence Worth Horses, Cart

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A South Africa gangster "hired" a man to do his nine-month prison sentence, police reported.

The plot was discovered when a sharp-eyed detective spotted the African gangster walking down a Cape Town street. Only a few weeks earlier the man had been sent to jail for nine months for the illegal possession of a firearm.

When police checked the cells they found a switch had been made. News reports said the gangster offered the substitute two horses and a cart to serve his sentence for him.

Warplanes Never Die In Yemen

SANAA, Yemen (AP)—Yemen's air force is being turned into automobile license plates.

The former royalist regime bought 50 Russian-made fighters seven years ago, but left them exposed to the weather until rain and sun ruined the machines.

After the republican revolution of 1962, the number of cars in the country increased, but there was no suitable material from which to make license plates.

The government dismantled the planes and sent wings, fuselages and fuel tanks into a new foundry where they were melted down and cast into license plates.

The idea is not new in Yemen. The late Iman (king) Ahmed once used the aluminum from a plane which had crashed in Yemen to make coins.

Puppets Spoof James Bond in British Video Series

By MARIS ROSS

LONDON (UPI)—If you were Lady Penelope you would have at your command a shocking pink Rolls Royce with a hidden machine gun, a two-way radio in a teapot and five heroes name after American astronauts.

But you would only be two feet high and have a dozen heads — one for laughing, one for crying, one for being angry, and so on.

For Lady Penelope is a puppet, like all the stars in the science fiction "Thunderbirds," one of the most expensive television series ever made in Britain. It has been filmed in color —even though there is no color television here yet —because the owners aim to make millions of dollars on the American market.

The 26 one-hour episodes, which each cost 35,000 pounds, ($98,000) to make, follow the adventures of International Rescue, a secret organization run by retired astronaut Jeff Tracy and his five sons, Scott, Virgil, Alan, Gordon and John. Tracy named them after the first Americans to orbit in space.

Blonde, glamorous Lady Penelope is London undercover agent for International Rescue, which has its headquarters inside a mountain on a remote island somewhere in the pacific.

A vital element in the series is to keep this HQ a secret from the chief "bad guy," an evil villain called the hood, whose eyes literally light up when he is casting spells on people from his exotic Eastern temple.

"Thunderbirds" is the brainchild of husband and wife team Gerry and Sylvia Anderson, both 35, who picked up plenty of adult as well as child viewers with their previous puppets production — "Supercar," "Fire ball XL5" and "Stingray."

This latest one uses all the technical tricks of the trade.

The island HQ of International Rescue has a moving cliff so its space-age rescue craft can enter and leave the hiding place. Electronic devices warn of intruders.

Lady Penelope's six-wheeled Rolls Royce outdoes James Bond's car for gadgets. Its design was officially approved by the Rolls Royce Company.

The car — license number "Fab I" —has a television monitor instead of a driving mirror. A machine gun can hurtle out of the radiator. It can spray oil and tacks on the road to foil followers and rods can shoot out to form a tire slasher. Retractable handcuffs can hold prisoners to the back seat. Hydrofoils can be lowered so the car can clear water at high speed. It can park crabwise and go at more than 200 miles per hour. The windows of course are bullet proof.

The driver is a droll cockney chauffeur with a prison record and a talent for blowing safes.

Scott, the fast-talking, quick-thinking eldest son of Tracy, is the pilot of Thunderbird I. This is a 7,000-mile per hour, vertical take-off craft that always speeds to the rescue scene first.

Steady, reliable Virgil pilots Thunderbird II, a giant freighter that carries heavy and ingenious rescue equipment, including Thunderbird IV, an underwater scout car.

Gordon, the joker of the family, accompanies Virgil in Thunderbird II and takes over the underwater Thunderbird IV when undersea rescue is called for.

John, the ever patient brother, circles the earth in Thunderbird V, a satellite used as a monitor station and always on the alert to spot trouble.

The family's equipment includes a 2-passenger "mole" which burrows into the ground, a lesser beam which can cut through anything, and mobile platforms which can race along the ground and allow a crippled plane to land on them.

"Thunderbirds" has already started on British television but contracts for selling the series in the United States will not be arranged until January, so it will not appear on American screens before next year.

Lew Grade, managing director of Associated Television, the owners, said prints of the series have been shown in the United States.

"The reaction has been fabulous," he said. "This series will be sold for many millions of dollars."

About 125 people work on "Thunderbirds," making scenery and props about one-third normal size and hundreds of hand-made miniatures costumes. The characters have electronic heads so their lips synchronize with the dialogue.

Tiny Singapore Ranks As Key Asian Nation

The island state's position as one of the major communications centers of southeast Asia makes it at once a strategic military base and an important ideological prize.

Singapore is located almost on the equator at the tip of the Malay peninsula. By air it is 911 miles southeast of Bangkok, Thailand, 562 miles northwest of Djakarta, Indonesia, and 644 miles southwest of Saigon, South Viet Nam.

The island is only 26 miles long and 14 miles wide.

But Singapore practically controls the two-way shipping between east and west through its position at the southeastern end of the Straits of Malacca, shortest sea link between the Pacific and Indian oceans. It is the world's fifth largest port.

Singapore's population is about 1.8 million, of whom three quarters are hustling, hard-working overseas Chinese. Their loyalties and political leanings exert a strong influence on neighboring Malaysia and Indonesia.

Ancient "Singapura" was a prosperous trading city before American was discovered. It was sacked and destroyed near the end of the 14th century.

Britain's Sir Stamford Raffles then began eying the island, reduced to an obscure fishing village, as a base to thwart Dutch aspirations.

In 1819, Raffles, an officer of the British East India Company, rented the island for 3,000 Spanish dollars paid annually to a local native chief.

In 10 years, the population grew to 15,000 and it has been growing ever since. Most of the newcomers were Chinese looking for a better life. Many found it and began Singapore families.

Singapore has remained basically a Chinese city beneath a British facade.

Raffles decided Singapore would live or die by her trade and decreed the island a free port to increase the flow of goods. The port is still free today although industrialization gradually is forcing the erection of some tariff barriers.

The British made Singapore a major military base to stand guard over India and Hong Kong. The island's defenses were built in the traditional way, facing the sea.

When Singapore's test came in 1942, the Japanese approached the other way, from Malaya, across the Straits of Johore. Singapore, Britain's Far East fortress, fell in 16 days.

Britain rebuilt after the war and today has three air fields and a naval base besides army installations on the island. The immediate future of the bases will be decided in negotiations with the new Singapore government.

Britain's hold on the island was badly weakened by the Japanese conquest. The years following World War II were punctuated by the drive for independence.

Limited home rule began in 1955. In 1959, Singapore became a crown colony.

Independence was achieved in 1963 when Singapore joined the Federation of Malaya and the Borneo states of Sabah and Sarawak to form Malaysia.

Differences in policies between the strong-willed Singapore state government and the central government led to the surprise break of Aug. 9 and the announcement of Singapore's independence.

The island is ruled by the Peoples Action Party (PAP) which has a two thirds majority in the state assembly. The PAP's key leader is Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew, 42, a British-educated socialist whose government during the past six years has been tough on Communists and surprisingly cooperative with businessmen.

Singapore in 1965 is a handsome city of wide streets, tall business buildings and soaring government housing projects. Its people enjoy one of Asia's highest standards of living with a per capita income second only to Japan.

Once a wide open town of sin, opium dens and pretty prostitutes, Singapore today is prim and proper.

To many, Singapore is a dynamic living creature which has had its ups and downs but always has come back strong.

One of the rituals observed on Jan. 6 is the blessing of the Greek sponge divers at Tarpon Springs, Fla., and the casting of a gold crucifix into the waters to signify the baptism of Christ.

THE MAIL MUST GO THROUGH

Delivering mail along West Germany's North Sea coast becomes a chore in winter, when ice prevents boats from reaching many inhabited islands. Many postmen trudge miles across the ice; others have it luckier, travelling aboard sail-propelled railroad cars along tracks laid temporarily on the ice.

Historic Oregon Trail Marked For Posterity

By MICHAEL ANDERS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A historic road through Wyoming and Idaho, once the rugged highway for westward bound immigrants, is being reblazed for posterity.

It is known as Lander Road. In the mid-1800s it was part of the equally historic Oregon Trail and was in the area where in 1847 Brigham Young and his little band of Mormons held their famous "feast in the wilderness."

The Interior Department is taking steps to save the road from oblivion. Its Bureau of Land Management and Wyoming state officials have joined to place commemorative bronze plaques along the highway, beginning at Gilbert's Station, Wyo.

The plaques, four inches in diameter, will be imbedded in concrete at one-mile intervals, to the terminus point at Rock City, Idaho.

The road, once 346 miles long, was authorized by Congress in 1856 to be used by the military. It was named for the Interior Department's chief engineer, Frederick W. Lander, who surveyed and staked the route.

Laying it out to bypass a difficult section of the Oregon Trail, Lander traveled 3,000 miles on horseback, discovered 16 mountain passes, and charted the Bear and Salt River mountain ranges.

Little more than a trail at first, the route was a rest stop for Concord stages, pony express riders and wagon trains at South Pass, a later name for Gilbert's Station.

Bee Crossing Failure Has Deadly Result

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)—Several men fishing near the interior city of Araraquara were attacked recently by a swarm of bees. One of the men died.

About the same time, a child in Franco de Rocha was stung by a swarm of bees. He, too, died after several hours of tremors.

On the outskirts of Marilia, farmer Jose Comino Coral lost 250 chickens and 20 ducks in an onslaught by a swarm of bees. Many other fowl were blinded.

In each case, the villain was the African Bee, unknown in the western hemisphere until a university professor imported 48 queens from Tanganyika in 1956 in an attempt to increase the honey production of local bees.

The professor, Dr. Warwick E. Kerr, a Brazilian born of Irish parents, knew the African bee, officially "apis mellifera adansonii," was ferocious and attacked in swarms. However, he tried to cross them with milder European species.

Not only did the African bees manage to surpass all other strains because of their higher rate of fertility and attacks on the hives of other bees, but they became more vicious than ever, possibly because of the climate.

"As things are at present, it seems likely that the rest of tropical and sub-tropical South America, and possibly even the southwestern United States, may be subject to an invasion by the 'adansonii,'" said Dr. Paulo Nogueira Neto, assistant professor of zoology at Sao Paulo University.
